

Sub Escort Skipper Cited for Delay in Reporting Message

Faces Inquiry but Is Not Blamed for Thresher's Loss

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP)—A Navy court of inquiry has cited Lt. Cmdr. Stanley W. Hecker, skipper of the submarine escort vessel Skylark, for what it called his failure to report the last message from the ill-fated submarine Thresher "for an unreasonable length of time."

The court on Tuesday named Hecker, 36, of Brooklyn, N.Y., a party to its investigation of the loss of the Thresher with 129 men aboard. The five-member court then recessed and announced it would resume hearings after Hecker has obtained counsel and examined evidence given thus far.

The Skylark was accompanying the nuclear submarine when it made its fatal dive.

The court said Hecker's conduct as the Skylark's commanding officer "appears to be subject to inquiry," but emphasized he is not blamed for the loss of the Thresher.

The submarine sank in 8,400 feet of water about 220 miles east of Cape Cod during a deep sea test dive last Wednesday.

Navigator's Testimony
Rear Adm. Lawson P. Ramage, deputy commander of the Atlantic Fleet submarine force and the initial commander of the search effort, testified Tuesday that he did not learn for a few days that Thresher had indicated the possibility of trouble.

Lt. (j.g.) James C. Watson, 43, Hecker's navigator on Skylark, testified before the inquiry board last Saturday that the last distinguishable message from Thresher to Skylark was: "Experiencing minor difficulty. Have positive up angle. Trying to blow."

The court said "trying to blow" meant Thresher was trying to clear its ballast tanks for surfacing.

Vice Adm. Bernard L. Austin, president of the inquiry board, emphasized that no charges had been placed against Hecker and that he is in no way held responsible for the loss of the Thresher.

Watson's testimony was considered by the court the most revealing thus far. He testified that the last sound he heard over the underwater telephone from the hookup was between the ground station at the International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. laboratories here and a portable ground station operated by IT&T at its subsidiary in Rio.

In Rio, officials said the picture quality was good, though slightly dark and with barely visible white dots.

It was transmitted from The Associated Press general office in New York to the American Cable & Radio Corp., in lower Manhattan and thence to IT&T's station.

The five newsmen who took part in the space press conference were James Hill of the Newark Star-Ledger; Ber Nawn of the Paterson Evening News; Joseph Grant of the Bergen Record; Dave Carlisle of the Passaic Herald-News; and Kenneth Gross of the Newark News.

3 Arab Nations Announce Aims Of Federation

Socialism Goal Under Western Government Plan

CAIRO (AP)—Egypt, Syria and Iraq have pledged to form a new United Arab Republic based economically on Arab socialism and politically on Western parliamentary institutions.

Announced aims are to wipe out feudalism, capitalism, reaction and imperialism, and to "liberate" Palestine, where the Jewish state in Israel has been established.

A communique signed early today by President Gamal Abdel Nasser and 30 others from the three countries indicated the new federal union of 38 million people will be at least two years taking shape.

Plebiscite Sept. 17

A plebiscite will be held by Sept. 17 to approve a still-unwritten constitution and elect a president, expected to be Nasser. Then a 20-month transitional period is planned during which the president will rule with the help of the three revolutionary councils now in power.

The communique, issued after 10 days of negotiations, said the union will have a two-house legislature. One will be chosen according to population. In the other each state will have equal representation.

Women To Vote

The legislature will be chosen during the 20-month changeover period. Elections will be by secret ballot. Women will have the vote. Political parties are to be welded into a single "political front," apparently similar to the one-party system Nasser has created in Egypt. But the communique said the unified state will "take into consideration regional circumstances."

The communique also promised guarantees of freedom of speech, press and religion much more liberal than those currently enjoyed in the three countries. Although freedom of religion was promised, Islam will be the state religion.

Spelling out the socialist nature of the new state, the communique said it will exclude "private exploiting capitalism and its violent whims which are pushed by the motive of selfish profit."

"This does not necessarily mean the nationalization of all means of production nor the abolition of private property," it said.

Engine Slips From Hoist, Kills Worker

JOHNSTOWN, Wis. (AP)—An John Masky, 63, was killed Tuesday when an automobile engine, under which he was working, slipped from a hoist and crushed him.

Masky, who was working in a junk yard, was pronounced dead at a hospital in Janesville, seven miles west of Johnstown.

Selective Hikes in Steel Prices by 10 Big Firms

Smoke in Tunnel Perils Passengers

100 Sent to Hospitals and 100 Others Treated at Scene

NEW YORK (AP)—Hundreds of people, some on the verge of panic, were evacuated from a Brooklyn subway tunnel Tuesday when a fire sent dense smoke billowing through two passenger trains.

An estimated 600 persons were trapped on the stalled trains between stations. At least 100 were treated at the scene for smoke inhalation. Nearly 100 others were sent to hospitals for treatment. A dozen were kept in hospitals.

Fire in Motors
Police said the fire started about 3 p.m. in the motors of a work train near a station in the Ridgewood section of Brooklyn. The work train stopped. Immediately following were two four-car passenger trains. They stalled and their lights went out.

Acrid smoke reached the passengers. Fire Commissioner Edward Thompson said, "Thank God this didn't happen at the height of the rush hour."

Samuel Marco, 38, motorman on one of the stalled trains, said, "I spoke to the passengers. I said that if they would follow me, I would lead them out to a station along the tracks."

"Many women were hysterical. Many people began to cough. I took three groups out."

A conductor, Harold Johnson, 37, related, "When the train filled with smoke, women passengers became nervous. One woman cried out, 'I'll be burned to death.' I tried to assure her by saying, 'There is no fire, just smoke.'"

Thalidomide Blamed For 16 Deformities
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sixteen babies in the United States are believed to have been deformed by thalidomide distributed by U.S. firms, the Food and Drug Administration reports.

In a final report on an intensive investigation of the drug that is held responsible for the birth of 2,000 deformed infants in Europe, the company said.

Denies He Seeks Asylum
LONDON (AP)—Vladimir Ashkenazy, the Soviet Union's leading young concert pianist, and his wife were hiding somewhere in England today after announcing they had left the U.S.S.R. indefinitely to live in Britain.

The 25-year-old pianist insisted he was not seeking political asylum, saying, "I am a Russian and I love my country." But the impression here was that he had defected, as Leningrad Ballet star Rudolf Nureyev did in Paris in 1961.

Wife Iceland Native
Ashkenazy came to Britain on a concert tour last month and brought his wife and year-old son, Vladimir. He said the Soviet government had given him permission for an indefinite stay but he refused to say whether he was seeking asylum.

The pianist and his family were reported traveling incognito in northern England. The Morgunbladit correspondent said they

Snowfall Is Predicted For Tonight

Everyone's been wanting precipitation, so the weatherman promised it again. But it's not going to rain tonight, according to today's forecast. Instead, the Fox Valley can anticipate a sharp temperature drop and snow.

The U.S. Weather Bureau, Austin Straubel Field, Green Bay, said the mercury would hit 75 today, but drop to 33 overnight, accompanied by snow flurries.

Thursday's predicted high is 48. Appleton observer Ralph Dorn anticipates a high of 80 in the Fox Cities today, with a drop to 45 overnight and a high of 55 Thursday.

New Method Found to Detect Eye Disease
BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Scientists from the Harvard University School of Public Health working in the desert of Saudi Arabia have discovered a new method for detecting trachoma, the eye disease that afflicts millions, the Arabian American Oil Co. said today.

The virus of the disease can be detected through a fluorescent stain that glows under violet light, the company said.

Austria Holds Alleged Aide To Eichmann

Suspect Questioned But No Details Given to Public

VIENNA (AP)—Erich Rajakovic, alleged collaborator of Adolf Eichmann, was taken into custody today by Austrian justice authorities.

Investigating Magistrate Kurt Forstner said Rajakovic was ordered held after questioning.

Forstner refused to disclose what Rajakovic said. He said he would have to question Rajakovic thoroughly "before I can get a clear picture."

The Justice Ministry is investigating to determine whether Rajakovic "aided and abetted in the murder" of Dutch and Austrian Jews during World War II. No charges had been filed against him.

Lived in Milan
Rajakovic is an Austrian citizen who has lived in Milan since the war as a businessman under the name of Raja. After the Austrian government began its investigation, he went to Switzerland.

Switzerland expelled him last week and he went to Munich. He disappeared there and did not come to light again until he arrived this morning at the Vienna court building.

Interior Ministry officials said they did not know when or how Rajakovic entered Austria.

Dr. Wilhelm Harster, who German newspapers have said was Rajakovic's immediate superior during the war, stepped down from his post as an adviser to the Bavarian Interior Ministry.

The Bavarian government announced Tuesday it was investigating allegations that Harster, an SS major general during the war, had a hand in the deportation of 100,000 Dutch Jews to extermination camps.

Harster, 59, asked the ministry to pension him because of ill health.

Walter Winchell Sued by Editor
NEW YORK (AP)—Walter Winchell has been sued for the second time in 11 years by James A. Wechsler, New York Post editorial page editor. The current suit alleges that the columnist implied that Wechsler was "disloyal to the United States."

Wechsler seeks $1.5 million in damages. He filed the suit yesterday in state supreme court. The Hearst Corp., which syndicates Winchell's column through a subsidiary, was named as co-defendant.

Wechsler charged that 10 items written by Winchell last year were calculated to create the impression that "my repeated statement that I had resigned from the Young Communist League in 1937 was a lie."

No Further Word From President

BY JACK LEFLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Mushrooming steel price rises spread today to Bethlehem Steel Co. and National Steel Corp., second and fifth ranking concerns.

They became the ninth and 10 companies to announce increases on selected products. The list included the industry's seven largest producers, and accounted for over three-fourth of the nation's production in 1962.

Despite some variations, the Bethlehem and National markups held to the general pattern set previously, corresponding closely with those posted yesterday by U.S. Steel Corp., the No. 1 steel-maker.

Bethlehem Hike
The Bethlehem increase, confined to three big-tonnage items, added $4 a ton to the price of hot rolled sheets and strip, $5 on cold rolled sheets and $7 on galvanized sheets.

In addition to "big steel," Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., Armco Steel Corp. and Inland Steel Co. joined the parade yesterday.

Armco and Inland declined a year ago to join in across-the-board increases which collapsed. Some industry sources gave the raises a good chance of sticking, in contrast to the effort a year ago, which fell apart under pressure from President Kennedy and failure of a solid front to develop.

Kennedy Watchful
As company after company announced boosts, Kennedy remained silent although he was reported keeping a close watch on the situation.

After Wheeling broke the price line the President indicated that selective increases would be acceptable but cautioned the industry and the Steelworkers Union against action which would lead to a general increase.

U.S. Steel's price raises were the highest. It added 10 cents a ton to its hot rolled sheets.

Teachers Group Wins Election In California
SANTEE FE SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—The giant California Teachers Association won a victory last night in a school board election of national importance.

Voters in the 12-school, 7,600-student Little Lake School District dumped two board members and seated two new men.

The election was important because the California Teachers Association (CTA) had slapped "sanctions" on the district. That meant the CTA wouldn't refer teachers there through its placement service.

And it told teachers placement agencies throughout the country that the Little Lake district was a bad place to work.

The CTA's parent group, the National Education Association, was watching the sanctions. It wanted to know if the device would be a good one to recommend to all its state chapters.

The 125,000-member CTA had branded the district as guilty of "intolerable personnel practices."

6th District GOP Officers Re-Elected

Resolutions Oppose Reynolds' Tax Plan, U. S. Cuba Policy

FOND DU LAC — Sixth District Republicans re-elected their present officers for two year terms and filled district posts on state Republican convention committees at their annual caucus at the Hotel Retlaw here Tuesday night.

Returned to office without opposition were Harold Huhregg, Sheboygan County, chairman; Mrs. Anita Becker, Ozaukee County vice chairwoman; Mrs. Peter Kohler, Sheboygan County secretary, and Oliver Kullgen, Ozaukee County treasurer.

Serving on committees for the May 25 state Republican convention at Oshkosh will be Jack Steinhilber, Winnebago County and Allan Edgarton, Fond du Lac County on the rules committee; Walter Swietlik, Ozaukee County and Greg Paul, Calumet County on the resolutions committee.

Mrs. Olga Perrin, Washington County and Fred Maurer, Sheboygan County, credit its committee; and Ralph Rietz, Sheboygan County, and Edward Biedler, Fond du Lac County, permanent organization on committee.

Delegates Allowed
Convention delegates authorized for each of the counties in the district are Calumet 17, Fond du Lac 53, Sheboygan 60, Ozaukee 34, Washington 35 and Winnebago 79. The number of delegates is based on the 1962 Republican vote for governor.

Mrs. Norris Krohn, Oshkosh state vice chairwoman, outlined the business items in the convention call and the proposed amendments on candidate endorsement. Three choices are being offered: one for 60 per cent of the vote to be endorsed; a second for no endorsement at all and the third to retain the present plan and to call it recommendation rather than endorsement.

Richard Larson, West Bend presented arguments against endorsement and Assemblyman J. Curtis McKay, Mequon, called arguments in favor of endorsement. The caucus is keeping with previous announcements did not take any stand on the issue.

Van Pelt Speaks
Cong. William K. Van Pelt told the several hundred present that he hopes congress will be able to reduce the 1963 peacetime budget presented in January by the administration and to reduce the administration's 1964 budget. He called upon the Republicans to put forth a stand on the issue.

Assembly Speaker Robert Harve Matnette declared the state cannot afford the budget proposed by the governor or give everything to everybody and to take everything away from everybody. We Republicans have to be the boomers in the ones and do what the governor has to do to prevent a reasonable budget and reasonable tax bill to bring about economic growth.

Resolution Adopted
Resolutions presented by William Fisher, Appleton, a Calumet County representative, on behalf of the district committee declared strenuous opposition to Gov. Reynolds' tax plan proposed Feb. 1963 regarding an interstate mental health compact. Commanded Van Pelt called for a new foreign policy toward Cuba which would eliminate the communist base there and restore freedom to the Cuban people.

The resolutions also protested the administration's news management program urged congress to reject tax cuts unless they were accompanied by tax reforms which would reduce the federal budget to a point where it could be balanced and the income tax lowered. Opposed a compulsory health insurance program and urged legislation to implement the Kerr Mills Bill.

Also opposed was recognition of Red China and its admission into the United Nations while direct support were the McCarran-Water Immigration Act, the House Un-American Committee and Senate Internal Affairs Subcommittee and the Connolly reservation on World Court participation.

These were adopted without dissent and without debate.

Ford Foundation Announces Grants

NEW YORK (AP) — The Ford Foundation announced Tuesday assistance grants of $2,942,000—more than half of this sum going to help less developed countries solve problems of overpopulation. The foundation said $2,862,000 of the grant will be used for training and research programs in family planning and reproduction biology.

The largest single birth control grant was $975,000 to Population Control Inc., which will expand its research program in Pakistan at the request of that government.

Another grant went to India—$480,000 to the All-India Institute of Medical Sciences at New Delhi and $125,000 to Topiwala National Medical College in Bombay for expanded research in reproductive biology.

Fined for Having Beer in Car

CHILTON — Two Fox Cities area youths were fined $35 each in Calumet County Court this week after they admitted transporting beer with minors under the age of 18 present in the cars they were driving.

Arrested by Calumet County police were John F. Barthels, 20, 2405 Vinland Rd. Oshkosh and James P. Jansen, 18, 204 E. Kimberly Ave. Kimberly. Barthels was arrested at town road intersection with State 114 in the Town of Harrison about 10 p.m. March 30. Jansen was arrested on State 114 in Harrison about 3:30 p.m. March 31.

Thresher was the sound of a ship breaking up.

In a taped radio interview in Washington, Adm. George W. Anderson, chief of naval operations, commenting on the testimony said:

"Very, very few people who are now manning our sonar equipment have ever heard the sound of a submarine breaking up."

Anderson also said: "The reason we have the court of inquiry is to develop all facts and all circumstances, many of which at the time might not have been considered of importance to the individual concerned down the line."

The Navy reported Tuesday that no additional details has been found by search vessels, and that the Atomic Energy Commission has found no trace of radioactivity in the air above the wreck scene.

Memorial Services

Rep. Adm. John S. McCumley of naval information said at a Washington briefing that the resolution placed on the depth to which Thresher class submarines may dive remains in effect pending completion of the investigation.

Separate Catholic and Protestant memorial services were scheduled today for the men of the Thresher.

The gymnasium at the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard was converted for the religious ceremonies scheduled for four hours apart with two prominent prelates officiating.

The Roman Catholic Mass was to be sung by Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York and spiritual leader of all Catholic servicemen and a Protestant service presided over by the Rev. Bishop Henry Knox Sheil, retired presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church of America.

Reb. Arvel Lev of the Jewish Welfare Board called on the Jewish community throughout the United States to remember the fallen memorial prayer those of the Jewish faith who lost their lives on the Thresher.

Additional Manpower Requested for 32nd

MADISON, AP — National Guard leaders in the Madison area were urged Monday night to work to add manpower to Wisconsin's 32nd Division.

The plea came from Gen. Francis D. Schwehrer of Madison, assistant division commander. He said new recruits will be needed by the time the division goes on its annual summer encampment.

He noted that Madison area Guard units had strength of 2,400 men when the 32nd was called to active duty in the Berlin crisis, but that the strength dropped to 1,900. He added that if the 32nd is not brought to full strength along with other Guard units in the nation, the entire National Guard program would be in danger of future cuts.

47 Criminals Executed In U. S. During 1962

WASHINGTON (AP) — Forty-seven convicted criminals were executed by civil authorities in the United States last year, the Justice Department reported today.

Of the executions 15 were carried out in the gas chamber, 29 by electrocution and 3 by hanging.

The report by the Bureau of Prisons, including tables and statistics, said 47 were executed for murder, 4 for rape, 1 for assault, 1 for a life prisoner and 1 for armed robbery.

The report noted that in 1961 only 42 persons were executed, that it said was the second lowest number since the national records were started in 1930.

Memorial Fund for Sub's Crew Set Up

GROTON, Conn. (AP) — The Navy disclosed Tuesday the establishment of a memorial fund for the 129 men who died aboard the nuclear submarine Thresher.

The announcement was in response to requests from all parts of the United States, explained a spokesman at headquarters of the Atlantic Submarine Force deputy commander.

Among the possibilities is a monument or a scholarship fund for children of the men lost aboard the ship. Groton submarine headquarters was named collection point.

Arthur Gaschler, 53, Denver, started hiccupping Aug. 3, 1961, and 20 months later still was hiccupping. Gaschler has spent about $8,000 so far trying to find a cure. (AP Wirephoto) the lowest of those announced so far, averaging $4.85 a ton.

"An improvement in prices is obligatory and we have concluded that an attempt to secure some price adjustment is warranted at this time in light of all the competitive factors," said U.S. Steel President Leslie B. Worthington. "Steel costs less than almost anything you buy," he added.

Worthington said that with his company's changes, finished steel prices would stand at about the same level as at the end of 1958.

Labor Costs Climb

"Big Steel" and the other companies cited five rises in labor costs since 1958 when the last general steel price increase came. Earnings have dropped substantially, dividends have been reduced and employment has declined," Worthington said.

Sixth ranking Armco, which a year ago failed to fall in line with price raising companies, boosted its prices $4.50 to $7 a ton on plates, sheets and galvanized products. It was the only firm to cut prices, knocking $5 a ton from quotations on a steel wire items competition from imports.

Many Items Not Affected

Inland, the eighth ranking producer, raised its prices $4 to $7 a ton.

Companies raising prices have said that the increases applied to less than half of sales. U.S. Steel put its figure at 29 per cent.

Items affected were mainly those in strong demand as steel buying boomed.

Users are buying heavily not only to meet current needs but to build up inventories as a hedge against a possible strike this summer.

The Steelworkers Union will be free to reopen its wage contract May 1 and could strike 90 days later if agreement is not reached.

If the price increases stick, the union's demands are expected to be stronger.

Held on Charge Of Embezzling

SPARTA (AP) — Federal embezzlement charges were filed Tuesday against Robert Bruce Mills, 56, one of three brothers who are officers in the Jackson County Bank, the only one in Black River Falls.

Mills, the assistant cashier, is accused of taking $2,500 from the account of a customer according to the Federal Bureau of Investigation, which said it was called into the case by bank officials on Monday.

Mills appeared before U.S. Commissioner James Rice in Sparta and was bound over to U.S. District Court in Madison. Mills, who did not enter a plea, was released when his bond of $5,000 was posted by his brother Phillip, the bank's cashier.

Another brother, Thomas, is a bank director. All the brothers reside in Black River Falls.

Fire Chief Severely Burned When Flames Sweep Through Brush

THREE LAKES, Wis. (AP) — Three Lakes Fire Chief Warren Lawonn was burned severely but forest ranger Henry Freund escaped unharmed when they were trapped Tuesday in the midst of a fire that swept 65 acres of explosively dry brush and forest country.

"It was solid flame," said Freund. "I never thought I'd get out alive."

Lawonn, about 40, was burned on both hands and the right side. He was taken to a hospital in Rhinelander.

The two had driven in a truck into the burning area to search for the center of the fire when suddenly they were surrounded by fire as the 40-foot spruce and balsam trees burst into flames.

Their truck stalled as they attempted to flee. Lawonn leaped from the truck and picked his way through the burning trees to a clearing. Freund was able to get the truck started and drove out.

Drop in Profits Behind Hike in Steel Prices

Industry Running Well Back of Other Businesses

BY SAM DAWSON
AP Business Staff Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The steel industry bases its case for a price rise on shrinking profits in the last few years while prices held fairly stable and operating costs continued to rise. But will a price boost stick? And how long?

The figures show that in return on both assets and sales the steel industry has been running well below many other kinds of business. But one reason its profits have been lower is that for five years its output has been well below its productive capacity. Lower sales volume as well as skimpier profit margins have cut total earnings. Some of this drop in output is due to fluctuations in the general economy and particularly in the demand for metals by durable goods makers. But a good part of the low output figures has been due to competition.

This has come both from other metals, plastics, glass made in the United States taking over some of steel's old markets, and from foreign competition. Both Europeans and Japanese have been able to ship steel products to U.S. ports at lower prices than domestic mills were listing.

Labor Cheap

American steel makers say the foreign competition is tough because labor costs are lower abroad and because overseas steel mills, largely rebuilt since World War II and often with U.S. financial aid, have later and more efficient equipment.

This has cramped any efforts of American steel mills to raise prices. And also since last year's attempt to raise prices failed, steelmen are prone to blame White House opposition to price rises. Until last week most price changes were downward.

A big jump in steel demand in recent weeks has boosted production by 8 per cent. The demand has favored some steel products above others. Steel makers believe that price increases on such items can stick—at least for a time.

The joker is to determine how much of the jump in demand is real that is for more tonnage now to meet manufacturing schedules—and how much is to build up stocks as a hedge against a possible steel strike in late summer. Built up inventories are used, sooner or later, and while they are being consumed new orders wither. Often prices do not rise.

Management Thinking

The statistics back of steel management thinking in favor of higher prices are these:

In 1962 net income after taxes of 78 iron and steel companies as tabulated by the First National City Bank, came to $805 million, down 15 per cent from 1961. This was a return of 5.4 per cent on net assets of $1 billion. Profits were a 41 per cent of industry sales. Some 40 other industry groups showed a better return on assets. And 32 others had a high profit margin on sales.

Steel prices rose on average 30 per cent between 1953 and 1957. Since then they have been almost stable. Output has slumped from around 110 million tons in 1957 to around 100 million tons last year. And even current increased demand isn't expected to raise it to more than 105 million.

Capacity has risen from around 130 million tons to an estimated 160 million today. About one-third of that is still idle, although steel men say much of the idle facilities is obsolete or nearly so.

Lutheran League Seminar Slated At Appleton

A Lutheran Laymen's League seminar will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday, April 24, at Faith Lutheran Church.

The Rev. E. J. Nitz, St. Louis, Mo., the guest speaker will talk on "For Such a Time As This."

According to Elwyn Kienke, Fremont president of Zone 5 of the Wisconsin upper Michigan district of the organization, five LLL seminars will be presented in this district. All Lutherans in the area are invited to attend.

State Congressional Dinner Scheduled

MILWAUKEE — S. L. Holman, Milwaukee president of the Wisconsin State Chamber of Commerce, has announced plans for the 23rd Wisconsin Congressional Dinner in Washington, D.C., April 30.

All 10 of Wisconsin's congressmen have indicated they will attend the event at the Washington Hotel. The dinner coincides with the four-day annual meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Health Costs for 4-County Area Rise

Winnebago Residents Spend Estimated $11 Million a Year

The health bill of residents in millions of Americans are finding Outagamie, Winnebago, Calumet that their health dollar is buying rapidly each year, according to recent studies made by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and by the University of Michigan.

Because of higher prices for medical care, including the cost of medical, dental and hospital care, of health insurance. This is the highest total in the four-county area.

Next in line is Outagamie County, where $10,188,000 is spent yearly for medical care. Waupaca residents pay $3,132,000 per year for medical expenses and Calumet County residents spend $2,049,000 annually for health care.

Per-Person Cost

Broken down on a per-person basis, figures for Winnebago, Outagamie, Calumet and Waupaca counties are as follows: $105.436 and $88, respectively. Ten years ago the individual totals were $79, Winnebago, $72, Outagamie, $67, Calumet, and $66, Waupaca.

These sums apply to private expenditures only. They do not include government outlays or medical care provided through private charity.

According to the Social Security Administration, all categories of medical care are becoming more expensive. In the period of one year, hospital care in the United States went up 9.8 per cent, nursing home care, 8.9 per cent, payments to physicians, 6.5 per cent, and eyeglasses, hearing aids and other equipment, 2.3 per cent.

The net cost of health insurance, meaning the difference between the amount paid for insurance and the benefits paid by the carriers, increased 15.7 per cent. Americans are spending $21.1 billion a year for medical care. About 28 per cent of that bill is met through insurance benefits.

Employment Has Hike in March

The Labor Department has drawn a brightening picture of employment and the economy in general.

It reported Monday that the number of nonfarm workers increased by 260,000 to 55 million in March. Figuring the seasonal factors, this is a record for any month.

Other government statistics, the department said also pointed to a strengthening of the economy. These included increases in factory employment, employment in nonmanufacturing industries and in average weekly earnings.

Some of the favorable signs, however, may be due to firms increasing their steel inventory as a hedge against a possible steel strike, said Harold Goldstein, assistant labor tactics commissioner.

The department's figures amplified a previous announcement that March employment increased by 800,000 to 67.1 million while unemployment declined by over 400,000 to 4.5 million. This cut the seasonally adjusted jobless rate to 5.6 per cent in March from February's 6.1 per cent.

UW Fraternities, Sororities Strive to Adjust to Changes

Societies Buffeted by Drive to End Discrimination on Campus

BY FRANK CREPEAU
MADISON (AP)—University of Wisconsin social fraternities and sororities are striving to adjust to changes sweeping the American college scene and cling to the significant role they play in campus life.

Never a dominant force at Wisconsin, Greek letter societies have been buffeted by a university drive to end discrimination in campus organizations. And changes have been forced by a new breed of hard-working students swarming to college.

While not under attack by the university administration, the fraternity system nationwide is under an increasingly close examination and appraisal by faculties and administrations," according to Dean of Students LeRoy Luberg.

The proportion of undergraduates in fraternities and sororities has declined since peak years in the early 1950s. In the 1951-52 school year, nearly one third of the undergraduates were members. Now only about 3,300 students, or 20 per cent of the 15,785 undergraduate men and women at Wisconsin, claim membership. The proportion is further reduced when graduate students are taken into account, pushing total enrollment to 21,733.

Fraternity and sorority leaders are quick to point out, and most observers agree, that members hold leadership positions in campus organizations far out of proportion to their total numbers.

"Greeks form the nucleus of student activities," said Jeff Greenfield, editor of the Daily Cardinal, the student newspaper. "If you look at the campus leaders you will find a great many are frat men," said Robert Jennings, who just completed a year as president of the Inter-Fraternity Council. "We have a very strong system."

But at Wisconsin, campus success is not predicated on fraternity or sorority membership. "You just don't have to belong to a sorority to succeed here," said Martha Peterson, dean of Women. Ann Whitford, former president of the Panhellenic Association, agrees. She came to Wisconsin from Northwestern as a sophomore and reported that at Northwestern "60 to 80 per cent of the girls were members of a sorority and it was almost a must to belong if you were to have any status."

Last Decade
For the last decade, fraternities and sororities have been under pressure from the university to end discrimination because of race, religion or creed.

The university has taken a firm stand in decreeing that discriminatory membership practices cannot be forced on student groups by national officers, advisors or others from off campus.

"We're not saying that there has to be a Negro or a Jew in every group," said Miss Peterson. "We just want the group to be able to choose its own members."

Jennings said that in 1932 when the faculty adopted the anti-discrimination rule there were 13 chapters with discriminatory clauses in their constitutions.

"There are none now," he said. Discrimination isn't the only part of fraternity life that is drawing close scrutiny these days. The university's student government has ordered complete social and initiation probation for Beta Theta Pi as the result of a hazing incident.

A Deep Concern
"Our deep concern for the future of the fraternity system... moves us to urge that we stop dismissing obvious defects with platitudes," the Inter-Fraternity Association's judicial commission said. "The time is long past when our university community will sustain any form of hazing in the name of brotherhood."

Another fraternity, Phi Delta Theta, still has a national constitution that prohibits Negroes, Jews and Orientals from becoming members. In 1961, the national chapter was banned from campus.

The fraternity now exists as a local chapter. It is trying to get its national constitution changed or a waiver exempting it from the discriminatory provision.

The Wisconsin chapter of Delta Gamma sorority ran afoul of the university rule in 1962 when the Beloit College chapter was put on probation by the sorority's national council after it pledged a Negro girl.

A Wisconsin faculty committee investigated and decided the Madison chapter should be closed because of the national council's membership policies. The ban was delayed to give the national council time to present evidence that it does not require its chapters to discriminate.

There presently are no Negro members in any of the social fraternities or sororities at Wisconsin.

Civil Rights Agency Suggests Cutting Off Federal Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Rights Commission has urged President Kennedy to crack down on Mississippi, possibly cutting off federal funds, unless the state acts promptly to protect the rights of its Negro citizens.

The commission, in a special report to the President, said Tuesday night that since last October "open and flagrant violation of constitutional guarantees in Mississippi has precipitated serious evidence of the danger of a complete breakdown of law and order."

Lawlessness Hit
In Palm Beach, Fla., aides said Kennedy had not received the report sent him by commission Chairman John A. Hannah and would have no comment.

The commission urged Kennedy to step up federal efforts "to suppress existing lawlessness" and study whether legislation was needed to prevent federal funds being paid out to a state which "continues to refuse to abide by the Constitution."

The special report also called on Kennedy to explore the legal authority he possesses as chief executive to withhold federal funds "until the state of Mississippi demonstrates its compliance with the Constitution."

consin. But the school does not have a large Negro enrollment and only one Negro has gone through rush in the past three years.

Will Become Members
"When Negroes wish to join and seem to have the qualifications of personality and character of interest to local social organizations, they will become members," Dean Luberg predicted.

The atmosphere of college life has changed in the last decade and Greek letter organizations are changing with it.

"The Mickey Mouse stuff is dying out," said Greenfield. "The rah-rah attitude is less and less interesting to students, and Greeks are going to have to become a lot more serious or they will be left behind."

In a form letter to parents of freshmen considering fraternity membership, the Inter-Fraternity Council points out some changes. "You will no longer find the legendary hazing, the overemphasis on social activities or any other practices which are inconsistent with mature college behavior," parents are told.

Fraternities and sororities at Wisconsin are not confined to the wealthy and many members are working their way through school. Chapter houses provide living accommodations for 1,199 men and 534 women. The average cost ranges from $850 to $1,000 a year for board, room, social fees and chapter dues. In comparison, several private dormitories on campus provide board and room for $1,500 a year.

No move is afoot to abolish fraternities and sororities at Wisconsin. Nearly everyone agrees they contribute to college life.

Helen Haukedahl
Arraigned on Murder Charge

KENOSHA (AP)—Mrs. Helen Haukedahl, estranged wife of Kenosha's former police chief, was confined to her bed in a hospital when arraigned Tuesday on a first degree murder charge brought in the shooting of a police department stenographer.

Mrs. Haukedahl has been accused in the death of Mrs. Dorothy Bitautis, a 46-year-old widow, who was found dead in her car April 1st. Mrs. Haukedahl, also 46, has been a patient in the hospital since the last week in March, except for a few hours. She was released on the day Mrs. Bitautis was killed.

Mrs. Haukedahl, under treatment for a heart condition, was quoted by authorities as saying in a statement that Mrs. Bitautis "was breaking up my home."

Mrs. Haukedahl and her husband, Stanley, had been separated about a year.

The hospital room hearing was conducted by County Judge Harry V. Carlson, who scheduled a preliminary hearing for May 21. Carlson said the preliminary will have to be conducted in court. No bond was set for Mrs. Haukedahl, who did not enter a plea. Her room remained under police guard.

Haukedahl resigned his post after Mayor Eugene Hammond assigned a police officer to gather information on the chief and Mrs. Bitautis.

Over 100 Complaints
Staff Director Berl I. Bernhard is in Jackson, Miss., today for an open meeting of the state advisory committee after meeting informally with the committee Tuesday night.

The commission said it had more than 100 complaints since last October alleging denial of constitutional rights to Negroes.

"Citizens have been shot, set upon by vicious dogs, beaten and otherwise terrorized because they sought to vote. Students have been fired upon, ministers have been assaulted and the home of the vice chairman of the state advisory committee to this commission has been bombed," it added.

Meanwhile, the report said, the commission cited a $400-million moon rocket test center in south Mississippi and a $2.8-million grant for construction of an airport at Jackson—which it said would have separate eating and restroom facilities—as examples of this continuing aid.

A spokesman for the Federal Aviation Agency expressed surprise at the report. Philip Swatek, FAA director of information, said the agency was instrumental in desegregating facilities at the present Jackson airport and "we are quite sure" the FAA will be able to arrange desegregated facilities at the jet airport.

Recognizing the limitations of the law and the necessity to consider national needs in locating federal installations, the report added. "The commission believes there is an overriding constitutional obligation to make certain that federal funds are expended in a manner which will benefit all citizens without distinction."

Questions, Answers

Q. If wearing high heels, I always have to trim the front of a dress more than the back when measuring the hem. Is this because patterns are cut for low heels? Which should I wear? —Mrs. T. G. K.

A. Patterns are not cut for heel height. They are made from standard measurements and a perfect figure. When measuring a hem, always wear the heels that will be worn with the finished product. Your problem may be that high heels you tilt forward a little and don't stand perfectly straight.

Q. What are a tailor's hem and a catch-stitch hem? I'm told they are different. —Miss T. P.

A. A tailor's hem is used on bulky or very firm fabrics that do not ravel. To make this hem shoulder to bust, from bust to waistline, or at the center front. You will know where and how much after you compare the measurements. Then this is how deep you must make your pleat, or slash — whatever your particular alteration calls for.

Today's Etiquette
BY LOUISE DAVIS

IN TOUGH SPOT
Dear Louise: My son's fiancée and her parents live in another city about a hundred miles from here. The couple will be married Saturday of next week at a 6:30 church wedding with a sit-down dinner afterwards at a country club. At the mother's request I supplied the names of 40 couple and the invitations contained requests for replies. This morning I received an urgent letter from the mother asking me to get in contact with those on my list to find out whether or not they are coming. This is extremely embarrassing. What should I do?

Louise Davis Answers:
You aren't responsible for the procrastinations of your friends. It is too soon for the mother to be so alarmed and she was premature in making such a request of you. Club managers or chiefs don't put on the heat so early. They are generally willing to wait until a day or two before a reception. There is still time. Considering the short distance between here and there, perhaps you can fairly well determine a good guess which may help at the moment. The mother may be willing to let it go at that.

If not and if you feel that you must follow through somehow, you might say when you make your calls, "I was just personally interested to know who of our friends will be going. It's nice to know ahead of time that we will be seeing familiar faces." This would at least be a cover up for the mother's request and for your own embarrassment.

Q. How can I get the correct shortened bodice length for the front of a dress? I know a pleat is put across the pattern, but how do I measure to know how big a pleat to take? —Mrs. W. A. W.

A. You must first find out where you are short-waisted by comparing your own measurements with those of the pattern. Measure yourself from shoulder to waistline, from neck to waistline at center front, shoulder to bustline. Measure the pattern for the same places and compare the figures. You may be short from

The Ailing House

Vanished Cedar Odor

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: We built a cedar closet a great number of years ago under the attic stairs. Now the cedar odor is gone. Is there any way to restore the aromatic odor without replacing the lining?

A: All that's needed is to sand down the surface of the cedar wood to expose new wood underneath which should still contain plenty of the cedar odor. Since the wood is quite old, it may be necessary to plane it down, instead of sandpapering. Cedar-smelling solutions, to be sprayed on the wood, are available at many housewares and hardware stores.

Q: How can we clean unfinished, white plaster walls? We are converting a walk-in closet into a small home office and the walls are covered with soil, finger marks, etc. We don't want to paint.

A: Plaster is a very absorbent substance and it is not always possible to remove all kinds of dirt from it. Dust can be removed with a vacuum or with a wallpaper cleaner that is rolled and kneaded over the wall (not rubbed); available at wallpaper dealers and paint and some hardware stores. Finger marks will probably come off by scrubbing with a solution of one of the detergents. Wet the plaster with clear water before you start scrubbing, and rinse afterwards with clear water, to remove all trace of the detergent; start at the bottom of the wall and work upwards, cleaning a small area at a time. I strongly recommend that you paint the walls, to protect the plaster against soil penetration.

Designer Arthur Elrod, A.I.D., spaced the flooring boards far enough apart for sand to drop below them, which also speeds drying after rain and is practical for quick clean-ups. The same colorful floor might be laid in the usual way in a family room, a gay small dining room, or a room for children. Certainly the furniture belongs indoors as well as outdoors, and is all-year useful moved from one location to the other according to season. The off-the-floor fireplace is one of a kind, made to Mr. Elrod's design.

Mrs. G. D. P.: "Since you advised a reader to paint walls soft grayed blue instead of turquoise to flatter her cranberry glass, I wonder if aqua is the wrong lining color for a cabinet to display my bright green plates, cups and pitchers. The cabinet can also be had with a gold or rose-beige lining. It will go in our dining room, which has off-white walls and curtains, and I'm re-covering chair seats and buying a new rug in bright green. Furniture woods are rather dark."

Turquoise is too sharp for rich but soft cranberry, but aqua isn't lively enough for your bright green. It will dim the green as the two colors melt together. Gold is a better choice — it relates to the green because green has yellow in it, but will make the collection stand out as it should. Use plenty of gold and yellow on the table.

Mrs. R. N.: "We have built-in benches in our dinette, which is an ell open to the kitchen. All walls are now light blue to match the plastic on the benches. The table top and curtains on the dinette end wall and in the kitchen are white, and the floor has blue-gray marbling on pale gray. Kitchen cabinets are medium natural finished wood. I feel that the dinette should be brighter than it is, and different from the kitchen. What do you think of papering the dinette walls in a brown and copper pattern on blue background? What color should the curtains be?"

Brown and blue paper won't brighten the dinette as you hope it will. Look for matching wallpaper and fabric with white or pale yellow background and patterns in several bright colors with a deep, brighter shade of the blue predominant. Curtains on the dinette window matching the wall unifies the area, and the same pattern on kitchen windows ties the two areas lightly but artfully together.

Unless you quickly regain control of yourself, you'll jeopardize the welfare of your entire family. Your private feelings are no business of your children.

Your new baby will need the same good mothering every child needs. And it would be wiser to supply your older children with ammunition for later taunts, "nobody wanted you."

Explain that you've been cranky because you've been tired and upset by the first few months of pregnancy, and that you're sorry you didn't adjust more quickly. Then get to work thinking constructively again.

A new baby shouldn't trouble your other children directly in any way, and most of what you call fuss and bother can be eliminated by sensible planning.

The stores are full of wonderful new things to make every detail of baby care, from feeding through diapering through bathing, easier, compared to 14 years ago. Now you've got a magnificent chance to show your children how an old pro can manage the business of a new baby without strain.

DEAR EVE JONES: What can I and other parents in our neighborhood do to protect our children and our property from a 10-year-old bully? He starts fires and fights, destroys gardens, talks a constant stream of curses, and has no respect for anyone. Both his parents work and an elderly neighbor "looks after" him during the day.

We just moved here and I'm told he's under the care of the school psychologist who says we must not antagonize the boy and that the boy is not responsible for his actions when he's in one of his rages.

MRS. H. M.
If he isn't responsible, his parents are. And if they can't keep sufficient control over him so that he's safe to be around others, they must obtain added help elsewhere.

There's a world of difference between antagonizing a child who is emotionally disturbed and insisting that he keep from hurting others.

Together with some of the other mothers, visit this boy's parents, inform them fully of his behavior, and ask that they obtain more effective supervision over their child.

Perhaps one of you younger mothers could more adequately watch this boy — apparently the elderly neighbor is inadequate. If you can't convince the parents that they should assume responsibility for their child, ask for help from your local police.

Should I tell my children that I didn't want to have another child? It would explain to them why I'm not even-tempered lately. And I'm sure they would more easily accept all the fuss and bother a baby will bring into our household if they know they don't have to pretend to be delighted.

MRS. S. R. T.
You aren't responsible for the procrastinations of your friends. It is too soon for the mother to be so alarmed and she was premature in making such a request of you. Club managers or chiefs don't put on the heat so early. They are generally willing to wait until a day or two before a reception. There is still time. Considering the short distance between here and there, perhaps you can fairly well determine a good guess which may help at the moment. The mother may be willing to let it go at that.

If not and if you feel that you must follow through somehow, you might say when you make your calls, "I was just personally interested to know who of our friends will be going. It's nice to know ahead of time that we will be seeing familiar faces." This would at least be a cover up for the mother's request and for your own embarrassment.

Ideas From a Beach House

Any idea sleuth sparks to the possibilities of adopting these ideas, whether she has a beach house or not. The arrangement is so open and easy, for one thing, and so smart with everything else low in contrast to shelves to the ceiling, and a tall fireplace. The furniture is bright inspiration in sunny colors enameled on sturdy steel. And the floor is unforgettable in handsomely grained ash stained with color, alternating bright shades with light shades.

Take the First Trick Sometimes

We're so accustomed to refusing the first trick that we're in danger of overdoing it. Most experienced players would muft their chance if they played today's hand.

Now that you've been warned you wouldn't dream of refusing the first trick. You'd go right up with the ace of spades. Wouldn't you?

Still, you know perfectly well that most players would play a spade to force out dummy's ace. (If you let West win the second spade trick he continues with a third spade.)

West gets in with the king of clubs in time to defeat the contract with the rest of the spades.

Dangerous Case

Let's consider the first trick to see where the danger lies. We're not worried about a 4-3 spade break; we can afford to lose three spades and one club. We're worried only about the chance of a 5-2 spade break.

This means that East has only two spades. Presumably East has a spade honor, since West would lead the king if he had five spades headed by K-Q-10.

Which spade honor does East hold? He may have K-x, Q-x, or 10-x.

It is correct to play low from dummy at the first trick if East has 10-x of spades. But if East has K-x or Q-x, you must play dummy's ace of spades at once. The odds are 2 to 1 in favor of playing the ace.

If you take the first trick with the ace of spades the suit is blocked. When West gets his club trick he cannot run the spades. Remember the possibility of blocking the suit whenever you have A-x-x opposite J-x-x or A-x opposite almost any four cards. Take the ace at once.

Family Dinners Add Festive Note To Easter Holiday at Area Clubs

Easter Sunday was family day at Riverview Country Club, and Butte des Morts and North Shore Golf Clubs. Youngsters, fathers, mothers and grandparents marked the joyful spring holiday by having dinner together in a festive atmosphere.

Each of the clubs was decorated in keeping with the holiday, with flowers, stuffed ducks and bunnies, colored eggs and jelly beans setting the Easter theme.

Many club members, making use of the golf courses for the first time this year, spent a few hours polishing their skills for the approaching season, before joining their families for the specially prepared menus.

Premie's Defects Can Be Stopped

MADISON, Wis. — "Premature babies are certainly worth saving, because most defects due to prematurity are preventable," a world-famous pediatrician told staff and students of the University of Wisconsin Medical School.

"We're not doing all we can to help 'premies' avert the special hazards due to low birth weight," Dr. Mary Crosse, member of the British Pediatric Association and the World Health Organization, said. A follow-up study of "premies" she did in Birmingham, England, revealed that at least one-sixth of such children who developed serious mental or physical defects were not born with them, but rather acquired them as a result of poor care.

Among the extra risks she found low birth weight babies encountered are: injury and asphyxia at time of birth, certain newborn complications such as infection and jaundice, and infection after the newborn period. Dr. Crosse, who is currently involved in setting up premature baby care centers throughout the world, emphasized the roles of the obstetrician, nurses, and family in seeing that "premies" receive special care to overcome these risks.

It is true that more congenital malformations can be expected among premature babies. In such cases, the defects are the cause, not the result of low birth weight. But with proper care, "premies" without prebirth defects "have the same chance of growing up mentally and physically normal as do normal birth weight children in developed serious mental or physical defects were not born with," Dr. Crosse concluded.

Priest to Speak on 'Child Guidance' at Village PTA Session

LITTLE CHUTE — The Rev. Willard Vande Loo, instructor at Sacred Heart Seminary, Oneida, will speak on "Child Guidance" at a meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of the State Graded School at 8 p.m. Thursday at the school.

The affair is open to the public and lunch will be served. Final plans will be discussed for the bake sale to be held at Gordy's Red Owl Store Friday and Saturday.

Clothing Tips

A heavily loaded keyring, if carried regularly in the same pocket, can wear out the fabric. Shift it occasionally to other pockets. . . . Give your clothes closet floor and walls a good wiping with a cloth dampened in turpentine. It will help prevent moth damage.

Live Within Your Income Readers Give Tips on Stretching Clothing Dollar

BY MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Stretching dollars to keep the children in clothes can give a woman just about all the exercise she needs. There's nothing like it to limber up the imagination.

Mrs. E. C. of Chicago came up with this idea that paid off for everybody concerned:

"I am a widow with two small children, a boy and girl, aged 7 and 9," she writes. "Last year I got a bright idea about what to do with the little dresses and boy's shirts, coats, and jackets which were outgrown and couldn't be handed down in the family.

"I printed some index cards with the articles and price of each . . . such as dress, 50 cents, coat, $2, added my phone number and placed them on the bulletin board in my supermarket. Immediately I got phone calls from moms who had lots of kids and were happy to have the clothes. I made almost $10."

Another letter on the same subject may spark ideas, where teenagers are concerned:

Dear Mary Feeley:

Mrs. W. D.'s question in your column recently, concerning the high cost of dressing her teen-agers, prompts me to pass on this suggestion:

Re-sale shops are a good source for quality clothing at a small price. Even though I am an accomplished seamstress, it is often cheaper for me to take my daughter to one of these shops, especially for formal and semi-formal dresses. Occasionally, a minor alteration means owning a high-fashion creation that we couldn't possibly consider at the original price. Most of the merchandise offered at these shops has the appearance of being brand new.

Mrs. R.E.K., Cincinnati

Dear Miss Feeley:

We would like your advice on a decision we must make. We plan to purchase a small business of our own as soon as a good opportunity comes along. The only money we have is the $4,000 equity in our house, and if my husband left his present job, he would have about $1,800 cash from the retirement fund.

My husband is 38 years old and I am 30. We have three small children, two in school, and one in kindergarten next fall. I would have to work outside my home to save money towards a business.

The decision we must make is whether to put most of our present equity in savings for the business we want, or to build a larger house which we need—then count on my future earnings to save toward a business.

Mrs. W.K., Corvallis, Ore.

Dear Mrs. K.:

It seems to me the odds are in favor of building the home now,

'Tulip Time' Setting for Top Hat Party

Tulip Time will be the theme of the Top Hat Dance Club's informal dance Saturday evening at 41 Bowl. Acting as co-chairmen of the spring party will be Dr. and Mrs. George Nichols and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Voissen.

Committee members are Dr. and Mrs. Neil Brahe, Dr. and Mrs. John Le Fave, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ferron, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Griesbach, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harper, Jr. and Mrs. James Ormson, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Vincent, Mr. and Mrs. Russel Beck and Mr. and Mrs. John Spaulding.

Get-acquainted cocktail parties will be held from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Hosts will be Mr. and Mrs. David Weiland, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Steinberg, Mr. and Mrs. Don Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Lutz, Mr. and Mrs. John Grootement, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Sturtevant and Mr. and Mrs. Don Fredrickson.

You don't have a great amount of capital to invest, and the expenses of operating a business are many. Of course, the big question is how well equipped you and your husband would be to handle the particular business you might buy. Or, if you are simply putting up the money and somebody else would be running the business, then there's the added risk of betting on somebody else's ability. There's no guarantee either way, of course. And a long chance does sometimes pay off very well indeed.

But I'm also thinking about the emotional sacrifice you'll have to make if you take a job and leave your three little children five days a week. You and your husband are still young enough to plan to go into business some other year.

(Mary Feeley will welcome your questions. Write to her in care of this newspaper.)

Wife Should Change Outlook; Platonic Kiss Fine in Family

DEAR ANN LANDERS Is there anything wrong with a wife who wants her husband to save his hugs and kisses for her alone?

I am married to a man who is the warm, outgoing type. He says he often has an impulse to hug and kiss women friends or relatives and it is purely platonic — no sexual implications whatever. I don't believe there is such a thing as a platonic hug or kiss between members of the opposite sex—even if it's only a peck on the cheek.

When my sister-in-law (or a friend or neighbor) greets my husband with a kiss or hugs him on parting I flame up inside. I've told him how I feel but it does no good. I've watched him carefully and usually the women kiss him first but he is so responsive I'm sure he encourages it. If he pushed them away once or twice they would stop.

I would be very happy to hear your views on the subject—Hands Off.

Dear Off: When you hear what my views are you won't be so happy.

A woman who doesn't believe in a platonic hug or kiss has a mighty sick approach to life in general and to sex in particular. My best wishes for a speedy recovery.

DEAR ANN LANDERS I am 17 and pregnant. The baby is expected in September. I can't marry the baby's father for reasons which I won't go into here. After several days of soul searching I've decided to give up the baby for adoption.

My mother passed away 10 years ago and my father is going to remarry in July. I like his future wife very much and am happy for them both. The problem is this: They want to take my baby until I marry and can give the child a home. They promise to give the baby back when the time comes.

It's a great temptation because I'd give anything to see my child grow up. But I believe the baby would get a better break if he could start life away from me.

My relatives have filled me with so many stories about how I'll regret it if I give my baby away that my head is bursting. Please help me—Old Woman of 17.

Dear 17: Your thinking is solid. Don't let anyone change your mind.

It's easy to say, "We'll give up the baby when the time comes" but it's not so easy to live up to the promise after the baby has become a part of the family.

Your father and his future wife undoubtedly believe they would be doing you a favor, but I hope you will decline their kind offer and do what you feel is best for the baby.

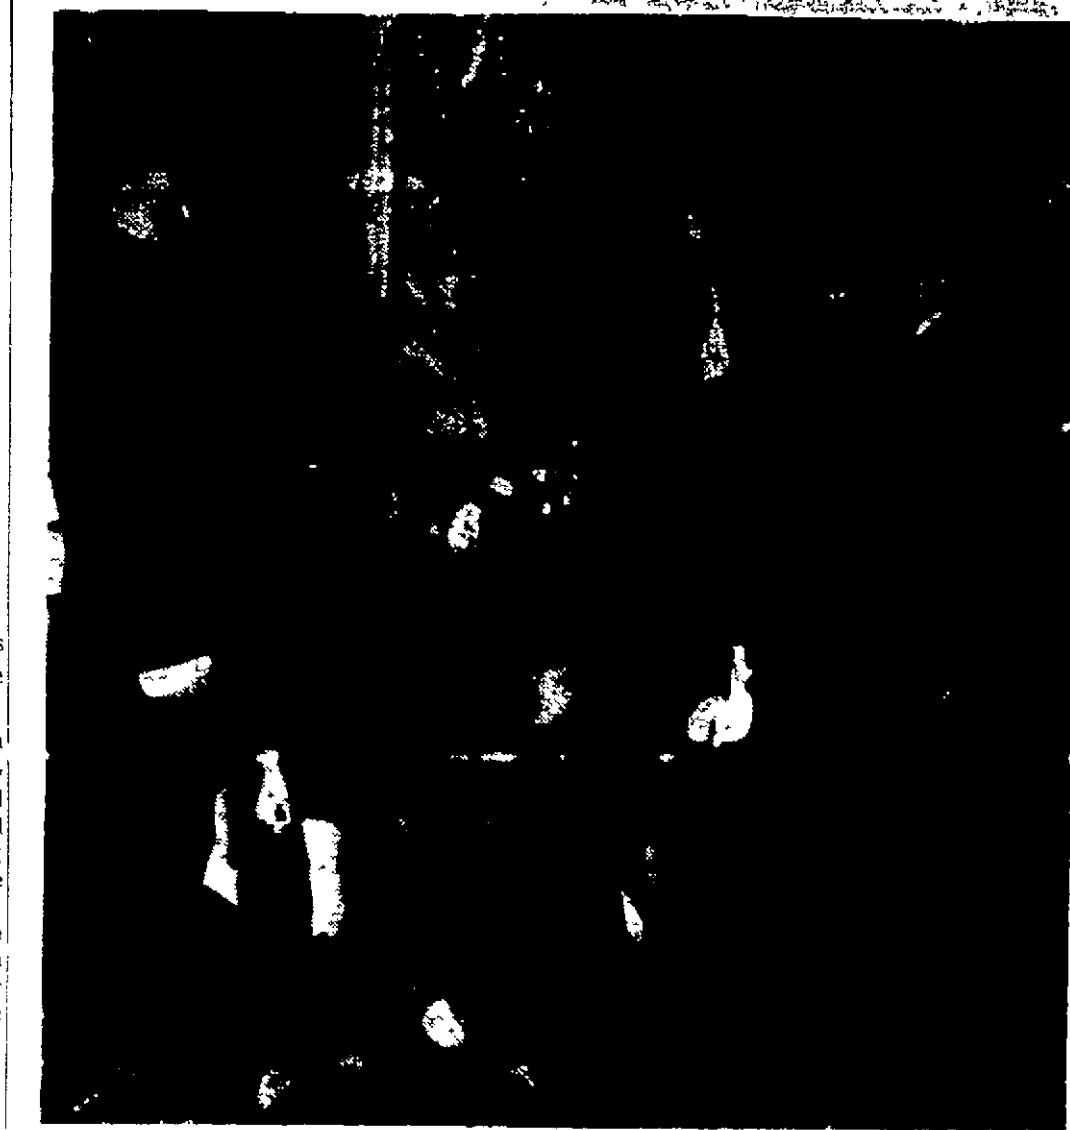

DEAR ANN LANDERS I disagree violently with your words to the unhappy divorcee. She criticized the weeping widows and claimed divorcees have a much tougher time because they don't get the moral support and sympathy of their family and friends. You told her, "One thing is certain—the widow didn't have a choice."

Some divorcees don't have a choice either. When a husband in his middle 40s goes off his rocker for a younger and more attractive woman the wife is helpless. I know because it happened to me.

Perhaps some wives have the strength to take the insults and the slaps and punches and present a smiling face to the world but I wasn't equal to it.

The only choice I had was to let him go or end up in a mental institution. If you are fair you'll print this letter. My name is—Legion.

Dear Legion: No woman should put up with slaps and punches. I recommend separation when there is physical abuse and I have said so repeatedly. Divorce is a different matter.

With the Spring Season Warmly at hand, Christmas seems like a long time ago. The yule tree at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerhard Reinders, 1119 W. Roberts Ave., has served double duty this year. Pair Weds In Double Ring Rite KAUKAUNA — The Rev. Andrew J. Quella officiated at the 9 a.m. double ring ceremony today uniting in marriage Miss Mary Huss and Marvin Van Groll at Holy Cross Catholic Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Huss, route 1, Kaukauna, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Van Groll, route 4, Appleton, are parents of the couple.

Miss Irene Van Groll, Appleton, a sister of the bridegroom, attended as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Kay Welter, Mrs. Clayton Huss, Little Chute, and Miss Janice Albers, West De Pere. The bride's nieces, Miss Judith Huss and Miss Bonnie Ver Voort, acted as junior bridesmaids.

Best man was the bridegroom's brother, Gerald Van Groll, Appleton. The bride's brothers, Gary Huss and Clayton Huss, Little Chute, and Clarence Wagner Menasha served as groomsmen. Ushering duties were performed by Richard Van Groll, a brother of the bridegroom, and Cyril Huss, the bride's brother.

A breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents. The Darby Club was the setting for a dinner reception and dance.

The couple was graduated from Kaukauna High School. The bride is employed at Zwicker Knitting Mill, Appleton. Her husband is employed at Thilmany Pulp Paper Co. After a Florida honeymoon

Women's Fellowships Announced

MADISON — Graduate fellowships marked for women only at the University of Wisconsin are attracting applicants from New York and California as well as Wisconsin.

Dr. Kathryn F. Clarenbach, director of the LW program for the continuing education of women, said Thursday more than 175 women have written for application forms for the E. B. Fred fellowships named after the emeritus president of the University.

Thirty women have officially applied for the fellowships which will range up to $2,000 for the 1963-64 academic year. Mrs. Clarenbach said.

Deadline for applying for a fellowship is May 1. Awards will be announced June 1.

The fellowship program is aimed at encouraging women who have one or more college degrees to complete their professional training. The program is supported by a Carnegie Corp. grant.

The fellowship awards may be used for any purpose which will enable a woman to continue her studies or return to school after some years as a housewife and mother.

"Hiring a babysitter or getting some help with the house cleaning are essential expenses for many women who want to continue their education," Mrs. Clarenbach said.

AMA Head Calls Medicare Out-and-Out Deception

Dr. E. R. Annis Says Proposal Is New Tax Plan for United States

President Kennedy's Medicare program is an out-and-out deception. It actually is a new tax plan for the United States to finance very limited government medical assistance, and not a general, broad program of aid to the aged.

That's the very strong belief of Dr. Edward R. Annis, president-elect of the American Medical Association. He addressed the annual meeting of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night at the Conway Hotel.

Dr. Annis has been traveling the country, speaking against Medicare. He reached national prominence when he debated with UAW President Walter Reuther and Sen. Hubert Humphrey in Madison Square Garden in New York.

The American people, both senior and junior citizens, are being deceived by the propaganda on Medicare, Dr. Annis said. He cited the example of an Iowa woman who was asked if she was for Medicare. "Sure," she answered, "with six children it will come in handy." When told it wouldn't cover her children, her enthusiasm cooled considerably.

Won't Cover All

It won't cover all medical expenses as everyone is led to believe, the speaker asserted.

All it will do is tax every citizen to pay for very limited care for those who have reached age 65, rich and poor alike. "It is not right to provide care for everyone just because they have had a birthday," he said. Statistics show, Dr. Annis said, that most senior citizens can take care of themselves. For those who are dependent solely on social security checks, there are such things as the Kerr-Mills Bill, which provides federal aid through the state governments. Forty-one states have approved, using the Kerr-Mills Bill, he said.

The Medicare program now is sometimes being called by a new name — the Insurance Act of 1963, the doctor related. He said Sen. Edward Kennedy has sent out letters in Massachusetts telling senior citizens that Medicare will provide paid up medical insurance at age 65. Such a thing is impossible and illegal, Dr. Annis said, "and they know it."

Political Reason

The reason for the Medicare proposal is purely political, he asserted, because it reaches a tremendously large voting block — the millions of senior citizens. It wouldn't do any good to propose such a program for teenagers because they can't vote.

Dr. Annis said that under Medicare hospital care could be provided only in those institutions which have contracts to do business with the federal government. When it comes to nursing home care, the bill would apply only to some 500 approved nursing homes out of about 18,000 in the country.

The benefits of Medicare are meager compared to what is being promised, the speaker reiterated constantly.

Medical care costs more today than ever before, Dr. Annis said, and no one knows it better than the doctors.

"But we have reached the jet age in medicine," he said. "Medicine costs more, does more and is worth more. Millions of people are alive today who a generation ago would have died because modern techniques and remedies were not available."

Need Larger Staffs

Most of the higher costs for hospital care result from the need for larger staffs, new procedures to treat the ill and new drugs to cure them, he said. About 70 percent of a hospital bill goes to pay the people who keep the hospital running, he pointed out.

Dr. Annis paid tribute to the many doctors and scientists who spend their lives doing research to find better medicines and cures

Girl Uses Special Set of Keys to Take Father's Car

Three Menasha girls who drove to Appleton in a car owned by the father of one, although none of them had a driver's license, were turned over to their parents after they were reprimanded by police.

The girls were stopped after police spotted the car going through a red light on W. College Avenue. When the policeman asked the driver for a license, she did not have one. None of the girls were old enough to obtain licenses.

Police said the girl whose father owned the car secretly had an additional set of car keys made, which she used Tuesday night. She and her girl friends went to a Menasha industrial parking lot where the girl's father worked on the night shift and took the car, police said.

Firemen Spend an Hour At Minor Grass Fire

KAUKAUNA — Firemen were called about 2:30 p.m. Monday to extinguish a grass fire on the Lester Spice property, Green Bay Road, and spent approximately one hour in bringing the blaze under control.

Over 500 gallons of water were used to quell the blaze leading fire chief William Haupt to ask close cooperation among residents to watch carefully when burning rubbish and debris. While firemen are out on a minor grass fire, which usually result in no damage, serious damage could result to a home before the equipment could cease fighting the grass fire and travel to a more serious blaze, noted Haupt.

These five men were elected to the Appleton Chamber of Commerce board of directors during the annual meeting Tuesday. They will serve three-year terms. The first meeting of the new board will be Friday, April 26. During the meeting new chamber officers will be elected. Outgoing president is John P. Reeve.

State 26 Job Gets Approval

Road to be Rebuilt Between U. S. 41, Fond du Lac County

OSHKOSH — Reconstruction of State 26 between the U. S. 41 interchange and the Fond du Lac County line was approved by the Winnebago County Board this morning.

L. W. Empey, Green Bay district engineer, said the estimated cost for the 4.8 mile project would be about $619,000, of which the county's share $240,000. This share will be deducted from the state highway allotment to the county for the next several years.

It is planned to take bids this fall for the grading and base course and to take bids next year for the paving. The road will be relocated in several portions, Empey outlined. The right-of-way now is being purchased.

No plans are being made for the portion of U. S. 41 to the Oshkosh city limits at Oregon Street because of the airport study involved in the area. The highway skirts the southern end of the airport.

Only One Change Made at Kimberly

KIMBERLY — One change in committee make up from last year was made at a reorganization meeting of the village board Tuesday night. The change was necessitated by seating of a new trustee.

Elmer VanderVelden remains as chairman of the administrative committee, with Francis VanderWien and Paul Van Dyke, new trustee, as other members.

Bernard VandenBoogaard again heads the maintenance committee, working with John Gaffney and Albert VanderWien. Gaffney was named to a one-year term as village board member on the planning commission. Trustees voted to amend the street naming and numbering ordinance to change the name of Lexington Drive to Sunset Drive, Edgemere Drive to Curtin Avenue, and Crestview Drive to Fuller Avenue. The streets are in the plat being developed by Van Daalwyk Land Developers north of County Trunk Z at the western limits of the village.

Over 3,000 Sign Protest Petitions

College Students To Continue Project For 5 More Weeks

More than 3,000 persons signed petitions circulated before two Appleton stores Friday and Saturday in sympathy with a Negro boycott of 127 stores in Jackson, Miss., protesting discriminatory practices.

The reaction has been favorable and the response very good, said William Barton, a Lawrence sophomore and one of the leaders of the project.

Some persons have refused to sign the petitions and others have taken the flyer explaining them home to read over before signing it, he said.

Plans call for the petitions to be circulated for five more weeks on Fridays and Saturdays before the J. C. Penney and Woolworth stores, which belong to national chains whose stores are being boycotted by the Jackson Negroes. Lawrence College students and faculty members and some townspeople make up the informal group circulating the petitions.

Don't Stop People Those circulating the petition have tried to make it plain they are not trying to stop people from entering the stores, Barton said.

Some persons have heckled the petitioners, but they have been in the minority, he said. Some of the persons working on the project have received abusive phone calls, he said.

The group received four letters of commendation from Appleton ministers today, he said.

Plans are being made to circulate a petition on the Lawrence campus supporting the Jackson boycott, in addition to those being circulated downtown.

V. I. Minahan, publisher of the Post-Crescent and a member of the Governor's Commission on Human Rights, will speak on the commission's work at 8 p.m. today at the Lawrence Union. The talk was arranged by the group circulating the petitions.

The group also is working on plans to hold a drive for clothing, food and contributions for Greenwood, Miss., where difficulties have arisen over attempts by Negroes to register to vote. This will be done in conjunction with church groups and the Appleton Youth Council.

Lawmaker Flays GOP Inaction On Redistricting

MADISON (AP) — Assemblyman Allen Flannigan, D-Milwaukee, flayed Assembly Republicans today for inaction on legislative reapportionment and introduced a resolution to provide an alternate method of realigning districts.

Flannigan made a bid to withdraw from committee his bill to reapportion Senate and Assembly districts. He accused the GOP of keeping the plan "bottled up."

"I feel it's our right to know what you plan to do about reapportionment," Flannigan said. "It's going to get lost in the shuffle if you keep this up."

On the informal ballot, the vote was Hannemann 11, Mrs. Stillings 9. When the first formal ballot was taken, Hannemann bested Mrs. Stillings by a 14 to 6 margin.

Hannemann, a salesman for the Elm Tree Bakeries for the past 26 years, will be starting his second term as council president. He held the position 11 years ago after being elected on the second ballot.

"I wish to thank the members of the common council who voted for me and I promise to do everything I can to make the office a success," Hannemann told his colleagues.

Mayor Congratulates He received congratulations from Mayor Clarence Mitchell, who commented, "I am looking forward to working with you during the coming year."

Both Hannemann and Mrs. Stillings, who has been the only woman alderman in Appleton's history, are active on major council committees, boards and commissions.

In other developments at the annual organizational meeting, the chairmanships of three standing council committees changed hands while one other remained the same.

Ald. Hannemann was appointed to head the finance committee, a position formerly held for five consecutive years by Ald. Alvin Tews (5th), who has received a new job assignment and asked to be relieved of the chairmanship. However, Tews will remain a member of the committee.

Airport Petition Lists Items for 1963 Construction

Action Clears Way for State To Issue Needed Certificate

A petition spelling out specific construction plans for this year at Outagamie County's new jet-airport was approved this morning by the Board of Supervisors.

The action clears the way for state aeronautics commission issuance of a certificate of convenience and necessity for airport construction here.

The resolution also presents to the Federal Aviation Agency and aeronautics commission official county action in the transfer of federal grant agreements from the present county airport to the proposed new field.

The state commission will meet April 26 in Madison when it will have on its agenda Outagamie County's application for a certificate of convenience and necessity. The commission last month in Fond du Lac had suggested the county present a revised petition directed specifically at the construction phase contemplated in 1963.

Initial Facilities

Initial facilities, the petition says, will consist of the "minimum construction consistent with the air traffic requirements of a proper Outagamie County airport."

Specifically, it calls for construction this year of a paved runway 5,200 feet long and 100 feet wide, plus these other facilities:

"Two 10-position tee hangars complete with connecting taxiways; a fixed base operator hangar and office building; a central area, terminal building supplying waiting room, toilets and airline operation spaces; sewage system, paved entrance road and parking lot; all terminal runway, taxiways, and aprons will be provided with lights for night-time operation of airport. Sufficient land, approximately 1,235 acres, is to be acquired by the county."

Airport Committee Chairman Mark Catlin Jr., said the initial facility will be constructed to current FAA standards in every respect. Before construction is undertaken the plans and specifications for the initial work will be submitted to the FAA for review and comment and work will not be undertaken until FAA approval has been obtained if such approval is required, Catlin said.

Sharp Debate

A sharp debate developed this morning when Supv. Sylvester Esler questioned Catlin concerning the 100-foot wide runways. Esler said he recalled the master airport plan calls for 150-foot runways.

Catlin said the 150-foot figure was correct. He explained, however, that the county's airport consultant and the airport committee

Hannemann Wins Presidency of Appleton Council

18-Year Veteran Alderman Tops Mrs. Stillings on First Ballot

Ald. Harold H. Hannemann (10th), an alderman for the past 18 years, was elected president of the Appleton Common Council Tuesday night on the first official ballot.

Hannemann, of 1830 S. Peabody St., won the top council post-handily over Mrs. Dorothy Stillings (7th) 1323 Oakcrest Court, who pressed her first major bid for the presidency after having served nine years on the common council.

On the informal ballot, the vote was Hannemann 11, Mrs. Stillings 9. When the first formal ballot was taken, Hannemann bested Mrs. Stillings by a 14 to 6 margin.

Hannemann, a salesman for the Elm Tree Bakeries for the past 26 years, will be starting his second term as council president. He held the position 11 years ago after being elected on the second ballot.

"I wish to thank the members of the common council who voted for me and I promise to do everything I can to make the office a success," Hannemann told his colleagues.

Mayor Congratulates He received congratulations from Mayor Clarence Mitchell, who commented, "I am looking forward to working with you during the coming year."

Both Hannemann and Mrs. Stillings, who has been the only woman alderman in Appleton's history, are active on major council committees, boards and commissions.

In other developments at the annual organizational meeting, the chairmanships of three standing council committees changed hands while one other remained the same.

Ald. Hannemann was appointed to head the finance committee, a position formerly held for five consecutive years by Ald. Alvin Tews (5th), who has received a new job assignment and asked to be relieved of the chairmanship. However, Tews will remain a member of the committee.

Wants Report on Proposal Back By June 1; Mayor Cautions City Council to Watch Spending Rate

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Mayor Clarence Mitchell Tuesday night called on the Appleton Common Council to make a final decision this year on hiring a finance director.

Mitchell covered all bases in his eight-page "state-of-the-city" report, pointing out the major projects accomplished in city government during the last year and those scheduled for the future.

The mayor requested the finance committee to make a thorough study of the finance director proposal and report back by June 1, so if the position is created the new man will be hired by Sept. 1.

Mitchell and a few other city officials, along with groups in the community, have been pressing for creation of the finance post. Several studies have been held and there has been considerable debate, but the council previously showed reluctance to go along with the idea.

Should the council decide to hire a finance director, Mitchell advised, it will have to be determined whether the director should be a separate, independent officer, or be included as an officer on the staff of an already established department.

Mitchell cautioned that the city should watch its purse strings and "seek the path to economy." He said demands of the community tend to push the tax rate upward, declaring, "In efforts to be good legislators and provide the citizenry with its required services, we must shoulder the responsibility of watching our expenses."

"Fortunately, our tax rate in Appleton received a temporary reprieve this year with the refund credit from the sales tax, but we cannot, however, look forward to this source of revenue when we do our fiscal planning," Mitchell warned.

"This would be an irresponsible attitude and in some respects would be surrendering our home rule, which we will not tolerate."

In looking to 1963, Mayor Mitchell concentrated on planning and urged the council to shoot for these goals:

Expansion of city planning program to obtain a complete comprehensive plan for the city. The encouragement of the member communities of the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission to obtain and adopt official maps to preserve the regional expressway program.

Resolving of surface drainage problems common to the Town of Grand Chute and the northeast portion of Appleton.

In the coming months, Mitchell pointed out, the city will have to do some replacement or reconstruction work on the Lawe Street bridge. He said more than $1 million dollars worth of sewer construction will be undertaken to relieve flooding conditions; new lighting facilities will be erected on a portion of Wisconsin Avenue; the water department will erect a new storage tank; and the new sewage disposal plant will be put into operation.

Fire Department Work The mayor indicated the city could look forward to the start of construction of a new fire department headquarters station later this year, noting that the site was purchased by the council at his recommendation last month.

One of the city government's major investments in Appleton's economic future, Mitchell said, was the construction of a new parking structure last year and the scheduled start of another this month. "Perhaps we have seen the most substantial leadership displayed by any city council in this particular area of endeavor — our two parking ramps," Mitchell said.

Mitchell said the two parking structures, which will accommodate 600 vehicles, will greatly improve the city's parking situation.

Earl Luedtke Council Chief

Kaukauna Alderman In Second Term Elected President

KAUKAUNA — Earl Luedtke, Second Ward alderman, was named president of the common council at its reorganization meeting Tuesday night.

Luedtke is serving his second term on the council, being elected in 1962 and having had one previous term in 1958.

Council appointments were made by Mayor Joseph Bayoregon and approved by the council.

Serving on the finance committee are Gilbert Anderson, Richard Helf, Clarence O'Connor, William Rogers and David Specht. The health and recreation committee is composed of George Simon, Fred Reichel, Specht, Russell Dix and Arnold VanderLoop.

Other Assignments Members of the public protection and safety committee are VanderLoop, Specht, Rogers, Dix and Luedtke. Serving on the purchasing committee are Reichel, Dix, Helf, O'Connor and Luedtke. The legislative committee is composed of Specht, Simon, Anderson, Rogers and O'Connor.

Serving on the board of public works are all aldermen, Karl E. Marzahl, city clerk, as secretary, and Robert Natrop, city engineer, and Donald Green, city attorney, in advisory capacities. Committees have one alderman representative from each ward.

Other appointments by the mayor, approved by the council, included Clayton Kiffe, 5-year term on the police and fire commission; Carl Hansen, 3-year term on the planning commission; A. E. Mayer, 2-year term, and David Specht, 1-year term on the board of electrical examiners, and Walter Benz, 3-year term on the board of appeals.

Kaukauna School To Hold Registration Hours Thursday KAUKAUNA — Registration for next fall will be Thursday at Trinity Lutheran School, Kaukauna, according to principal Fred Mueller.

Registration for kindergarten pupils will be from 2 to 4 p.m. in Room 1 of the school. Registration for children in grades one through eight who have not previously attended the school will be from 7 to 9 p.m. in Room 1.

Two Men Warned To Clean Premises Robert Owings, 1827 N. Oneida St., and Henry Van Stippen, 1027 S. Jefferson St., have been warned by police that the area surrounding their homes must be cleaned up within a week or they will face legal action.

The warning came after fire and health inspectors looked over the properties and declared them unfit. Police were contacted and detectives went to the property owners and gave them one week to comply with the ruling.

Health and fire inspectors said the properties were cluttered with junked autos and other debris, contrary to state law forbidding storage of junked autos within a municipality.

Physical Conditioning Program Inaugurated For Kaukauna Firemen KAUKAUNA — City firemen have started daily physical conditioning exercises, as requested by the police and fire commission, to help keep them in shape for fighting serious fires.

One member of each shift has been appointed to lead the drills which are held each morning after the equipment has been checked and proven ready for an emergency.

Ald. Gerald Wagner (18th) is the new chairman of the public safety committee, replacing Ald. Robert Stumpf. The latter headed the committee for the last three years and did not seek the chairmanship again, but will continue to serve on the committee.

Other Committees Reappointed chairman of the other standing committee was Ald. Kenneth Loos (3rd), street-sanitation committee.

Finance — Chairman Hannemann; Ald. George Buckley (14th), Ald. Al Stoeger (4th), Ald. Tews and Ald. Fred Ziemann (6th).

Street — Sanitation — Chairman Loos; Ald. Gerald H. Ahrens (2nd), Ald. Edward V. Krueger (11th), Ald. Arthur Mueller (19th) and Ald. Clifford Radder (16th).

Welfare-Ordinance — Chairman Groh; Ald. Richard Huisman (1st), Ald. Donald Mueller (17th), Ald. Mrs. Stillings and Ald. Stumpf.

Public Safety — Chairman Wagner; Ald. Ervin J. Bogan (20th), Ald. Al C. Fischer (15th), Ald.

Reassessment Study Downed In Neenah

6-3 Vote Defeats Motion to Probe Effect of Change

NEENAH — A motion that the Common Council, through the city assessor, compile all of the facts and figures showing exactly what the reassessment of the city has done to industrial, mercantile and residential areas, what residents can expect in the future and an indication of steps to a solution into a pamphlet was defeated by a 6 to 3 vote by the council Tuesday night.

The motion was presented by Ald. Harry L. Miller, new representative from the Fifth Ward, who charged the reassessment had resulted in confusion. Voting against the motion were Ald. Carl B. Coenen, Peter Para, Don Kuehneman, Ewald Miller, Warren Sanders and Harold Young.

Indicating approval of the motion were Ald. Donald R. Gornoll, Florian H. Jabas and H. Miller. Ald. Wilmot Houpt was absent.

To Committee
The same matter was then presented in the form of a motion to refer it to the finance committee for consideration and study and was passed.

Harry Miller said it is quite conceivable that there may not be a state personal property tax rebate and the city budget has been increasing about $200,000 a year. If these two things happen, he said, "...collections of about 1/4 million more tax dollars will be needed. Who is going to take the blow?"

Miller emphasized that the city will collect about $50,000 less in taxes for all purposes in 1963 compared with 1962 even though most people had a good boost in their taxes. The city collected $2,406,607 in 1962 but has a collection of $2,354,640 scheduled for this year with the sales tax refund providing the balance of the $2,630,461 carried into the tax roll.

Sanders Opposes
Ald. Sanders, speaking in opposition to the motion, said that if anyone wants to obtain the figures on the reassessment, they are available in the office of the city assessor.

"I think it would be a lot of time and effort for the assessor to compile all of the information, which I don't think the average citizen would understand any way," Ald. Sanders said.

He said he thought the information would probably be too complicated for the average person to understand.

"If the council wants to dictate the work of the assessor which he is doing on the reassessment, then this motion should be passed," Ald. Sanders said.

Ald. Miller countered with, "We had preliminary stories on the reassessment before it took place and now we should have a follow-up story as presented in the proposed pamphlet."

Building Plans For Port Set

agreed it would be better to build to the 100-foot width now. There is a good possibility, Catlin said, that when the county prepares to add an extra 50 feet to the width, the federal government will share in the cost of the construction.

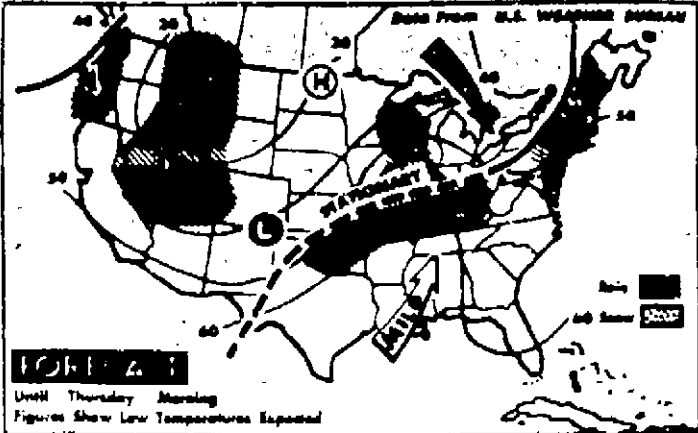

Catlin said that since the 100-foot width is more than adequate for now and will comply with FAA standards, it would be in the best interests of the county to hold off on wider construction immediately.

The light standards, he explained, will be installed in a permanent position allowing for future width expansion.

Plans Shrinking
Esler argued that the airport plans appear to be shrinking from that point originally introduced in the master plan.

Supv. Eugene Kloes said there appeared to be no need of spending all of the money the county has available for airport construction now if there is no immediate need to do so.

Corporation Counsel A. W. Ponth told the board the resolution simply complies with suggestions

Chamber President Recaps Activities

Appleton's Project 70 Backed Plan Department, Now a Reality

The Project 70 Committee and the Air Service Committee of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce

Five new directors were named to the chamber's board for three-year terms. They are T. A. Peterson, Willard Johnson, E. F. Davis, Ervin Saiberlich and David N. Weiland.

Project 70 committeemen strongly promoted the idea of a separate planning department with in the city government to work for Appleton's continued progress in the future. (The council did create the department and placed City Planner - Traffic Engineer, Walter Rasmussen in charge.)

The air service committee saw the Federal Aviation Agency give approval in the new airport site west of Appleton, and the county board's approval of the bond issue to build it.

Reeve told those at the meeting that when the airport is completed it will serve the largest metropolitan area in the state north of Milwaukee. William Pifer has headed the air service committee since 1959.

Improve Avenue
A Project 70 sub-committee is working to improve the appearance of College Avenue at the same time that the city reconstructs the street and installs new sewers.

The chamber hopes to start construction of its new building at the northeast corner of Oneida and Washington streets this fall or at least by the fall of 1964, Reeve told the group.

Improvement of the Meade Street-Wisconsin Avenue intersection, a limited access highway south of the Fox River between Appleton and Kaukauna and improvements to Highway 47 and U.S. 10 have been the major projects of the chamber's streets and highways committee, he reported.

The fire station committee saw some of its labors bear fruit when the city bought land at Drew and Atlantic streets for a new central station to replace the present 78-year-old building.

Education Plan
Industrial tours and educational programs were sponsored by the industrial division, while the retail division organized several trade promotion programs and major sales events.

The membership committee recruited 42 new members, and the forum committee conducted a successful series of programs, Reeve reported.

A new committee to work for the reform of county government was started during the year and is headed by John Torinus.

Many accomplishments were achieved during the year, Reeve said, but there is no room for complacency. Very important projects remain to be done, and success will require the active participation of all citizens.

City Plan
A major future need is a comprehensive plan for the city's growth so that no mistakes will be made now that could have made by the state commission at Fond du Lac and pleaded with the supervisors for a unanimous vote approving the resolution to show county solidarity.

Two supervisors, Peter Farrell, Kaukauna, and Cecil Carpenter, Maine, voted "no."

No Plans Now for Second 41 Bridge Near Oshkosh

OSHKOSH — A second U. S. 41 bridge over Lake Butte des Morts at Oshkosh is not being planned at the present. L. W. Empey, Green Bay district highway engineer, told the Winnebago County Board this morning in response to a question from Supv. Warren Miracle, Town of Vinland.

Under the present financing plans, the state has about $1 million every two years to provide for a bridge and there are numerous requests, he indicated.

The bottleneck over the finance- ing is a bigger bottleneck than that caused in the traffic by the two-lane bridge over the lake, he remarked.

He also said there was no plan

Aids. Huisman and Rader were selected to serve one-year terms on the civil defense committee.

Harold Barker was reappointed a citizen member of the personnel committee.

Supt. of Parks Harold Jerke was appointed weed commission.

Ald. Loos was appointed the city's representative on the Flag Day Committee.

Police Recover Items Taken In Burglary

Jewelry, a tape recorder, a clock and a slide projector taken in an Appleton burglary in February, have been recovered in Chicago by Chicago police.

Outagamie County Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer and Police Detective Donald Paulic went to Chicago Tuesday to claim the items, which were identified as having been taken from the home of Dr. A. L. Koch, 420 S. Memorial Drive Feb. 17. Paulic said a Chicago man told Chicago police he received the items in February and they were being kept in his home.

Gary Barnes, 22, of Milwaukee, formerly of Appleton, and Kenneth Bergeron, 20, 1417 W. Wisconsin Ave., have been charged with the burglary.

crease the number of parking spaces available to those who want to shop and utilize services of the central business area.

Other Projects

"As the years go by, I predict that we of this governing body will see a very definite, tangible result of this contribution to the future," Mitchell asserted. He reminded the purchase of lots, meters and ramps is supported by parking meter revenue "and is not reflected in the tax base".

Reviewing other projects of the past year, Mitchell said considerable street improvements were made, including: construction of six miles of gravel, asphalt and concrete streets, $487,000; 3.7 miles of sanitary and storm sewer, $500,000; 1.17 miles curb and gutter, $41,000; and 5.3 miles of sidewalk, $53,000.

In 1962, the City of Appleton annexed 327.25 acres of land contiguous to the city, and several small areas will be annexed this year.

Mitchell also reviewed major school construction projects planned or started during the past year.

The council meets again tonight at 7:30 p.m.

Cuban Exiles Mark Luckless 1961 Raid

Amid Mourning Are Reports Of Developments Which May Disrupt Revolutionary Group

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Two years ago Fidel Castro's army routed the U.S.-endorsed Bay of Pigs invasion. Today, Cuban exiles commemorate the event amid developments that threaten to split and possibly shatter the Cuban Revolutionary Council—the body through which the luckless raid was sponsored.

While exiles hung black crepe on their doors, six of 12 revolutionary groups comprising the council reportedly were ready to accept the resignation of Jose Miro Cardona, council president. The others planned to reject it.

Miro remained silent and apparently bent on submitting his controversial resignation letter Thursday. The letter reportedly lambasts U.S. policy toward Communist Cuba and charges the Kennedy administration reneged on an anti-Castro action offers.

Miro Rebuked

The State Department, which has a copy of the document, called it inaccurate and sharply rebuked Miro.

The Miami News, in a report attributed to close associates of the council president said Miro in a Washington visit requested:

1. Collective action against the Castro regime.
2. The same type of military and financial assistance for the Cuban exiles as the Soviet Union provides for Castro.
3. A $50 million loan for the purpose of arming an anti-Castro force.

All three points were rejected by Robert Hurwicz, deputy chief of the State Department's Cuban task force, the News said.

After Miro returned to Miami, Hurwicz telephoned him April 7 asking him to withhold his resignation, or wait 30 days before resigning and consult Washington first before issuing a statement.

Ban May Result

Miro declined the requests and Hurwicz flew to Miami where a copy of the letter was given to him. The News said also that Miro was told release of his document would result in exiles being banned from entering any U.S. government office.

John H. Crimmins, chief of the State Department's Cuban affairs office in Miami, denied that any such threat was made.

Miro told newsmen, "The State Department has made public only a fragment of my document." The entire text would put the picture into focus, he said.

The meeting Thursday night promises to be a long, lively session. Its outcome could end Miro's support among Cuban exiles or result in the council's disbanding.

Laos Neutrals Driven From Jungle Posts

Both Garrisons On Plaine Are Encircled by Reds

BY TONY ESCODA

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Outnumbered neutralist troops driven from their last jungle road outposts held only the strategic Plaine des Jarres and one other garrison today. Both were surrounded by pro-Communist Pathet Lao forces.

Pathet Lao troops routed trapped neutralists Tuesday from Dong Danh and Ban Kosi, their last outposts on the road linking the provincial capital of Xieng Khouang and the Plaine.

About 100 of Gen. Kong Le's retreating neutralists and three tanks made their way through the jungle to the Plaine, sources returning from the crisis area said. One of Kong Le's aides reported three neutralists were killed, two were wounded and six were missing.

First Pullback

The withdrawal was the first neutralist pullback since the collapse of a short-lived cease-fire Sunday. It left the bulk of Kong Le's army trapped on the hill-locked Plaine, a six-mile-long plateau 115 miles south of Vientiane. Pathet Lao forces hold the surrounding hills.

The neutralist general has another garrison at Phon Savan, a town 9 miles northeast of the plaine. That, too, is reported surrounded by the Pathet Lao.

Kong Le has about 3,000 troops. He has estimated the strength of the opposing Pathet Lao forces in the area at 9,000.

Neutralist Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma plans a trip to the Plaine Friday in another bid to end the crisis which threatens his shaky 10-month-old coalition government.

Senate Debates Syndicate's Grip on State

Reynolds, Kuehn Turned Down Offers In '62 Campaign

MADISON (AP)—Two state senators volunteered Tuesday that an element of organized crime in Wisconsin tried to make campaign donations to the Democratic and Republican candidates for governor in 1962.

The comments came from Sens. Jerris Leonard, R-Milwaukee, and Carol Thompson, D-Stoughton, during a long debate on organized crime and the extent of its grip on the state.

Thompson said he heard the offers were turned down by Democratic Gov. John W. Reynolds and Philip G. Kuehn, the unsuccessful Republican nominee.

Leonard, a leader in the Kuehn offered in 1960 campaign, concurred with Thompson. But Leonard added that money from criminal sources also was offered in the 1960 campaign and that "a major political candidate" accepted it, "probably because he didn't recognize the source."

Leonard would not identify the candidate, but he told newsmen it was not Kuehn. "Actually it's all based on hearsay," Leonard said, "and on that basis all I can say is that a major candidate was involved."

Anchorage Records 8 Inches of Snow

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Snowfall totaling nearly eight inches in 24 hours was recorded Tuesday, raising the total for April to a record 2.5 inches.

The heaviest previous April snowfall was 18.7 inches in 1955.

Street crews kept main thoroughfares clear. Anchorage International Airport reported normal traffic except for a few brief delays while snow was cleared from plane wings.

Suggest Independent Status For Bureau of Personnel

MADISON (AP)—An 8-5 vote of the Legislative Joint Finance Committee Tuesday recommended passage of a bill to remove the Bureau of Personnel from the State Department of Administration.

The department was created four years ago under former Gov. Gaylord Nelson. It combined functions of the personnel bureau and four other agencies.

At a hearing prior to committee action, the bill to restore the personnel bureau to independent status had strong support from Roy Kubista of Madison, executive secretary of the Wisconsin State Employees Association.

Democrats Critical

Democrats on the Finance Committee took a dim view of the measure. Assemblyman George Molinaro, D-Kenosha, called it "a lot of baloney."

Sen. Fred Risser, D-Madison, viewed it as a "piecemeal attempt to destroy the Department of Administration."

Sen. John Potter, R-Port Edwards, a co-author of the proposal, said that a Bureau of Personnel subject to a political appointment commissioner of administration "left the door wide open for abuses."

In urging separation of the personnel bureau from the administration department, Kubista said his organization had found no reason to quarrel with the department's handling of civil service during the last four years.

"But we're talking about preventive legislation," Kubista said. "So if we ever do get a politically motivated commissioner he isn't going to be able to play horse with civil service."

Daughter Killed in Fire

Grieving Father Shoots Himself in Chicago Bar

BY WILLIAM F. MOONEY
Chicago Daily News Service

CHICAGO — James Lee, a Chicagoan who gave away all his money and possessions in memory of his daughter, yesterday gave his life.

Lee committed suicide by shooting himself in the head in a phone booth of a tavern while talking to me.

"If I don't finish this up, I'll be a bum," he said.

"If I don't do this with dignity, I'll have to burn dimes to buy a funeral," he said.

Shirley Ellen, died March 4 in a fire in the Lee apartment.

Since then Lee had stripped himself of all his possessions, seeking to make a lasting memorial for her.

His wife died when Shirley Ellen was only 2 years old, and Lee's entire life was wrapped up in her.

He gave to the Lutheran church of St. Philip, where Shirley Ellen attended school, the 19-apartment building and another two-flat he owned.

A plaque in memory of Shirley Ellen was placed on each building and at seven charitable institutions to which Lee made contributions.

Lee called the Chicago Daily News to speak to reporter Richard Stout, who wrote a story about Lee's gift. Stout was on an assignment, so I took the call on the city desk.

When Lee almost casually mentioned that he planned to kill himself, I had another reporter start checking the telephone call. The reporter alerted police who sent two squads to the tavern.

I kept talking to him, trying to stall and at the same time talk him out of his plan.

He frequently sobbed, as he told how he planned to kill himself.

There was a sob, then a shot. The phone receiver banged and echoed several times against the side of the phone booth.

There was some unidentified noise, probably as some one pushed open the phone booth door.

Then a policeman was heard to say: "He shot himself."

James Lee was dead.

drinks. That would not be fair to the memory of my little girl."

Those were his last words. There was a sob, then a shot.

Police, who had been alerted by another reporter who had traced the call, entered the booth and found Lee dying of a single wound.

Only a few hours earlier Lee had visited the cemetery where his only child, 9-year-old Shirley Ellen, is buried. Fifty dozen red and white gladioli, the last gift he could give her, blanketed the grave.

Then Lee gave away his white Thunderbird auto to a friend, and went to a bar, where, as he expressed it, "I thought things over."

Shun Appeals Based On Race or Creed, Senator Advises GOP

Goldwater Says Party Should Leave Gimmicks to Democrats

BY JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., advised Republicans today to avoid "any race or creed" in seeking voter support in next year's elections.

Goldwater, a spokesman for party conservatives, said the GOP ought to leave "emotional gimmicks and fantastic promises" to the Democrats.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, regarded as a front runner for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination, and Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., have been booked as speakers for a Young Republican National Federation rally opening in New York City Friday.

Invited to speak on the program, Goldwater said in a letter to Leonard J. Nadassy, federation president, that he couldn't attend. But he offered some advice.

Talked to Death

"It seems to me," he said, "that the whole subject of ethnic and minority groups and their relationships within our society have been talked to death."

"Cynical politicians are continually harping on the problems of minorities and offering glib solutions to them. The words they use refer to ending the divisions between our people. But, I'm convinced that the net effect of this talk is to divide the American people and to inflame, rather than solve, the very real problems of our racial and religious groups."

"The Republican party must seek the minority group vote in the only sensible and honorable way open to us. We must appeal to all racial and religious groups with well-reasoned arguments that do not insult them or their intelligence. We should avoid making any sort of special appeal based upon race or creed."

Senate Colleague

Goldwater, who once said that Republicans couldn't enlist the support of Negroes and other minority blocs and ought to give up trying to get them, got an indirect blow Tuesday from a Republican senatorial colleague who doesn't agree with him on that and other matters.

Sen. Clifford P. Case of New Jersey told an informal news conference he thinks Rockefeller is the only serious contender for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination.

"I would have no difficulty supporting him," he said.

Goldwater has said he is not seeking the nomination but that he has given up trying to kill off draft movements which have developed for him.

Case said he doesn't believe Goldwater stands much of a chance for the nomination. He added that while the Arizona senator might wage an interesting campaign in New Jersey "I think he'd be very badly beaten" there.

Goldwater's prospects would be just as dim, Case said, in New York, Connecticut, Rhode Island and Massachusetts. He gave the Arizona a slightly better chance in Pennsylvania.

Law Requiring State To Collect Fee From Trucks Challenged

MADISON (AP)—The constitutionality of a 1961 law requiring the state to collect a $10 fee from each truck operating on Wisconsin highways has been challenged by Know Motor Service, Inc., of Rockford, Ill.

The firm contended in a suit filed in Circuit Court Tuesday that the law violates state and federal constitutions because the assessment is turned over to the Wisconsin Motor Carriers Association. The state, the Motor Vehicle Department and the Department of Administration were named defendants.

The suit contends the law unfairly discriminates against common motor carriers engaged solely in intrastate commerce in Wisconsin and establishes the state as a collection agency to turn public funds over to a private agency.

New Missile Will Seek Out Enemy Radiation Devices

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department has disclosed a new missile developed to seek out and destroy enemy radiation devices — such as radar and communications equipment.

Dr. John L. McLucas, deputy director of defense research and engineering for tactical warfare programs, said whether the ARM — anti-radiation missile — is worth using "should be apparent when we get enough test missiles tested to see if they really do the job."

But, he told the National Rocket Club Tuesday night, the Pentagon feels that "right now we have a missile which is worth deploying."

Steiger Officially in Race For State GOP Chairman

Jasper Won't Run; Peterson of Appleton Opposes Oshkosh Man

BY ALLAN EKVAL
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

FOND DU LAC—Two hats and a spring bonnet were tossed into the political ring here Tuesday night as Sixth District Republicans held their annual caucus.

The bonnet was that of Mrs. Byron Ising, Oshkosh, who is seeking a full term as national committeewoman from Wisconsin. She now is serving out the unexpired term of Mrs. W. W. Fox, Madison.

The other hats were those of Carl Steiger, Oshkosh, seeking the state Republican party chairmanship being given up by Claude Jasper, Madison attorney, and

William Friend, Milwaukee, who announced for the national committeeman post now held by Robert Pierce, Menomonie. Talbot Peterson, Appleton, announced earlier for the state chairman post.

All three posts will be filled at the May 25 convention of the state Republican Party at Oshkosh, but the two national committee posts do not become effective until after the 1964 national Republican convention and are for four-year terms.

All three spoke to several hundred Sixth District Republicans at the Hotel Redlaw here.

Steiger, former head of the Deloit division of Armstrong Cork Co. here and a University of Wisconsin regent, said he had been approached "by many Republicans, asking me to consider myself for the post of state chairman."

"Today, it seems to me, there is a state of unrest in the Republican Party of Wisconsin. Faced with a difficult opponent, we need to toughen ourselves, to balance our emphasis and to enter a new period of dedication," Steiger said in his announcement speech.

"I believe it is time we Republicans began to seek more seriously the things that unite us, rather than the things that divide us. I believe the overriding need at this time in our party is unity."

He said the party had the formula for victory, a finance program he felt was outstanding and whose techniques he could support and well qualified office holders and potential candidates.

"It seems that some people are concerned with the geographic location within the state of the leadership of our party," he went on. "Let me say now that it matters not to me where a person's residence is in Wisconsin. It matters only that we have the best people available to lead our party, whether they all come from different locations or all from the same area."

He said that if chosen he would pledge to work with all Republicans everywhere in the state with one goal in mind -- victory at the polls. He said the purpose of the party was "to return the leadership to this state to return responsible government to Wisconsin, to do our duty in again making this the greatest state in the Union."

Jury Finds Man Innocent of Drunken Driving

A 12-man Circuit Court jury Tuesday found Ben Stolzman, 47, route 2, Appleton innocent of drunken driving. The case was heard by Judge Gustave Keller, acting circuit court judge.

Stolzman was arrested by state police Jan. 7, 1962, on State 45 at 11:15 p.m. He pleaded innocent and requested a jury trial in January.

The case is the first and only case so far to be heard in the Circuit Court under provisions of the court reorganization act in which a lower branch judge can transfer the case to a higher court if a request for a jury is made. County Judge Gustave Keller transferred the case to Judge A. W. Parnell in January, 1962. Judge Parnell then appointed Judge Keller to be acting Circuit Court Judge.

Herbert Renn, 29, 331 S. Oneida St., was injured and taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital after he was struck by a car while riding his bicycle in front of 312 N. Richmond St. about 8:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Renn's bicycle was struck by the auto of Jim J. Vaughan, 28, 313 N. Richmond St., as Vaughan was backing from his driveway. Renn is being treated for injuries to his knee and arms.

Stock Market Trading Active

AP Average of 60 Stocks Reads 267.2, Unchanged

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market recovered from an early dip and moved higher irregularly early this afternoon. Trading was active.

The list encountered some brisk profit taking in the first hour, then many key stocks erased losses, some posting small gains.

The pace of transactions was faster than on the previous session.

Steels and Big Three motors, down at the beginning, showed renewed interest. The impetus given the market by the series of selective price increases as Bethlehem, Detroit and National Steel joined the firms which have raised steel prices.

Once profit taking was largely out of the way, however, more buying came into the market. Steels shaped up as unchanged to a bit higher on balance. Motors were irregularly lower, at worst. Chemicals improved early gains. Selected issues made some solid advances.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was unchanged at 267.2, with industrials down 2, rails up 4, and utilities off 1. Liggett & Myers spurted about 4 points. CBS, reporting record sales and profits for the first quarter, gained 2 points.

Chrysler erased an early loss exceeding a point and showed a net fractional gain. General Motors and Ford each took losses approaching a point.

U. S. Steel and Youngstown Sheet canceled losses of about a point each and were unchanged as the session wore on. Lukens Steel, Armco, and Crucible Steel were fractionally lower.

Few Changes In Winnebago Committees

OSHKOSH — Few changes were made in Winnebago County board standing committees announced at this morning's session.

All committee chairmen were renamed and the only vice chairmanship changes were Supv. Floyd Shurbert, Town of Algoma, on the personnel committee; Lyle Raddatz, Town of Nokimi, county fair, park and conservation committee; and Joseph Mierswa, Oshkosh, general accounts committee.

Supv. Max Carpenter, Town of Rushford, was named chairman of the special building committee for the University of Wisconsin-Fox Valley Center to succeed Supv. Van Jackson. Omro, Supv. Orrin King, Oshkosh, was named a member of the committee along with Supv. Oliver Thomsen, Neenah, a trustee of the university center.

Committees remaining the same were aviation, finance, personnel, guidance clinic, zoning, highway, welfare and agriculture and education.

New committee members included Supvs. William Ryan, Menasha, and Ray Prekwitz, Town of Nepeuskun, county fair, park and conservation; Supv. James Coughlin, Winnebago, institutions; Supv. John "Blondie" Pawlowski, Menasha, public buildings; Supv. Paul Mueller, Neenah, taxation; Supv. Duane Sweet, Neenah, sheriff, coroner and safety; Supv. Irving Walter, town of Oshkosh, civilian defense; Supvs. Carl Steffin, Menasha, and Victor Delwiche, Oshkosh, judiciary; and Supvs. Earl Kohler, Menasha, Charles Soukup, Neenah, Walter and Mierswa, general accounts.

Grounds Group Favors Closing Clayton School

$15,000 Saved by Action, Committee Report Indicates

NEENAH — Closing of Clayton School in the Neenah Joint School District for the 1963-64 school year was recommended by the buildings and grounds committee of the board Tuesday night.

Committees also recommended purchase of textbooks for new mathematics courses at the elementary level and narrowed choice of an architect to design the proposed second junior high school. Official action will be taken on the Clayton School closing at a regular board session.

Burton Spafford, chairman of the buildings and grounds committee, presented the recommendation that Clayton School be closed for the 1963-64 school year. In committee "it was pointed out that the actual dollar savings to be gained by closing the school will be $15,000 per year. It was the consensus that the 75 boys and girls would have their education improved by transfer to a larger school since it would mean having one class in each room and they would associate with children their own age. The committee vote was four to one.

Grant Use of School

People in the Clayton District will be granted use of the Clayton School building during the year for PTA sponsored groups, the committee further recommended. Official action will be taken by the board of education at its May 6 meeting.

The Clayton School, a four classroom brick building built in 1952, is situated on a five-acre site northwest of the City of Neenah. Through the years the school has been the center of community activities for parents and children.

Three architects names were selected by the buildings and grounds committee for recommendations to the board. Letters will go out this week to Warren Holmes, Lansing, Mich.; John J. Flad, Madison, and LeFevre, Wiggins, Lublin, McLaughlin and Associates, Milwaukee, Wis. Representatives of these firms will be interviewed within the next two weeks.

Veteran Shawano Supervisor Re-Elected County Board Chief

Post-Crescent News Service

SHAWANO — Mike Powers, Town of Angelica, 20-year veteran of the Shawano County Board of Supervisors, was re-elected to his sixth term as chairman Tuesday morning.

Powers defeated Arthur M. Grimstad, route 1, Wittenberg, by a 22 to 18 vote.

Elected vice chairman was William Opper, Birmamwood, who defeated Grimstad, 24-15. The vice chairman's post was vacated when Henry Allhiser, was defeated in the Town of Wescott election this spring by Harvey Stubenvoll.

Powers is accompanying them. They will return Friday morning.

Kostka Appointments

Committees Named to Handle Little Chute Village Affairs

LITTLE CHUTE — Committees were appointed at a reorganization meeting of the Little Chute village board Tuesday night.

Appointments made by Pres. Paul Kostka and approved by the village board, include relief and finance, Clarence Lamers, Richard Ebben and Jack Lamers; street and bridge committee, Ebbesen, Patrick Blohm, and Edward Sierings; building and grounds, Jack Lamers, Joseph Versteegen and Blohm; peace and ordinance, Versteegen, Clarence Lamers and Sierings; health and sanitation, Dr. E. X. Van Lieshout, Kostka, and Mrs. Loretta Versteegen. The first named on each committee is chairman.

The public works board consists of the entire village board, with Kostka as chairman.

Board members approved repairs to the tractor and end loader, purchased a grade blade and supplies for the water department. Bridge tenders hired were William VandenHeuvel and Cornelius Evers.

Sewer and water extensions were approved on Fern Court and Cloverdale Plats. Work is to be done by Bower Construction Co. under the direction of the village engineer.

The police committee was authorized to arrange a spring outing for school cadets. The village clerk was authorized to advertise for two lifeguards, and someone to operate the concession stand at the baseball field.

Youngsters Run Into Side of Car; Slightly Injured

NEENAH — Minor injuries were received by two Neenah youths, six and eight years old, when they reportedly ran into the side of an automobile at the intersection of First Street and Forest Avenue at 3:45 p.m. Tuesday, according to Neenah police.

Injured were James H. Marksel, 8, 317 High St., and Paul Erickson, 6, 203 High St. The parents of the boys were advised to take them to their family physician by Neenah police.

The Marksel boy received a bumped forehead and right cheek and a bumped right arm while the Erickson boy received a bumped forehead and right cheek, according to police reports.

The driver of the auto, Miss Phyllis A. Dorsmer, 709 Ninth St., Menasha, told police she had stopped at the intersection because a boy was running across the street and was starting up again when the boys ran into the side of her auto.

Huibregtse Again Heads Calumet Board

Oscar Kossman Is Vice Chairman; Both in 8th Term

CHILTON — Calumet County's supervisors Tuesday re-elected L. H. Huibregtse and Oscar Kossman to their eighth consecutive terms as Calumet County Board chairman and vice chairman, respectively.

Their selection opened the board's organizational activities. Huibregtse, Brillion, has been a county supervisor for the past 19 years. In accepting the appointment for another year, Huibregtse said "I certainly appreciate your confidence in me." He also lauded the board for its teamwork.

Kossman, Town of Chilton representative for the past 18 years, echoed Huibregtse's remarks when he accepted the vice chairmanship. The two senior supervisors took over the board's top two posts in 1956. They have completed seven years.

All members of the three elected committees were reelected. Joseph B. Schneider is again chairman of the highway committee with John B. Diedrich and Wilmer Struabling as committeemen.

Salary Committee

The salary committee will again be comprised of George A. Schwalbach Jr., chairman; Clem Ecker, Henry J. Steenport, Alfred J. Burich and Alyce Butler.

Kossman will again head the agricultural committee. Other elected members are Raymond Rusch and Carl Peik. Huibregtse, automatically became a member under the statutes because of his board chairmanship and F. J. Flanagan, superintendent of schools, is the committee's secretary under the statutes.

Supervisors authorized Huibregtse to appoint standing committees for the 1963-64 year.

His appointments included equalization committee, Herman Greve, Raymond Rusch, Joseph Depies, Carl Peik and Clem Ecker; miscellaneous accounts, George Schwalbach, Carl Peik and Clem Ecker; printing, A. L. Langenfeld, Mike Kleppel and Zeno Endries; public grounds, Joseph P. Depies, Oscar P. Kossman and L. H. Huibregtse; finance, G. J. Hipke, Oscar Schaub, and Oscar Kossman; approve bonds, Clem Ecker, George Hostettler and Clarence Pagel; dog and damage, Raymond Rusch, A. F. Bruhn and Arno Krupp; health, Oscar Schaub, Earl Davis, Her-

J. Hipke, H. Huibregtse and Zeno Endries, and rural numbering, Oscar Kossman, Raymond Rusch and Arno Krupp.

In all the committees the first named member is chairman.

In other organizational business, the county board rules were adopted unchanged from those which governed the board a year ago and board members and county officers were authorized to attend their respective conventions.

Civic Leader, 93, Dies at Fremont

FREMONT — William Peters, 93, former village president, Town of Wolf River board member, village blacksmith and elder and church janitor for many years, died Tuesday afternoon.

Peters was the first resident of the Dixon Rest Home at Fremont when it opened and before that had served village and town posts for many years. He held his office at St. Paul Lutheran Church for 20 years.

Survivors include a sister, Mrs. Augusta Leive, 97, of Oshkosh, three grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren. Two daughters preceded him in death.

Funeral services will be at 9 p.m. Friday at St. Paul Lutheran Church with burial in Lakeside Cemetery. Bauer Funeral Home, Fremont, is in charge of arrangements.

Commissioner to Speak on Taxes

John Gronouski, state tax commissioner, will speak on the state tax program at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Driftwood Room of Standard Manufacturing Co.

The talk is being sponsored by the Outagamie County Chapter of the Democratic Party. Gronouski will conduct a question and answer session after his talk.

Refreshments will be served.

Silver in Short Supply; Will Change Dollar Bill

BY SYLVIA PORTER

The $1 bill in your pocket will be redesigned in its first major overhaul in more than a quarter-century if this Congress passes legislation to cut the link between silver and our paper currency — and insiders believe the prospects for the law are bright since the House Banking Committee voted 18 to 1 for the move early this month.

Porter

Only twice in this century have there been significant changes in our currency: In 1929, when the size of our paper currency was reduced and in 1935 when the $1 bill was redesigned to carry the eye-topped pyramid on the reverse side of the Great Seal along with Latin inscriptions from Virgil's Aeneid. (The addition of "In God We Trust" to the $1 bill in 1957 was a minor thing.)

Gold Backed Notes

Now would come the third important change — a switch from $1 silver certificates to gold-backed Federal Reserve notes. Here's the story and the background for it.

First, take out a $1 bill from your pocket, look at the inscription "silver certificate" at the top, the words "one dollar in silver payable to the bearer on demand" at the bottom. These words mean you can redeem your bill at the Treasury for silver and today over $1.5 billion of our outstanding $1 bills are silver certificates.

Under the proposed law, these notes would be struck from all $1 bills and other "distinguishable features" to identify the new notes would be added. The portrait of George Washington would not be changed nor would the size, shape or color of the $1 bill. But there would be a new design — the Treasury has prepared four hand-tooled models to give Treasury Secretary Dillon a choice — and over the next 10 years, all the $1 bills now in circulation would be retired and replaced with the new Federal Reserve notes.

Reason For Change

Why this switch now? The answer is that the Treasury's supply of silver has been shrinking at a fast rate, as it has needed increasing amounts of the metal to make coins — dimes, quarters, half-dollars — and an acute shortage of silver is on the horizon. The Treasury has on hand today less than $1.6 billion of silver to back the $1.5 billion of $1 bill silver certificates in circulation — enough for now but not for later.

At the same time, the market price of silver has been soaring, has gone above $1.27 an ounce under pressure of mounting demands. If the silver price rose above the established monetary price of $1.29 an ounce — less than 2 cents over the current market price — it actually might become profitable to melt down coins for their silver content.

"We simply cannot allow such a situation to develop," Dillon warned the House Banking Committee before it voted to permit the Treasury to switch from silver certificates to Federal Reserve notes. "Obviously the public must have an adequate supply of dollar bills which is not subject to being constantly diminished as bills are turned in for their silver value. And it must have a supply of subsidiary coins which are not apt constantly to be melted down for their silver value."

Coins in Short Supply

Already, coins are in seriously short supply in several areas, according to a recent survey for the Treasury by Boston's Arthur D. Little Co. The shortage at Christmas shopping time was widespread and it is reoccurring because businessmen are hoarding coins to protect themselves against shortages, suburban shopping centers are slowing down the rapid circulation of coins, vending machines tie up large quantities for long periods, coin collectors these days are collecting rolls, not just individual coins.

To cover these shortages, the

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Should the weatherman prove as cooperative as he has been in the last two weeks, the Mid-Eastern Conference baseball race, which opens this weekend, could be one of the closest in years.

Neenah, the defending champion, opens the season by entertaining Kaukauna Saturday. In other openers it will be Menasha at New London, Kimberly at Two Rivers and Shawano at Clintonville (Friday).

Neenah had a 6-1 record in conference play last season but the Rockets were hit hard by graduation and have only five lettermen back.

Most Lettermen
Shawano has the highest number of letter-winners, 11 and Kaukauna is close behind with 10. Other schools and their letter winners include Menasha, 4; Kimberly, 8; Clintonville, 8; Two Rivers, 9 and New London, 7.

Here is a rundown on each team's outlook:

Neenah: Two infielders, two outfielders and a pitcher are included in the five returning lettermen for the Rockets.

Don Perry and Mike Jones are the infielders back, Gene Laughlin and Ed Began will be in the outfield and Fran Goetz is the returning pitcher. Another Neenah letterman, catcher Ed Zehner, is still in school but is ineligible because of age.

Menasha: Underclassmen will be counted on heavily for duty with the Bluejays who have only four lettermen.

Returnees are George Massey, first base; Terry Haack, shortstop; and Bob Wendt and Tim Leopold, outfielders. Mark Pawlowski, regular catcher last season, will not be with the team because of a knee injury.

New London: Coach Gar Ammerman is looking for a mound replacement to handle the duties Mike Herres took care of last season.

Ammerman has seven lettermen but no one with pitching experience. The letter winners include Gary Glocke, shortstop; Tom Fuhrmann, catcher; Jim McDaniel, outfield; John Moriarity, second base; Joe Mullarkey, first base; Phil Wilson, outfield and Joe Frohaska, outfield.

Two Rivers: The Purple Raiders have to be counted on to be in the M-E title picture this spring. Heading the list of nine lettermen is Lee Spiering who should be one of the top hurlers in the league.

Other lettermen for Two Rivers include Jim Donehek, first base; Bill Grimm, second; Jim Schroeder, shortstop; Louis Kahrs, third base; Bill Peterson, Dennis

Dennis Sweeney To Attend UW

MADISON (AP) — Dennis Sweeney, Madison Edgewood High School star athlete, and a member of the Associated Press all-state basketball team this year, said today he has signed a basketball letter at the University of Wisconsin.

Sweeney capped his brilliant high school career this winter by scoring 612 points as Edgewood posted a 24-1 record. He scored 1,162 points in 70 Crusader victories and six defeats in three seasons.

He also stars in baseball for Edgewood.

Neenah Netters Beat Terrors

Score 6-1 Win In Season's Opening Test

The Neenah High School netters defeated Appleton, 6-1, in the opening match of the season for both schools here Tuesday afternoon.

The Terrors used Jeff Rushion, a freshman, in the No. 1 match but the youth was defeated 6-3, 6-2, by Neenah's Dave Koehn. Dick Rogness downed Ron Mills in the No. 2 singles affair.

Appleton's only winner was Brian Bock in the No. 4 match. He defeated Bob Blatzinger, 6-3, 6-4.

Neenah also won eight of 11 exhibition singles and events and four of five doubles matches.

The varsity results:
Dave Koehn (N) defeated Jeff Rushion, 6-3, 6-2.
Dick Rogness (W) defeated Ron Mills, 6-2, 6-2.
Bob Krause (N) defeated Jim Hill, 6-2, 6-3.

Badger '9' Wins Behind Ron Krohn

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Outfielder Fred Reichardt and catcher John Kleinschmidt hit home runs that carried the Wisconsin baseball team to a 6-2 victory over Arizona State Tuesday.

Badger hurler Ron Krohn scattered eight hits in going the distance. Arizona State, leading 3 games to 2 in the weeklong series, scored on a pair of infield errors and two hits in the second.

Wisconsin scored three in its share of the second on Kleinschmidt's homer with two on. The Badgers added another in the fifth on a triple by shortstop Joe Ramary and two in the sixth on Reichardt's home run.

All but two of the Badgers' seven hits were for extra bases.

11 Years Ago Mathews' First Homer Won Him Regular Job

BY DAVE O'HARA
MILWAUKEE (AP)—Milwaukee third baseman Eddie Mathews set his sights higher as a member of baseball's 400-homer club today while recalling how his first four-base blast nailed down a steady job with the Braves 11 years ago.

"I broke in with the Braves in Boston in 1952 and there were reports that our manager, Tommy Holmes, was planning to platoon me if I didn't start hitting left-handed pitchers," Mathews said. "Then I hit a homer with two on off Ken Heintzleman, a southpaw, April 19 in Philadelphia and the platoon talk ended."

Summer or Later
The 31-year-old Mathews became the eighth player in major league history to hit 400 homers when he hoisted a 2-1 pitch by Philadelphia reliever Jack Hamilton into the right field bleachers Tuesday in the seventh inning of the Braves' 8-0 victory.

"I knew I'd get No. 400 sooner or later, but it's nice to get it over with," Mathews said. "It's a big thrill. I don't like to make predictions, but I think that barring injuries I have a good shot at Mel Ott and Ted Williams."

Mathews' 400th Homer Helps Spahn to 329th Win

Warren Stops Phils, 8-0, on 4-Hitter to Take Eighth Place Among All-Time Winners

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves, riding a five-game winning streak and only a half game out of first place, attempt to keep rolling against the Philadelphia Phillies tonight in the season's first game under the lights at County Stadium.

The Braves nominated veteran right-hander Lew Burdette, a three-hit victor over the Mets last Saturday, to try and extend the winning string. The Phils planned to counter with Paul Brown, a young right-hander winless in six decisions last year.

Southpaw Warren Spahn dazzled the Phils on four hits and struck out seven in blanking the Phils 8-0 before a crowd of 4,753, including 655 knot hole guests, Tuesday. Eddie Mathews cracked his 400th National League homer.

Hank Aaron contributed three hits and Frank Bolling belted a three-run double in helping Spahn.

Phil's Mauch Claims Spahn Hurls Illegally

Spikes Aren't in Contact With Rubber, Says Gene

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Philadelphia manager Gene Mauch isn't accusing Warren Spahn of cheating on the mound, but he insists that the Milwaukee southpaw ace pitches illegally—at least occasionally.

Mauch complained in vain on three different occasions as Spahn blanked the Phils 8-0 on four hits Tuesday. Plate Umpire Chris Pelekoudas and Ken Burkhart disagreed with Mauch and the only result was heated arguing.

"I complained about the same thing—and to the same umpires—last season," Mauch said. "When Spahn needs a strike, he walks in front on the mound and his spikes are not in contact with the rubber as specified by the rules."

Dile Infraction
"I'm not saying that Spahn cheats, but if a rule infraction by a pitcher isn't called and he doesn't take advantage he's a fool."

Mauch said that one of his young pitchers, Paul Brown, had a pitch called a ball, resulting in a run, for failure to keep his foot on the rubber last season.

"I just don't want one set of rules for my young pitchers and one set for Spahn," the Phil manager said. "Spahn doesn't have to break any rules. The way he's going, he'll probably still be winning after he has lost all his teeth and hair."

Spahn said that he is pitching no differently "than I have, for years."

"Mauch was just trying to upset me out there," Spahn added. "What does he want to do—change baseball?"

Five Packers Will Bowl in Menasha Tourney Saturday

The Green Bay Packers, who have no peers as a football team, are not averse to dabbling in other sports during the off season.

A number of Packers played a schedule of basketball games under the title of "Packerderns." Now, five of them are sharpening up their bowling for an appearance in a Menasha tournament Saturday.

Cubs Deal Dodgers 12-Inning Loss on 2 RBIs by Banks

Giants' Pierce Blanks Houston; 7 More Balks Called in NL

BY MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Can you visualize a stop watch hanging in Baseball's Hall of Fame?

It could happen. National League umpires are bellowing "balk" with such startling rapidity, they're advancing base runners quicker than the batters.

Seven balks were called in the National League Tuesday, bringing the over-all total for less than two weeks of the season to 30 balk calls in 32 games. For the same period of the 1962 season there were only four. Not one balk has been called in the American League.

The scorecard showed five balk calls at San Francisco, where the Giants whipped Houston 7-0 behind Billy Pierce's six-hitter. Two were called at Pittsburgh as St. Louis edged the Pirates 4-3. The other teams escaped.

The Chicago Cubs handed the Los Angeles Dodgers their fourth setback in the last five games, 2-1 in 12 innings. Warren Spahn's four-hitter gave Milwaukee an 8-0 decision over Philadelphia and Cincinnati made it seven straight losses for the New York Mets, 7-4.

St. Norbert '9' Triumphs, 3-0, Over Lawrence

Smits, Schwemin Allow 5 Hits in First Knight Win

Post-Crescent News Service

DE PERE—With pitchers Ken Smits and Paul Schwemin providing most of their own defense with a sizzling strikeout pill and Aaron Daubner supplying just enough power, St. Norbert's Green Knights blanked Lawrence's Vikings, 3-0, on the Knight diamond Tuesday afternoon.

Smits, the sturdy De Pere sophomore, surrendered only two hits and struck out seven in his 5-inning stint while Schwemin, senior southpaw from Marquette, Mich., allowed three hits and rang up eight strikeouts in the final four frames.

Daubner, who made up for two fielding errors at second base with a pair of sparkling catches of foul balls behind first base, scored the Knights' first run all by himself in the fourth and drove in the insurance tallies in the eighth.

Sharp Drive
The Sturgeon Bay sophomore slashed a sharp drive off first baseman Dave Robinson's shins for a single with two out in the fourth. He was St. Norbert's first baserunner of the game against the slow balling Bob Mueller and three before 40,782 attending the

Detroit Defeats Yankees, 7 to 2, Ties for AL Lead

Hank Aguirre's Ninth Hit in 9 Years Is Key Blow of Game

BY JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Even for a pitcher, Hank Aguirre of the Detroit Tigers is a lousy hitter. Most of the time he might as well leave his bat in the rack.

Last year was typical. Aguirre hit .027. He was up 75 times and struck out 46. Once he grounded into a doubleplay, which is pretty good for him.

He got two hits. Against the New York Yankees Tuesday, Aguirre got his first hit of the new season, and his ninth in nine years in the majors.

It went about 10 feet down the third base line, but it came with the bases loaded. Yankee third baseman Clete Boyer, apparently startled by this offensive display, picked the ball up and threw it wild past first base. Before the dust had settled three runs were home.

The Tigers went on to whip the Yankees 7-2 and move into a three-way tie for first place in the American League.

The Kansas City Athletics gained a share of the lead with the Tigers and Yankees by winning their fourth straight, 7-4 over the Chicago White Sox. All three teams have 42 records.

In other American League games, Cleveland shut out the Washington Senators 3-0 on Sam McDowell's two-hitter, the Boston Red Sox set back the Baltimore Orioles 6-1 and the Minnesota Twins won a weirdie from the Los Angeles Angels, 11-10 in 13 innings.

Ford is Victim
Whitey Ford was the victim of Aguirre's blast, and took his second defeat of the year without a victory. He is the only Yankee pitcher to lose so far.

After two unearned runs in the first inning, the Tigers loaded the bases.

6LSC Girls Will Enter AAU Meet

5 Swimmers, 1 Diver Compete in Milwaukee

The Lawrence Swim Club will enter six girls in the first state indoor AAU swimming and diving championships Friday, Saturday and Sunday in Milwaukee.

The LSC, which won has won the state outdoor meet for three straight years, will not enter an entire team because the coaches—Gene Davis and Al Dillon—are not currently available for coaching duties.

Sue Dickinson will represent the club in the 1-meter springboard diving event Friday night.

Renee Wessenberg will compete in the 100 and 200-yard butterfly and in the 100 and 250-yard breaststroke. Candy Neuman will compete in seven events: the 100 and 250-yard breaststroke; the 100 and 400-yard individual medley; the 200-yard butterfly; and the medley and freestyle relays.

The LSC's Germaine Herbold will enter the 100, 250 and 500-yard freestyle, as well as the medley and freestyle relays. Linda Fuller will swim in the 100 and 200-yard backstroke. The 200-yard individual medley and the two relays.

Nancy Zeumer will represent the 100, 250 and 500-yard individual medley and the two relays.

Nancy Zeumer will represent the club in the 100, 250 and 500-yard freestyle; the 100 and 200 butterfly and the medley and freestyle relays.

The Misses Fuller, Neuman, Zeumer and Herbold hold the state outdoor record in both the 400-yard medley relay and the 400-yard freestyle relay.

Two LSC entrants will compete in the age group meet, which is being staged separately from the state meet. Sue Rippl will swim in the breaststroke and butterfly events, and Miss Ruedel will enter the freestyle and the butterfly events. Both girls will participate in the 11-12 age group.

Faubus Appears At Desegregated Baseball Game

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas threw out the first ball Tuesday night at the first desegregated baseball game ever played in Little Rock.

Seven hundred Negroes were among the estimated 7,000 fans at the game, the first International League game here. There were no incidents.

Little Rock joined the enlarged minor league this season. Several other teams in the league insisted on desegregated seating at Little Rock. The league has many Negro players.

Faubus was the center of the Little Rock school desegregation controversy in 1957. Little Rock won over Rochester, 4-2.

Hennessey Hits 732 ABC Set

Takes Lead in Classic Singles And All-Events

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Tom Hennessey of St. Louis, coming through in the clutch like a champion, put together three strikes to give him the lead in classic singles and all-events at the American Bowling Congress Tournament Tuesday night.

After shooting 278 and 221 in his first two singles games, Hennessey had 203 after nine frames of his finale. He needed at least two strikes and nine pins in the last frame to take first place from Don Whelan of Buffalo, who shot 730 on March 21.

Hennessey put each of his last three shots solidly into the 1-3 pocket for strikes, giving him a 233 game and a 732 total.

Total of 1,998

His singles series, plus 615 in the team event and 652 in doubles gave him a nine-game, all-events total of 1,998.

Hennessey's team, the Don Carriers, failed in the defense of its classic title with a six-game total of 6,331 to take fifth place. The Carriers team who won last year with 6,248, shot 3,079 Tuesday after 3:05 the night before.

In the regular team division, the Hornells of Austin, Minn., took fifth with 3,096. The Falstaffs of Miami gained eighth with 3,064 and New Rivers of Jacksonville, N.C., 10th with 3,040.

Ralph Brunt of Atlanta took fourth in classic singles with 710. Harry Villavieja Jr., of San Juan, P.R., moved into an eighth-place tie in regular all-events with 1,334.

Pat Klumpp Hits 640 Set, Leads WIBC

MEMPHIS (AP)—First place in division 1 singles at the Woman's International Bowling Congress Tournament was captured Tuesday by Pat Klumpp of Angola, N.Y.

Miss Klumpp bowled games of 214, 209 and 226 for a 640 series. She is the first to shoot three consecutive 200 games in the tournament. Nell Hilton of Minneapolis had dominated the division for over a week with 601.

Pairing with Judy Roberts, Pat Klumpp helped take sixth place in division 1 doubles with a 1,110 total. One of their teammates, Sally Corcoran, claimed first place in all-events with an unofficial nine-game total of 1,735.

Badger Trackmen Defeat Drake And Iowa State

AMES, Iowa (AP)—The Wisconsin track team got off to a running start for the Kansas Relays by defeating Drake and Iowa State in a triangular meet Tuesday.

The Badgers, winners of six of 17 events, piled up 72 points to 61 for Drake and 48 for Iowa State.

Wisconsin, a contender for the 1963 Big Ten outdoor track crown, pulled ahead in the closing events, taking first in the pole vault, hop step and jump, discus, two-mile run, won by Don Loker in 4:20.1.

Iowa State's high jumper, Larry Eilert, broke his own Clyde Williams Field record with a leap of 6-foot 8 1/2 inches. His old mark of 6-foot-7 was set last year. Bill Holden of Wisconsin, who cleared 6-foot-10 earlier in the season, matched Eilert's mark but was second because of more misses.

Olkiewicz Hurls 5-Hitter in Little 9 Opener

WINNECONNE — Omro High School trimmed Winneconne, 10-3, here Tuesday afternoon behind the 5-hit pitching of Bob Olkiewicz in a Little 9 Conference opener.

Ron Bieber, Paul Miller and Larry Edminister collected three hits each in the Omro 12-hit attack. Miller blasted the longest blow of the game, a triple.

Olkiewicz struck out 12 and walked one over the 7-inning route. LeRoy Wilson banged a double to pace Winneconne. Omro is now 2-0 for the season as the Foxes also hold a 4-1 victory over the Oshkosh junior varsity. Winneconne is 0-2-1 for the spring with another loss to Menasha and a tie with the Oshkosh jayvees.

Maple Leafs Take 3-1 Lead in NHL Playoff

Imlach Praises Don Keon After 4-2 Victory

DETROIT (AP)—Punch Imlach, gabbier than ever with his Toronto Maple Leafs one victory from clinching hockey's Stanley Cup, left a few wordy morsels for the Detroit Red Wings to ponder today.

"If my players don't beat them Thursday and win this thing, they're a bunch of doughheads," exuded the jaunty coach after the Leafs bounced Detroit 4-2 Tuesday night and took command of the cup finals 3-1.

The fifth — and possibly last — game in the best-of-7 series will be played in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens.

"Whenever Detroit beats us, we're not playing our best," said Imlach.

Best in League
"And my Dave Keon is the best player in the National League. I wouldn't trade him for anybody. Not even their Gordie Howe."

"Why should I? My kid's only 23 and he does everything. Howe's 35. With those ages, it wouldn't be a very good trade for Toronto. And look at the way he went in for that goal."

Imlach machine gunned his words at a clip faster than Keon's solo burst on the game-winning goal. The little forward seized a loose puck at center ice and streaked in to break a 2-2 tie with less than 11 minutes left. He slipped around two Red Wings for the goal—and he scored it without even shooting.

"He missed the puck when he tried to cut across the goal mouth and it hit my Normie Ullman's skate and trickled in," said S.D. Abel, the Red Wing coach.

Keon agreed. "I never got the shot off," he said. The Red Wings, who lost the first two games in Toronto, had trouble in Maple Leaf Gardens all season. They won only two of seven regular season games there.

"It'll be tough going in there with our backs to the wall," said Abel. "But we've won games in Toronto before."

U. S. Team Arrives in Brazil For P-A Games

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—One hundred forty-seven members of the United States team arrived in Sao Paulo today for the Pan American Games.

The group, headed by J. Lyman Bingham of Harrison, N.Y., executive director of the U.S. Olympic Committee, is the first contingent of 372 athletes who will compete for the United States.

The games begin Saturday, April 20. Immediately after arrival at Campinas Airport by charter plane, the group drove to Villalpando, the Olympic village.

Consul General Dan Braddock and James McGillivray of the State Department met the plane.

Twenty-eight athletes arrived from Panama. Another arrival was Jose de J. Clark of Loma Alta, Mexico, president of the Pan-American Sports Organization.

Color the Tulips; You May Win Printing Press

BY CAPPY DICK

A giant size superior all-metal Rotary Printing Press, complete with 600 pieces of rubber type and a book of instructions for starting your own miniature publishing business, is the prize in the Young Hobby Club's contest.

Send a neat entry on paper or a postcard

Printing business may become your exciting prize if you enter today's coloring contest.

Five of these printing outfits will be given away as national awards, one to each boy or girl whose contest entry is declared by the judges to be one of the five neatest and most original from all the cities where this column is published.

There are local preliminary prizes, too. Five will be awarded to boys and girls whose entries are judged to be the neatest and most original in the Fox Cities area. These five entries will be entered automatically in the national judging to find the winners.

of the five superior printing outfits.

"Roll-A-Word" The preliminary prize is a lot of fun to win. It's a Roll-A-Word Game consisting of six small, wooden cubes with letters of the alphabet on them. To play the game you toss the cubes on a table and see if you can spell a word using the letters that are uppermost when the cubes come to rest. It's a game for two or more players and a good test of alertness and spelling skill.

To enter today's contest and try for a prize, clip out the picture of the tulips, color them, paste the picture on a sheet of paper or a postal card, then add any decorations you believe will make your entry neat, attractive and original. Print your name, age and address on it and mail it before midnight of day after tomorrow to Cappy Dick's Midweek Contest at the Appleton Post-Crescent.

Names of the winners will be published here. Their prizes will be sent to them by mail. Decisions of the judges will be final. All entries become Cappy Dick's property; none can be returned.

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

Can most people be completely dominated? YES ☐ NO ☐

No. Apparently some people can be so completely controlled that they cease to be independent in any respect. But most people cannot. Always they retain some vestige of independence. They may outwardly conform. But even slaves who remain abjectly obedient usually find ways of getting around their masters. Practically all people have some wishes, hopes and feelings that are distinctly their own, no matter how much they are dominated. In this lies the hope for the ultimate triumph of democracy.

other teen-agers. Girls are especially sensitive to the snubs of their classmates. They may be tempted to leave school because they do not have the proper clothes, or because they can't get into a particular club. Researchers find that drop-outs do not take part in extracurricular activities partly because of lack of money and partly because they feel rejected by the other students.

Appleton Experiencing Epidemic of Measles

Health Commissioner Says 752 Cases Reported in First 3 Months of 1963

Appleton is in the grips of a measles epidemic.

The confirmation came today from Dr. Marvin S. Kagen, city health commissioner, who said 752 cases have been reported during January, February and March.

At Madison, State Health Officer Dr. Carl N. Neupert announced that a widespread epidemic of measles exists in Wisconsin. He said by the end of March the disease had affected 36,000 youngsters — 16 times as many as during the same period in 1962.

Dr. Kagen said measles epidemics usually occur in the Appleton area on a three-year cycle. Health department records show that last year only 40 cases were reported in the city for the first three-month period.

New Vaccine

However, Dr. Neupert said it looked like the measles may be on the skids — for good, at least, if not for the year. He announced that a new vaccine, recently approved by the surgeon general's office, provides the first preventive measure against the common childhood disease.

The vaccine — two different types — is now available in the Fox Cities area and must be prescribed and administered by a physician.

The vaccine is usually given in a single dose, producing in most cases only a slight reaction. Dr. Neupert explained. He and Dr. Kagen recommended it for all children from nine months to 15 years of age who have never had the disorder — and especially for those with cystic fibrosis, tuberculosis, heart disease, asthma, and other pulmonary disorders.

Dr. Neupert said that for the healthy child, red measles, or rubella, is not a great worry, but added it can be serious among young children — especially under five. Measles at any age can also result in such complications as pneumonia, eye and ear infections, and encephalitis (inflammation of the brain).

Highly Contagious

Red measles is a highly contagious virus disease with early symptoms like those of a common cold. These include fever and inflamed eyes, followed by a rash of the face and neck and a cough. The rash spreads over the body in about three days, after which the fever and other symptoms rapidly disappear.

The new vaccine has proved 95 per cent effective to date. One of the "test areas" for the vaccine a year ago was the Milwaukee area.

"Even though our current epidemic should start declining during the months ahead, the risk of measles this spring is not yet over," Dr. Neupert said. He advised parents whose children have not contracted measles to provide them with protection through vaccination.

Dr. Kagen said he thought it "very desirable" for children to have injections of the vaccine. "The family physician should be contacted," he advised.

Refresher Course for Mechanical Engineers Set in Milwaukee

A mechanical engineering refresher course in preparation for state professional engineering exams was announced today by Thomas Orsborn, Appleton, member of the Fox River Valley Chapter, Wisconsin Society of Professional Engineers.

It will be on May 3 and 4 in Milwaukee at the Engineers' Society of Milwaukee Building.

The two-day course, conducted by the University of Wisconsin Extension, is designed primarily to prepare engineers in training for the professional engineering examination (Exam "B") in the mechanical engineering sub-fields.

Program subjects include machine design, engineering economy, thermodynamics and heat power. Many typical exam problems will be explained and discussed. The subjects will be presented by members of the University of Wisconsin Engineering School faculty.

TEST YOURSELF - 16

Can You Succeed?

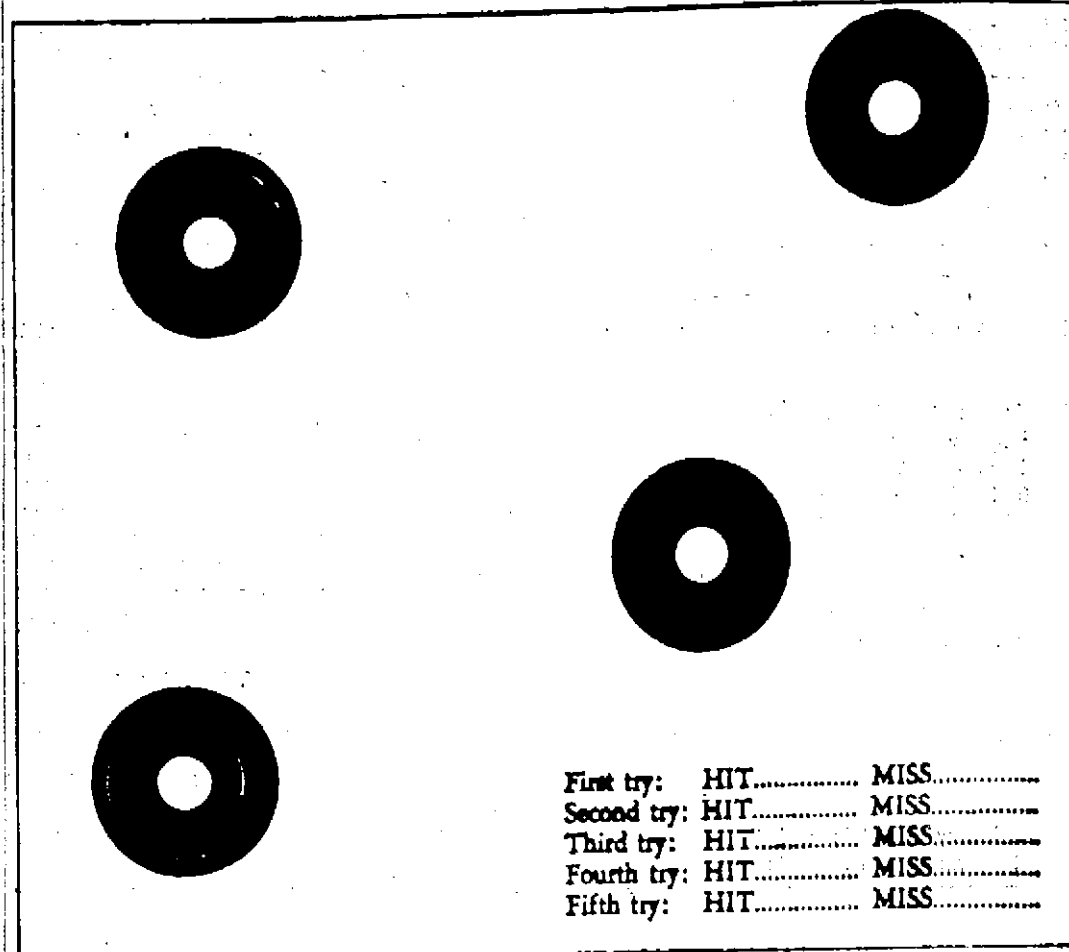

By WILLIAM BERNARD and JULIE LEOPOLD

There is one human quality important beyond all others to success in this life. Without specifying what the precious quality is, this tricky test lets you demonstrate whether or not you possess it. Be careful!

NO TIME LIMIT

DIRECTIONS — Put one hand behind your back. With a pencil in your other hand, study the diagram as long as you like. Then lift the pencil over your head to the full height of your arm, and see how many bull's-eyes you can score with the pencil-point with your eyes closed. You have 5 tries in all. Remember, the only hits which count are those landing in the white area dead-center of each target.

First try: HIT..... MISS.....
Second try: HIT..... MISS.....
Third try: HIT..... MISS.....
Fourth try: HIT..... MISS.....
Fifth try: HIT..... MISS.....

Estimates Place Number of Cuban Exile Groups at 200

Units Which Raid Red Island, Trained to Fight Total Five

BY WILLIAM L. RYAN
MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Look five Cubans in a room, give them a political problem to solve and they will emerge with five organizations to do the job.

Second of Series to the outsider wandering about Little Havana, Miami's city within a city.

It is doubtful that anyone in Miami can say how many Cuban exile organizations exist. Estimates run as high as 200 or more. They come and go in bewildering confusion. Only about 30 deserve to be called organizations at all. Each proclaims itself dedicated to the overthrow of Fidel Castro. There the unity ends and there seems not the vaguest chance they ever will be unified.

Splits Within Splits

There are military, paramilitary, political, economic, social, professional and conspiratorial organizations. There are organizations within organizations. There are splits and splits within splits. Some say just about every adult Cuban in the Miami area is a member of at least one organization.

Today, Miami's Cuban exiles are up against a crisis which compounds their confusion, and leaves them in a tumult of frustration. The United States, apparently fearing a new and dangerous confrontation with the Russians, has taken firm steps to prevent hit-and-run forays against Cuba by the militant exile groups.

In turn, this brought about a crisis of relations between Washington and the ten organizations loosely banded together in the Cuban Revolutionary Council. This is the group formed in March 1961—with U.S. sponsorship—to mount the Bay of Pigs invasion which ended in fiasco just two years ago this week.

The organizations of militants which do the raiding and train for fighting number only five, as far as can be determined. Their total membership in the Miami area may be no more than a few hundred.

Alpha 66 is headed by Antonio Veciana. It is a small group claiming direct contact with underground fighters inside Cuba. It has been involved in four actions, either by itself or working with other groups.

Alpha 66 Head
Actions were launched from bases in uninhabited Bahama islands. Exile leaders say their men killed 15, including both Russians and Cuban militiamen, in one attack. In another they shelled a Soviet cargo vessel March 18.

Alpha 66 recently joined with the Second Front of Escambray for operational purposes. The Miami leader of the Escambray group is Andres Nazario Sargent. But one element of Alpha 66 split away from it for independent operations. It now calls itself Comandos L—for libre, or free.

The military leader of Escambray Front is Commandante (Major) Eloy Gutierrez Menoyo, about 30, a Spaniard who once was a trusted Castro lieutenant. Gutierrez Menoyo was a loudly vocal anti-Yankee while he served Castro, long after the Castro revolution succeeded.

Working with the Alpha 66 group also is an organization called "The Escambray Front of the Anti-Communist Cuban Army." It is headed by Evelio Duque, 36, a veteran of Castro's revolution and later of guerrilla fighting against Castro.

D R E Group
The Revolutionary Student Directorate (DRE) is considered one of the most effective groups. Its Miami leader is Luis Fernandez Pocha. The DRE has branches in 42 of the United States, 13 Latin American countries and inside Cuba itself. Its members range in age from 16 to 29.

DRE leaders are intelligent, resourceful and courageous, but tend to lack the responsibilities which might cause older men to consider international consequences. The DRE was first to make an armed attack on Castro's Cuba. It lost one boat last August, confiscated by U.S. authorities when raiders returned after shooting up a Havana hotel where they believed Soviet technicians were staying.

Another group believed to be involved in active support of the underground in Cuba is the Junta Revolucionaria Cubana (JURE), whose Miami chief is Rogelio Cisneros. Its headquarters is in Puerto Rico. Its over-all chief is Manuel Ray, once a Castro lieutenant and a Castro Cabinet minister.

Alpha 66, the Escambray Second Front, Comandos L and the DRE were operating out of tiny Bahama islands until they were flushed out by U.S. and British authorities. They claim they now will move their operations elsewhere. But attack boats still can hide in the Bahamas.

Takes Money

Most of the militant organizations, small in themselves, have assistance from others for fund collection and other chores. The DRE, for example, probably has 800 non-combat members in the Miami area as support in depth. It takes money to buy boats and weapons, mount raiding attacks and supply guerrillas inside Cuba with equipment and funds. Weapons are easy to come by in Miami itself, for the price.

The DRE appears to have been well heeled. Its leaders say the money comes from contributions in the United States and Latin America. Other sources say the origin of the money is more mysterious.

Jose Lanuza, DRE American Affairs chief, told me he feared the United States would also place

Purchasing Workshop Set For Small Business Firms

"Increased Profits From Better Purchasing" is the title of a workshop to be conducted in Menasha by the small business management program of the University of Wisconsin extension division.

Prof. Kenneth E. Birdt of the department of commerce and coordinator for the workshop has scheduled talks by five purchasing executives.

Other Speakers

The workshop will be in the Hotel Menasha on May 2, from 8 a. m. to noon and 1:15 to 4:30 p. m. The fee is $10.

Gilbert L. Hartman, president of Milwaukee Faucets, Inc., will speak on "Organizing a Profit-

Harold J. Jungbluth of RT & F Corp., will speak on "How To Buy Effectively."

Richard Wood, Harnischfeger Corp., will head a panel of small businessmen discussing "Procedures and Paperwork."

Thomas R. Laidlaw, Inland Steel Products Co., will speak on "Follow-up and Expediting."

Arthur E. Belter, Hotpoint Division of General Electric Corp., will discuss "A Dollar Saved Is a Dollar of Profit."

All of the speakers, except Belter, come from firms that employ less than 200 persons.

All speakers are members of the Milwaukee Association of Purchasing Agents.

Former Recruiter Joins Appleton Police Force

A veteran of nine combat campaigns in World War II and Korea, Marine Gunner Sgt. Donald Wakefield, 37, began the second major career of his life Tuesday when he reported for work as a rookie patrolman with the Appleton police force.

Wakefield officially retires from the service April 30. He has completed a five-year tour of duty as Marine recruiter in Appleton and will be on leave of absence for two weeks before his retirement. He and his wife and six children live at 112 W. Wilson Ave.

Born in Sheboygan, Wakefield joined the Marine Corps immediately after completing high school in November 1942. The sergeant quit the service briefly after World War II to return to school, but rejoined the service after 80 days.

Wakefield will be one of the oldest "rookies" on the police force. He became eligible when police department regulations were changed to allow persons between the ages of 21 and 40 to join. Previously, the maximum age was 35 years.

Wakefield said he began considering a policeman's career more than a year ago when he began preparing for his military service retirement. The former recruiter is one of eight men who will begin patrolman training this week.

Police work will not be a new venture for Wakefield, who, in his military career, has served as a military policeman both overseas and in the states. He was a motorcycle policeman in Hawaii and a town patrolman in North Carolina.

During his first tour of recruiting duty in Wausau before coming to Appleton in 1958, Wakefield was an auxiliary policeman and deputy sheriff in Marathon County.

A veteran of island-hopping campaigns in Tarawa, the Philippines, and Okinawa, as well as the Inchon landing in Korea in 1950, Wakefield never has been wounded in combat. He holds the bronze star for bravery, received for combat service in the Chosin Reservoir campaign in Korea in 1950. He also participated in the liberation of Seoul. He also holds the Sygman Rhee Presidential Unit Citation.

Service Tour
Wakefield has also served in the Mediterranean, Japan, China and Australia.

Becoming a policeman upon his retirement seemed a "natural" thing to do according to the sergeant. "I think it is in keeping with my former work and in keeping with a career in public service," Wakefield said Monday.

He closed the desk for the final time in his recruiting office in the Appleton Post Office. Wakefield said he could not estimate how many young people he has aided in seeking a military career during his tours as recruiter.

Wakefield also said leaving the service after 21 years "was not the easiest decision he had to make. Well," he said looking around at a large world map showing most of the ports and bases he has served, "it's been my home. It's hard to leave. It's just that simple."

Sent to Waupun For Non-Support

Benjamin Guyette, 43, 1431 1/2 E. Wisconsin Ave., was sentenced to one to two years in the Waupun State prison after he pleaded guilty of non-support of his wife and five children.

Guyette also pleaded guilty to charges of cashing a worthless check for $10 and of drunkenness. He was arrested Sunday night by Appleton police who charged him with being drunk in a public place. He appeared Monday in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Guyette received an eight month sentence in the county jail for cashing the check and was fined $50 or 30 days on the drunken ness charge. The sentences are to run concurrently with the Waupun sentence. The prison term will be the third served by Guyette. Merton Ehrliche, city relief director, said Guyette's family has been getting relief from the City of Appleton since March 18 when Guyette left home. The non-support charge was brought against Guyette by Merton Ehrliche, city relief director.

State College Editors Will Meet at OSC

Publication Group Will Hear Newsmen At Day-Long Meeting

OSHKOSH — Some 175 Wisconsin State College students involved in publication work will receive firsthand information on how to improve their productions at the sixth annual conference of the Wisconsin College Publications Association at Oshkosh State College April 26.

John Torinus, president of the Wisconsin Daily Newspaper League and Editor of the Appleton Post-Crescent, Chandler Harris, president of the Northeastern Wisconsin Press Association and editor of the Door County Advocate, and Robert Doyle, public relations director for the board of regents of state colleges, will be featured speakers.

The conference will be divided into newspaper and yearbook sections.

Doyle and Harris will discuss newspapers from the point of view: "Better Read — And Talked About — Than Dead." for the newspaper section opening. A makeup clinic will be conducted by Prof. Lester Hawkes, University of Wisconsin School of Journalism, in the afternoon.

Yearbook staff members will receive a "Printer's View of a Yearbook" from William Castle and Vernon Gauger of Castle-Pierce Printing Co. They also will receive an artist's viewpoint from members of the college art faculty.

Torinus, who will speak at the noon luncheon, will be introduced by Gilbert Labudde, editor of the Oshkosh Daily Northwestern.

Everyone Believes His Country Is Best One in the Entire World

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Thoughtful Europeans smile complacently when they are told — and they are told very often — that the United States is the best country in the world. The reason for the smile is that the European believes that HIS country is the best in the world though he doesn't say it as often nor as vociferously.

This is true also of the Asian, of the African, of the Australian — of every people. Their country is the best in the world; there is no doubt about it.

Reduced to simple terms and shorn of the complications which make it difficult to understand, there is really only one major difference between people. It is that they are divided on the question of whose country, whose people, are the best. Fundamentally, and doused in over-simplification, this must be the cause of wars, of misunderstandings which lead to war.

English history books differ greatly from American history books on the subject of the revolutionary war. German tomes tell a vastly different story from our books on the cause of World War I and II. Mexican versions of the Alamo tend to try to refute our version of it. Every people tells their story against their own background, and the facts do not jibe.

Englishman Appalled

An Englishman once asked me why Americans celebrate the Fourth of July and I told him that it was our Independence day. "Independence from what?" he asked.

"Independence from England," I told him.

He thought it over for a little while and then, from the back ground of his own English version of history, he said, "What gall!"

But to reduce to its simplest terms, let us look at the world many thousands of years ago before nations were formed and when peoples were nothing more complicated than tribes or clans.

Our ancestors roamed the world in small bands. If they did not fight when they were opposed by other bands, then they were of their wipid out or were captured and absorbed into a superior band. The more warlike, the more fierce, the more skillful the bands, the better their chances of survival.

Mutual Enmity

It was true that every group looked upon every other group as enemies. If there were friends, they were to be found only in one's own band. If there were enemies, they were to be found only in another group — usually the nearest in geographical terms, the ones to be feared the most.

By conquest, by victorious battles, the weak tribes were wiped out or were taken into the stronger by absorption. The strong tribes grew into clans, and the clans grew into kingdoms and the kingdoms grew into nations.

It is natural that we have

Ford Agrees to Study Groups on New Contract

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co., joined General Motors Corp. in agreeing to set up joint study committees with the United Auto Workers Union to pave the way for smoother new contract bargaining a year hence.

Ford's agreement was announced in a joint statement at the end of an hour-long conference between top company and union officials. GM and the UAW reached a similar agreement Monday.

As at General Motors, the company and union set up a subcommittee to work out so-called ground rules and instructed it to make its recommendations to the full committee "at an early date."

American Motors and Chrysler Corp. are to discuss similar commitments with the union later.

No broad prebargaining exploration has been tried in the industry before.

The committee would have no authority to bargain, nor could it bind either party. All discussions would be off-the-record and nothing said could be cited in negotiations or used for propaganda purposes.

Ford Foundation Gives New York's Lincoln Center $17 Million

NEW YORK (AP) — The Ford Foundation has announced grants totaling $17,217,434 for the Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts here and its constituent organizations.

Henry T. Heald, president of the foundation, said the grants are designed to assist in completion of construction and in the expanding operations of the performing organizations moving into Lincoln Center.

The foundation granted $12.5 million to Lincoln Center in 1956 and 1957.

Faces Inquiry but Is Not Blamed for Thresher's Loss

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP)—A Navy court of inquiry has cited Lt. Cmdr. Stanley W. Hecker, skipper of the submarine escort vessel Skylark, for what it called his failure to report the last message from the ill-fated submarine Thresher "for an unreasonable length of time."

Hecker

The court on Tuesday named Hecker, 46, of Brooklyn, N.Y., a party to its investigation of the loss of the Thresher with 129 men aboard. The five-member court then recessed and announced it would resume hearings after Hecker has obtained counsel and examined evidence given thus far.

The Skylark was accompanying the nuclear submarine when it made its fatal dive.

The court said Hecker's conduct as the Skylark's commanding officer appears to be subject to inquiry, but emphasized he is not blamed for the loss of the Thresher.

The submarine sank in 8,400 feet of water about 220 miles east of Cape Cod during a deep sea test dive last Wednesday.

Navigator's Testimony

Rear Adm. Lavson P. Ramage, deputy commander of the Atlantic Fleet submarine force and the initial commander of the search effort testified Tuesday that he did not hear for a few days that Thresher had indicated the possibility of trouble.

James C. Watson, 43, Hecker's navigator on Skylark testified before the inquiry board last Saturday that the last distinguishable message from Thresher to Skylark was "Experiencing minor difficulty. Have positive up angle. Trying to blow."

The court said "trying to blow" meant Thresher was trying to clear its ballast tanks for surfacing.

Vice Adm. Bernard L. Astin, president of the inquiry board, emphasized that no charges had been placed against Hecker and that he is in no way held responsible for the loss of the Thresher.

Watson's testimony was considered by the court the most revealing thus far. He testified that the last sound he heard over the undersea telephone from the

3 Arab Nations Announce Aims Of Federation

Socialism Goal Under Western Government Plan

CAIRO (AP)—Egypt, Syria and Iraq have pledged to form a new United Arab Republic based economically on Arab socialism and politically on Western parliamentary institutions.

Announced aims are to wipe out feudalism, capitalism, reaction and imperialism, and to liberate Palestine where the Jewish state in Israel has been established.

A communique signed early today by President Gamal Abdel Nasser and 30 others from the three countries indicated the new federal union of 38 million people will be at least two years taking shape.

Plebiscite Sept. 17

A plebiscite will be held by Sept. 17 to approve a still unwritten constitution and elect a president expected to be Nasser. Then a 20-month transitional period is planned during which the president will rule with the help of the three revolutionary councils now in power.

The communique issued after 10 days of negotiations said the union will have a two-house legislature. One will be chosen according to population. In the other each state will have equal representation.

Women to Vote

The legislature will be chosen during the 20-month changeover period. Elections will be by secret ballot. Women will have the vote.

Political parties are to be welded into a single political front, apparently similar to the one-party system Nasser has created in Egypt. But the communique said the unified state will take into consideration regional circumstances.

The communique also promised guarantees of freedom of speech, press and religion, much more liberal than those currently enjoyed in the three countries. Although freedom of religion was promised, Islam will be the state religion.

Spelling out the socialist nature of the new state, the communique said it will eradicate private exploitation of capitalism and its variants, which are pushed by the motive of selfish profit.

This does not necessarily mean the nationalization of all means of production or the abolition of private property, it said.

Political parties are to be welded into a single political front, apparently similar to the one-party system Nasser has created in Egypt, but the communique said the unified state will take into consideration regional circumstances.

New Method Found to Detect Eye Disease

BETHLEHEM, Lebanon (AP)—Scientists from the Harvard University School of Public Health working in the desert of Saudi Arabia have discovered a new method for detecting trachoma, the eye disease that afflicts millions of Arabians.

The virus of the disease can be detected through a fluorescent stain that glows under violet light, the company said.

Smoke in Tunnel Perils Passengers

100 Sent to Hospitals and 100 Others Treated at Scene

NEW YORK (AP)—Hundreds of people were trampled in the night of the panic, some on the verge of suffocation. Many people began to cough when a fire sent dense smoke billowing through two passenger trains.

An estimated 600 persons were trapped on the stalled trains between stations. At least 100 were treated at the scene for smoke inhalation. Nearly 100 others were sent to hospitals for treatment. A dozen were kept in hospitals.

Fire in Motors

Police said the fire started about 3 p.m. in the motors of a work train near a station in the Ridgewood section of Brooklyn. A work train stopped immediately following were two four-car passenger trains. They stalled and their lights went out.

Acrid smoke reached the passengers.

Snowfall Is Predicted For Tonight

Everyone's been wanting precipitation, so the weatherman pointed it out. But it's not going to rain tonight, according to today's forecast. Instead, the Potomac Valley can anticipate a sharp temperature drop and snow.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said the snow could begin as early as 10 p.m. and would last 75 to 100 hours.

Accompanied by snow flurries, the snow is predicted to be 4 to 6 inches.

Appleton, Wis., and Port Jervis, N.Y., are expected to have a drop to 15 overnight and a high of 20.

Foreign Ministers to Confer on Malaysia

MANILA (AP)—Diplomats of Malaysia, Indonesia and the Philippines are to discuss over formation of the Federation of Malaysia today, ended an apparently successful meeting to pave the way for a conference of the foreign ministers in Manila before mid-May.

Malaya is scheduled to be formed Aug. 31 by Malaya, Singapore, British North Borneo, Brunei and Sarawak.

Malaya's wife, Dodie, a native of Ireland, was a resident of Britain for 17 years before she married and had asked to be allowed to take up residence in Britain.

Home Office spokesman said this was granted and in accordance with normal customs, the same privilege was extended to her husband.

Mrs. Ashkenazy told a correspondent of the Icelandic newspaper Morgunblaðit she had never liked Russia, Russian habits or their way of life.

"I have hoped from the beginning to be able to leave Russia and take my husband and child to England," she said.

Mrs. Ashkenazy said she is expecting another child. Her father, Johann Tyggvason, is an orchestra conductor who lives in London.

The pianist and his family were reported traveling incognito in northern England. The Morgunblaðit correspondent said they

Suspect Questions But No Details Given to Public

VIENNA (AP)—Erich Rajakovic, alleged collaborator of Adolf Eichmann, was taken into custody today by Austrian justice authorities.

Investigating Magistrate Kurt Forstner said Rajakovic was ordered held after questioning.

Forstner refused to disclose what Rajakovic said. He said he would have to question Rajakovic thoroughly before he can get a clear picture.

The Justice Ministry is investigating to determine whether Rajakovic aided and abetted in the murder of Dutch and Austrian Jews during World War II. No charges had been filed against him.

Lived in Milan

Rajakovic, a 42-year-old Austrian citizen who has lived in Milan since the war, was a businessman under the name of Rajak. After the Austrian government began its investigation, he went to Switzerland.

Switzerland expelled him last week and he went to Munich. He disappeared there and did not come to light again until he arrived this morning at the Vienna court building.

Interior Ministry officials said they did not know when or how Rajakovic entered Austria.

Dr. Wilhelm Harster, who German newspapers have said was Rajakovic's immediate superior during the war, stepped down from his post as an adviser to the Bavarian Interior Ministry.

The Bavarian government announced Tuesday it was investigating allegations that Harster and SS major General during the war had a hand in the deportation of 100,000 Dutch Jews to extermination camps.

Harster, 59, asked the ministry to pension him because of ill health.

After Wheeling broke the price line, the President indicated that selective price increases would be acceptable but cautioned the industry and the Steelworkers Union against action which would lead to a general increase.

Thalidomide Blamed For 16 Deformities

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sixteen babies in the United States are believed to have been deformed by thalidomide distributed by U.S. firms, the Food and Drug Administration reports.

In a final report on thalidomide, the FDA said 16 of the 25 million tablets were distributed in this country.

The FDA report given to the House Appropriations subcommittee last February and made public today was an investigation of thalidomide's use in children.

The FDA report said thalidomide was used to determine whether the drug was safe for use in children.

No Further Word From President

BY JACK LEFLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Mushrooming steel price rises spread today to Bethlehem Steel Co. and National Steel Corp., second and fifth ranking concerns.

They became the ninth and 10 companies to announce increases on selected products. The list included the industry's seven largest producers and accounted for over three-fourth of the nation's production in 1962.

Despite some variations, the Bethlehem and National markups tied to the general pattern set previously corresponding closely with those posted yesterday by U.S. Steel Corp., the No. 1 steelmaker.

Bethlehem hike. The Bethlehem increase continued to three big tonnage items, added $4 a ton to the price of hot rolled sheets and strip $5 on cold rolled sheets and $7 on galvanized sheets.

In addition to hot steel, Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., Armco Steel Corp. and Inland Steel Co. joined the parade yesterday.

Armco and Inland declined a year ago to join in across-the-board increases which collapsed.

Some industry sources gave the raises a good chance of sticking, in contrast to the effort a year ago which fell apart under pressure from President Kennedy and failure of a so-called "gentlemen's agreement."

Kennedy Watchful. As company after company announced boosts, Kennedy remained silent although he was reported keeping a close watch on the situation.

After Wheeling broke the price line, the President indicated that selective price increases would be acceptable but cautioned the industry and the Steelworkers Union against action which would lead to a general increase.

Teachers Group Wins Election In California

SANTEE SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—The giant California Teachers Association won a victory last night in a school board election of national importance.

Voters in the 12 school 7,600-student Little Lake School District dumped two board members and seated two new men.

The election was important because the California Teachers Association (CTA) had slapped sanctions on the district. That meant the CTAs wouldn't refer teachers there through its placement service.

And it told teachers placement agencies throughout the country that the Little Lake district was bad place to work.

The CTAs parent group, the National Education Association, said under way to determine whether the district was watching the situation.

Outer Space Employed in Press Session

NUTLEY, N.J. (AP)—Five New Jersey newspapermen held the first press conference through outer space today, using the communications satellite Relay 1 in a 23-minute hookup between here and Rio de Janeiro in Brazil.

While the press conference was being held, 11 Associated Press photo-reporters—showing the five men seated around a table—were sent to Rio through the satellite.

The hookup was between the ground station at the International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. laboratories here and a portable ground station operated by IT&T at its subsidiary in Rio.

In Rio, officials said the picture quality was good, though slightly dim and slightly visible white dots.

It was transmitted from the Associated Press general office in New York to the American Cable & Radio Corp. in lower Manhattan and thence to IT&T's station.

The five newspapermen who took part in the space press conference were James Hill of the Newark Star Ledger, Ben Naven of the Paterson Evening News, Joseph Grant of the Bergen Record, Dave Carlisle of the Passaic Herald News and Kenneth Gross of the Newark News.

Walter Winchell Sued by Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—Walter Winchell has been sued for the second time in 11 years by James A. Wechsler, New York Post editorial page editor. The current suit alleges that the columnist implied that Wechsler was disloyal to the United States.

Wechsler seeks $10 million in the libel suit he filed yesterday in state supreme court. The Herald Corp., which syndicates Winchell's column through a subsidiary, was named as co-defendant.

Wechsler charged that 10 items written by Winchell last year were calculated to create the impression that my repeated statement that I had resigned from the Young Communist League in 1937 was a lie.

Denies He Seeks Asylum

Russian Pianist and Wife Granted Permission to Remain in England

BY ANTHONY WHITE

LONDON (AP)—Vladimir Ashkenazy, the Soviet Union's leading young concert pianist, and his wife were hiding somewhere in England today after announcing they had left the U.S.S.R. indefinitely to live in Britain.

The 26-year-old pianist insisted he was not seeking political asylum, saying "I am a Russian and I love my country. But the impression here was that he had defected as Leningrad Ballet star Tudolf Nureyev did in Paris in 1961."

Wife Icelandic Native

Ashkenazy came to Britain on a concert tour last month and brought his wife and year-old son Vladimir. He said the Soviet government had given him permission for an indefinite stay but he turned to British authorities because he did not know when the Russian permission allowing us to stay in England might be revoked.

The Home Office said Ashkenazy's wife, Dodie, a native of Ireland, was a resident of Britain for 17 years before she married and had asked to be allowed to take up residence in Britain.

Home Office spokesman said this was granted and in accordance with normal customs, the same privilege was extended to her husband.

Mrs. Ashkenazy told a correspondent of the Icelandic newspaper Morgunblaðit she had never liked Russia, Russian habits or their way of life.

"I have hoped from the beginning to be able to leave Russia and take my husband and child to England," she said.

Mrs. Ashkenazy said she is expecting another child. Her father, Johann Tyggvason, is an orchestra conductor who lives in London.

He met his wife, who also is a pianist, when she competed in the 1958 Tchaikovsky contest. She returned to study at the Moscow Conservatory in 1960 and they were married soon after.

He toured the United States in 1958 and in 1962 winning rave notices. His recordings have been circulated widely in the West.

The pianist and his family were reported traveling incognito in northern England. The Morgunblaðit correspondent said they asked them they wanted to escape newsmen and Ashkenazy wanted to practice.

Ashkenazy's position among young Soviet pianists was underlined last year when the Soviet government picked him to enter the second Tchaikovsky competition. The first Tchaikovsky prize was won in 1958 by an American, Van Cliburn, and the Russians wanted a Russian to get it. Ashkenazy divided the first prize with John Ogden, a Briton.

Ashkenazy, who is Jewish, made his debut in Moscow at 15 placed second in the Chopin competition in Brussels, the West's top musical prize.

Believe It or Not, Forecast Says Snow

FOX CITIES — Snow flurries and colder tonight. Fair and cold Thursday Low tonight 33° High Thursday 48° Moderate northerly winds.

Appleton — Observations at 9 a.m. today. Temperatures for the 24-hour period ending at 9 a.m. high 76 low 51. Wind velocity 9 miles an hour from the west. Barometer reading: 29.28 and steady. Relative humidity 70 per cent. Dew point: 45° Temperature 60° No precipitation.

Sun sets at 6:39 p.m. Moon rises tomorrow at 2:29 a.m. Visible planets are Mercury, Mars, Saturn, Venus, and Jupiter.

The Meade Street Intersection

Let's hope the proposed relocation of Meade Street at its intersection with E. Wisconsin Avenue was not just pre-election talk on the part of some city officials.

In order to relocate the street, it will be necessary for the city to use land owned by Appleton Coated. And, the firm is planning a major expansion and will need some of the city-owned property in that area.

We are confident that city and company officials will be able to negotiate a satisfactory and fair arrangement on the exchange of properties, and the assessments to be made in the area once the Meade Street situation is corrected.

City and company engineers have been preparing data and plans for the street and plant expansion projects because one is contingent on the other. It is expected that within a month a complete "package" can be presented to the common council for its perusal.

As it now stands, the Meade Street-Wisconsin Avenue Intersection represents one of the city's major safety hazards. The sooner it is corrected the better for all concerned.

The Pope and Individual Rights

The encyclical issued by Pope John XXIII last week was addressed not only to "the faithful of the whole world" but "to all men of good will." It is not only for this reason it is worthy of consideration and study by all those who seek peace.

Pope John quotes liberally from predecessors in developing the stand on human rights and the common good. Nevertheless, the first part of the encyclical, devoted to rights, is remarkable in its firmness in outlining individual rights according to natural law. The backing of the rights of association, of worship according to one's own conscience, of private property, of economic and political status could almost have been written by a nineteenth century liberal. They form a basis for our own Declaration of Independence as well as the French Declaration of the Rights of Man.

But in developing the ideas of the common good, which had been discussed to some extent in his encyclical, Mager Et Magistra, Pope John XXIII is a long way from a laissez-faire attitude. "All efforts to promote the common good, far from endangering the eternal salvation of men, ought rather to serve to promote it." The subordination of one nation to another is deplored and laws which are contrary to God's laws, even if legislated by a majority, are not really binding upon an individual. A major duty of government involves the reconciliation and protection of individual rights and duties with the common good.

The encyclical then discusses three distinctive characteristics of our age. "First of all, the working classes have gradually gained ground in economic and public affairs. . . . They insist that they be regarded as men with a share in every sector of human society; in the social and economic sphere, in the fields of learning and culture, and in public life. Secondly, it is obvious that women are now taking part in public life. . . . Since women are becoming more conscious of their human dignity, they will not tolerate being treated as mere material instruments, but demand rights befitting a human person both in domestic and in public life. . . . with equal rights and duties (in the family) for man and woman. . . . Finally the modern world. . . has taken on an entirely new appearance in the field of social and political life. For, since all nations have either achieved or are on the way to achieving independence, there will soon no longer exist a world divided into nations that rule others and nations that are subject to others. . . . No one wants to feel subject to political powers located outside his country or ethnic group. . . . Hence racial discrimination can no longer be justified. . . . For if a man becomes conscious of his rights, he becomes equally aware of his duties. Thus he who possesses certain rights has likewise the duty to claim those rights as marks of his dignity."

In much of the message, the Pope seems to be telling the faithful and other Christians to clean house themselves. There is little reference to Communist nations—none at all in name—except in relation to the wrongness of imposing the will of one nation upon another or a particular political philosophy upon people who have not freely chosen it. While "salvation and justice are not to be found in revolution, but in evolution through concord," the encyclical reminds that "historical movements that have economic, social, cultural or political ends. . . in so far as they conform to the dictates of right reason. . . may contain elements that are positive and deserving of approval." But the encyclical, in the earlier section, firmly upholds the right of an individual to determine where he shall live, under what sort of a political system as well as what form of worship he wishes.

The encyclical minces no words in its backing of world government with an enthusiasm and a logic that must startle isolationists of any nation "Today the universal common good poses problems of world wide dimensions which cannot be adequately tackled or solved except for the efforts of public authorities endowed with a wideness of powers, structure and means of the same proportion; that is, of public authorities which are in a position to operate in an effective manner on a world wide basis. The moral order itself, therefore, demands that such a form of public authority be established. . . set up by common accord and not imposed by force. . . . It is our earnest wish that the United Nations Organization. . . in its structure and in its means — may become even more equal to the magnitude and nobility of its tasks, that the day may come when every human being will find therein an effective safeguard for the rights which derive directly from his dignity as a person and which are therefore universal, inviolable and inalienable rights."

The encyclical, "dictated by a profound aspiration. . . shared by all men of good will" and seeking the consolidation of peace in the world" is the work of a man living firmly in this century with a scholarly understanding of past centuries whether or not one believes that he is God's vicar on earth.

Expense Account Confusion Is Typical of Bureau Government

Editor, Post-Crescent:

A friend of mine in Appleton was kind enough to send on to me your editorial written on the new expense account laws.

Your editorial certainly clearly stated the problems which have developed as the result of a tendency which is all too apparent in our system of government. In spite of the intention of Congress all laws end up for administration in a regulatory body. The real difficulties arise as the heads of these regulatory bodies attempt to specify exactly how laws are to be carried out. As you know, this has led to the rise of a whole new field of law called administrative law.

In the case of the new expense account laws not even a genius could write regulations which would be culturally satisfactory. However, in this case Mr. Caplin is attempting this process with disastrous results.

What has happened is that the whole system of doing business in America is dependent upon personal contact, many of which are carried out in an expense account system. We have always believed that controlled spending, within reasonable limits, is an absolutely proper and necessary way of doing business. We do not believe that excessive, lavish or ridiculous spending is either necessary or desirable. We further believe that the American convention sales meeting and general business meeting is an inseparable part of the whole methodology of American business. They are used in the same respect that advertising is used.

Because this is true we sincerely doubt that the government will gain anything from re-directing the efforts of business along new lines. The firm's sales costs will rise as their expense account spending goes down. Thus, the net payment to

Will City Offer Services Such as Those of Yacht Club?

Editor, Post-Crescent:

You apparently have jumped on the Park Board's bandwagon for the city at the taxpayers' expense to build and operate a boat marina. Why?

Can the Park Board duplicate the services of the Yacht Club (a taxpayer organization) without the costs skyrocketing? One of these is the help and facilities for emergency repairs given to any boat regardless of where he is from. The only charge is a very small one for use of the work slip. The rest is voluntary and the Appleton Yacht Club's facilities are the best non-commercial ones in the valley.

Would free dockage be provided for visiting boats? Would somebody be there to help them with their needs such as replenishing, sometimes the use of a car, or just to answer their questions?

In an emergency involving life or death where would the police go for immediate and competent help? You don't get those kind of things without a fraternal organization.

Are we to get the same boat security which we now enjoy? My answer to all of this has to be "No." The Yacht Club is engaged on a long term expansion and improvement program based largely on financial ability. Perhaps a longer lease and planning under the direction of the Park Board is all that is needed.

You have frequently cited Lutz Park as the only waterfront park in Appleton. What about Alicia, Teulah, and Bellaire Park. Maybe the Park Board would like to give a complete accounting of the Peabody Estate money left for Bellaire Park and also why a small minority have been able to block its development. I can cite several instances of waste and several more of use for other things than it was intended.

Although I am a member of the Appleton Yacht Club my views are not necessarily the official views of the club.

Don't Forget Wilbur Renk Among Governor Candidates

Editor, Post-Crescent:

We read a good deal in your paper about the prospective candidates for governor on the 1964 Republican ticket. Why not list Wilbur Renk along with the others?

Surely he deserves consideration as much or more than any of the others listed as there is no doubt that he is the best qualified man for the job that we have had in years.

Forty years ago we knew him as an outstanding 4H Club member, twenty years ago as the state's Master Farmer, a few years ago as president of the Board of Regents of the University of Wisconsin. At the same time he has been a top businessman in the production, processing, and distribution of seed, grain, and corn.

If the truth were known, there is probably not a man that at the age of 52 years has served National Restaurant Assn., the people of the state as much as and as well as he has.

Last year his campaigning for governor proved his ability as a leader. It showed the respect and confidence the people of the state had in him. Even though he was not endorsed by his party in the primaries and was opposed by the Democrats and Socialist party, the labor leaders, and the Kennedy family, he came close to the governor's chair.

Had the state press given him the headlines and the space that was given the other candidates, there could have been a different picture in the state house today.

We have had lawyers, druggists and plumbers directing our governmental affairs for years; now that our agriculture is lagging, why wouldn't a farmer be the answer?

Yours for a change

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for April 18, 1863.

The result of the late City Election was the choice of the entire "Republican," "Union League," "dark lantern," City Ticket with the exception of Mayor and Assessor, also one Alderman in the Third Ward, (Mayor William Johnson was backed by both parties, Assessor James Gilmore and Ald. L. Randall were Democrats.)

Owing to the "botched up" Charter, passed by the Legislature at the instigation of sundry citizens without official knowledge or concurrence of the Common Council, it is a question for legal authority to determine whether we shall not have a superfluity of officers for the ensuing year.

The present Common Council has neglected and refused to award certificates of election to any person. Some think the old Board members are anxious to "hold over."

In the State the Democracy has made large gains and some losses, the latter being principally on account of the light vote. If Dixon should prove to be successful, he will owe his election to the neglect of the Democrats rather than the success of the Republicans.

In our own County, in the strongholds of the party, but half a Democratic vote was out. Kaukauna only polled 128 votes with a vote of 200; Greenville only 122 with a vote of over 225, and other towns were in the same proportion.

Here in the City, where the nest egg of Republicanism is located, a larger vote than ever before, we think, was polled. Democrats (we mean the pinch-back, one-horse kind) can appropriate the emoluments(?) of this dark day's work.

Lawyer Differs With Wyngaard on Method Of Electing Judges

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Mr. Robert C. Lovejoy of Jamesville, a distinguished lawyer and a thoughtful health or the industrial commission, regents of the university, or any other governmental agency or office?" he asks.

Perhaps not, but there is as much reason to permit people to elect their judges as there is to have them elect their sheriffs, assemblymen, congressmen, attorneys general and the long list of other public officials who rule them and whose decisions have such effect upon their daily lives that popular control is one of the democratic safeguards this state has insisted upon since its establishment.

My earnest lawyer correspondent says that once a Fond du Lac editor, skeptical of this proposal, was invited by a lawyer friend to go out on Main Street there and ask the voters what they knew about an impending election for the supreme court. The editor was astounded at the utter ignorance he discovered, so the story goes, and promptly joined the lawyer in advocating the elimination of judicial elections.

BUT . . .

This is an appealing debating device. But it is quite irrelevant. Has the editor ever ventured outside during a campaign to ask how many of his neighbors can name the candidates for state senator, or alderman, or any other office? This comes perilously close to asserting that popular government is invalid that the democratic idea is wrong, and that the people cannot be trusted to pick their own rulers. My own rule has been to avoid over-estimating the information of the electorate, but never, never to underestimate its intelligence. This used to be called the Jeffersonian idea.

Finally, Mr. Lovejoy's concern about the ignorance and indifference of the average man as surmises that he does vote. The record shows that he does not. In the last election for a state supreme court judge the vote count was around 700,000, which is about one quarter of the eligible electorate, at a generous estimate. The division was reasonably competitive. Valid issues were raised. Is Mr. Lovejoy prepared to say that there have been any significant number of errors on the part of the limited number of electors who make these decisions?

However, and alas, it has not yet won the support of any other representative group, and thus it must be identified with the lawyers' organization. And Mr. Lovejoy, sincerely interested in complete public discussion of the question as he manifestly is, will no doubt permit a reply to some of the points he has raised.

First about the competency of the electorate.

Wonder Why Little Children Lead Us?

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Some weeks ago, I wrote a little piece of fluff about the brassy father being beaten at Concentration by his five-year-old daughter. The letters began to pour in, and are still arriving, about all the fiendish little children who delight in humiliating their elders at cards, games, puzzles, and other contests of perception and memory.

Harris

The most interesting letter, however, came from a man in Florida who is a retired magician of considerable professional standing. He wrote, in part:

"When I was performing sleight-of-hand, and similar feats, it was always easy to fool the adults — in fact, the more intelligent and educated the adult, the easier he was to fool. College professors were my favorites."

"But any child under 12 is poison to a sleight-of-hand man. The child is not distracted by patter, the way an adult is. He keeps his eyes focused on the right card and the right hand, and the slightest hesitation or fumbling is immediately evident to him. Growing up seems to be largely a process of diluting our attention, and diffusing our perceptions."

As we grow up, our field of vision expands, our minds fan out (as it were), and many peripheral objects claim our attention. The quantity of our comprehension increases, but the quality goes down. We "see" what our sophistication has trained us to see, not what is really there.

This is why the intelligent and educated spectator is so easily taken in by sleight-of-hand. He has taught himself to look for subtleties, for shadings of difference, for a certain patterning of expressions and gestures and reactions.

The child, unsophisticated in this regard, looks only for the obvious — and the obvious, of course, is most hidden from sophistication. Poe's classic little tale, "The Purloined Letter," is an excellent example; a pile of letters is the first place a child would look for a hidden letter, and the last place an investigating adult would look.

We laugh at our children's simplistic solutions of war and peace, and we say that the children do not understand the complexities of the world situation. But we are the ones who are distracted by superficial factors, and it is the child who concentrates on the fact of death and the foolishness of adult conflict. What else can it mean to say that "a little child shall lead us?"

Waupaca County Board Re-Elects Its Two Top Officials

New Supervisors Seated; Group Hears Road Costs, Index Report

WAUPACA—Supv. Carl Sturm, Manawa, was re-elected chairman of the Waupaca County Board Tuesday morning during the annual organizational meeting. He was re-elected without opposition.

Supv. Kenneth Egan, Town of Lebanon, was re-elected vice chairman.

New supervisors seated included Benjamin W. Ferg, Town of Little Wolf; Emil Gehlke, Fourth Ward, New London; Henry Gipp, Embarras; Harvey Krueger, Town of Maitleson; LaVerne Nelson, Town of Farmington; Elmer Paul, First Ward, New London; Leo Richter, Third Ward, Weyauwega; and Albert Sether, Town of Wyoming.

Robert Backer, county clerk, read a letter from State Sen. Gerald Lorge, Bear Creek, stating he would do everything in his power to defeat a suggestion by Gov. John Reynolds to abolish local governmental units. "I will do everything within my means to defeat it," the letter stated. The board at its last meeting opposed the suggestion.

Road Aids
A letter from the State Highway Commission stated Waupaca's share of state aids for state roads for 1964 is estimated at $105,000 which will be spent on the U. S. 10 beltline around Waupaca. Fred Grunwald, county highway commissioner, said the beltline may be started next spring. He said the state is acquiring appraisals and the rights-of-way this year.

Otto Neumann, Gillett, joint county school superintendent, notified the board as to the division of the assets of the local county school superintendent's office. The letter stated the local county office was closed March 29.

Backer told the board the county sent $3,600 as its share to operate the joint county superintendent's office in Gillett. He said sufficient money was raised by areas in the county to pay the county's share next year as well.

Chairman Sturm said Supv.

John Dretke, Supv. Harold Clark and Supv. William Kramer Sr., are members of the joint county's education committee, representing the county in administration of the joint superintendent's office.

Chairman Sturm appointed Dretke, Otto Kroeger, Edwin Sader, Johnny Hansen, Oscar Severson and Woodrow Smith to the committee on committees for the appointment of the board's standing committees.

Opposes Index
Supv. Smith, Clintonville, chairman of the finance committee, advised the board he does not favor acquisition of a tract index in the county. He said he visited Shawano and Appleton and saw both counties operate their indexes. He said it costs Shawano County about $9,000 per year and Outagamie County earns about $15,000 above expenses.

Supv. Smith suggested the cost of establishing a tract index in Waupaca County would make it prohibitive.

The board voted to transfer $2,500 from the general fund. It includes $40 for the clerk's office to pay for a duplicating machine, $50 for the county farm agent for files, and $2,500 to the public property committee to pay for the cleaning of the outside walls of the courthouse.

Backer reported the courthouse project was contracted for $8,375, which includes sandblasting, removal of broken bricks, removal and replacing mortar and repainting windows in addition to applying a seal coating.

Some of the public property committee funds will be used to repair the boilers in the courthouse.

VFW Auxiliary to Meet

NEW LONDON — A social meeting of the VFW Auxiliary will be held at the home of Mrs. Clyde Eckhart, 1303 Lawrence St., at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

One New Alderman Seated at New London

New Council President, Matt Burton, Runs Meeting in Absence of Mayor

NEW LONDON — A new councilman took office and new committees for the coming year were named at Tuesday night's city council meeting.

Ald. Byron Christian, (5th) replaced Lansing McPaul on the council. McPaul, who has served on the council for the past six years did not seek re-election in the spring election.

Ald. Matt Burton (5th) was elected president of the council for one year.

Burton presided over the meeting in the absence of Mayor Wilmer Schuler, who was unable to attend.

New standing committees are Jerome Zaug, chairman, Gilbert Kroll and Avolt Tohm, finance committee; Burton, chairman, Kroll and Oscar Zuege, board of public works; Mrs. Grace Stern, chairman, Fred Noack and Christian, board of health and Richard Berglund, chairman, Noack and Stern, park and recreation committee; Lyman Johnson and Larry Graves were the citizens named to the park and recreation committee.

Other Committees
Other standing committees are Noack, chairman, Tohm and Berglund, traffic and safety committee; Zaug, chairman, Tohm and Berglund, license committee; Kroll, chairman, Burton and Stern, industrial committee; Johnson, chairman, Christian and Zaug, judicial committee; Zuege, chairman, Christian, and Johnson, relief committee.

Named to the light committee were Burton, Police Chief Jack Algiers and L. K. Thomas, utility manager.

Henry Miles was renamed to the police and fire commission for a five year term. William Freidinger and Roy Queman were renamed to three year terms on the planning commission. Jerome Zaug was the councilman chosen by the council to serve on the planning commission for a one year term.

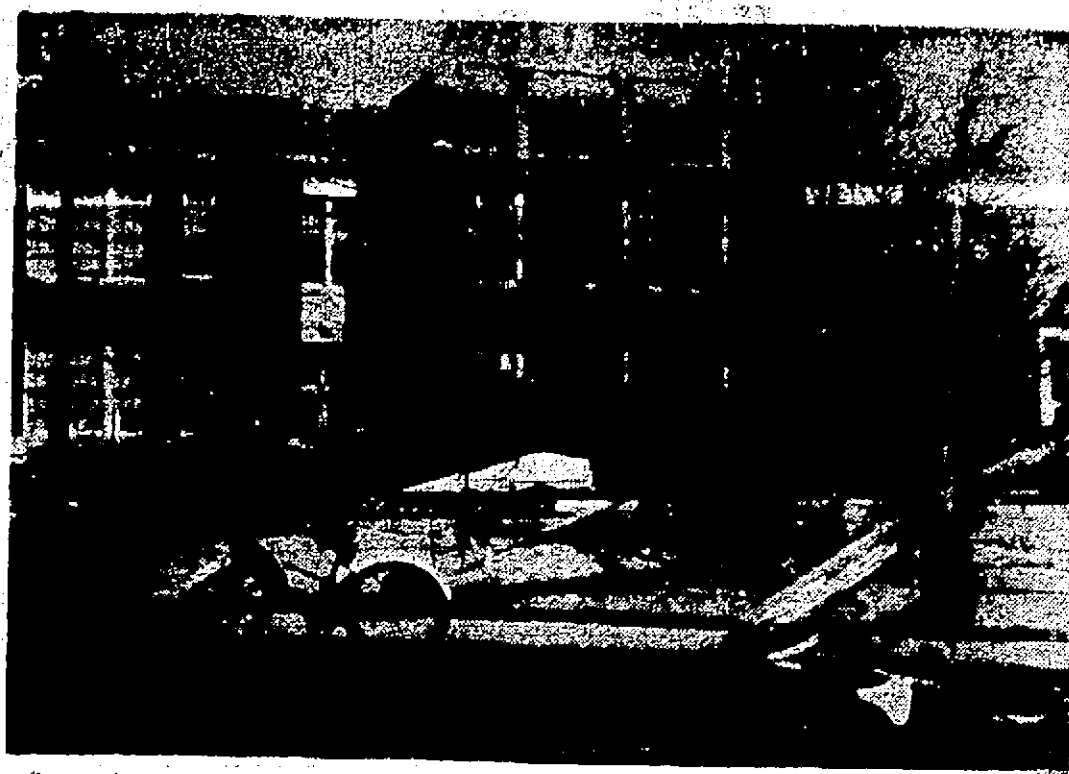

Board of Appeals
Robert Vanderveer and Jay Mattick were renamed to three year terms on the board of appeals and Oscar Schneider was named to a one year term as weed commissioner.

Arthur Gesse was renamed superintendent of the street department.

On the council confirmation of the board of public works all council members voted in favor of the committee with the exception of Alderman Zuege, who voted no.

The official newspaper also was named, and the First State Bank was named official depository.

The rules of council were adopted.

L. H. Huibregtse Renamed Calumet Board Chairman

Oscar Kossman Vice Chairman; Both Re-Elected to Eighth Term

CHILTON — Calumet County's Greve, Raymond Rusch, Joseph supervisors Tuesday re-elected L. H. Huibregtse and Oscar Kossman to their eighth consecutive terms as Calumet County Board chairman and vice chairman, respectively.

Their selection opened the board's organizational activities. Huibregtse, Brillion, has been a county supervisor for the past 19 years. In accepting the appointment for another year, Huibregtse said "I certainly appreciate your confidence in me." He also lauded the board for its teamwork.

Kossman, Town of Chilton representative for the past 18 years, echoed Huibregtse's remarks when he accepted the vice chairmanship. The two senior supervisors took over the board's top two posts in 1956. They have completed seven years.

All members of the three elected committees were re-elected. Joseph B. Schneider is again chairman of the highway committee with John B. Dierich and Wilmer Struening as committee men.

Salary Committee
The salary committee will again be comprised of George A. Schwalbach Jr., chairman; Clem Ecker, Henry J. Steenport, Alfred J. Burich and Aloyce Butler.

Kossman will again head the agricultural committee. Other elected members are Raymond Rusch and Carl Peik, Huibregtse, automatically becomes a member under the statutes because of his board chairmanship and F. J. Fagan, a n. superintendent of schools, is the committee's secretary under the statutes.

Supervisors authorized Huibregtse to appoint standing committees for the 1963-64 year.

His appointments included Town of Weyauwega and Town of Farmington.

Bridge Requests Heard by Board

WAUPACA — Three petitions for emergency bridge aid for the construction of new bridges were referred to the county highway committee Tuesday morning by the Waupaca County Board.

The petitions asked that the county approve the bridges and pay half the cost of construction. The bridges were requested for Town of Weyauwega and Town of Farmington.

Industrial development, Alfred Burich, Arno Krupp and Mike Kloeppel; Civil Defense, L. H. Huibregtse, Oscar Schaub, G. J. Hipke and Herman Greve; Calumet Homestead, G. J. Hipke, L. H. Huibregtse and Zeno Endries, and rural numbering, Oscar Kossman, Raymond Rusch and Arno Krupp.

In all the committees the first named member is chairman.

In other organizational business, the county board rules were adopted unchanged from those which governed the board a year ago and board members and county officers were authorized to attend their respective conventions.

Sugar Bush School Bids To be Opened

NEW LONDON — Bids for the Sugar Bush elementary school will be opened tonight at Washington High School. The opening of the bids will be in the school library at a p.m.

Jan. 22 voters of the New London Unified School District voted to bond the district up to $360,000 for construction of the north district Sugar Bush School.

The bids will be for a 15-room school with alternates for a nine-room and a 11-room school.

The school will be constructed on a 12 acre site east of Sugar Bush.

Before the opening of the bids, members of the board of education will meet at 7:30 p.m. to award contracts for the purchase of new bus chassis. Board members also will decide whether to purchase two or three new chassis. At a recent meeting the board okayed the purchase of bus bodies.

Enthusiasm Strong Among Youths on Calumet Student Government Day

Event Ends Much Campaigning For Representatives of 8 Schools

CHILTON — Enthusiasm ran high for high school students and Calumet County officials alike here Tuesday, making the first annual Calumet County Student Government Day an overwhelming success.

The event, first of its kind in county history, climaxed weeks of political campaigning and school elections for the eight students picked by their classmates to represent each of the five county high schools.

For the sponsoring organization, the Calumet County American Legion Council, the planning and preparation was even more exhaustive but well worth it, according to Lloyd Habermann, Brillion, county Legion commander. "The enthusiasm shown by the students indicated that the program was a complete success," Habermann said.

Attendance by the 40 high school students was perfect. Each officer was present and each school delegation was accompanied by a faculty advisor.

Observe Operations
After registration from 9:30 to 10 a.m., the students were divided into groups of five determined by the office to which they were elected. They then spent some time in the actual county government office and observed its duties and workings. Other county offices were also toured by the students.

The entire group of students and teachers, Calumet County supervisors and county officers were served lunch by the Chilton Legion Auxiliary at the city hall. In the afternoon the students sat in on a portion of the Calumet County Board session.

All of the county officers indicated that they were impressed with the keen interest the students showed in the working of local government. "Questions were frequent and intelligent," said Merlin Zahn, treasurer. "The program was a complete success," he added.

"I only wish we had been given more time to spend with the youngsters," Coroner Leroy Hughes said. Many county officers had been sceptical beforehand, wondering if they would be able to hold the students' interest but found it to be no problem.

'I'd Come Back'

Said a New Holstein student, "I'd come back again, it was that interesting." All of them interviewed felt they learned a great deal about government at the "grass roots" during the program.

Local American Legion Commanders worked with Habermann and the county council on the project. Each local post provided transportation and sponsored the meals for their respective delegations.

Local commanders are Clayton Arndt, Brillion; Gary Kapitze, Hilbert; Chris Christopherson, Chilton; Robert Daul, Stockbridge, and Paul Spletter Sr., New Holstein.

Delegations from the various schools included: Brillion — Joel Strodel, county clerk; Barbara Eichhorst, treasurer; Grace Stecker, register of deeds; Ken Puser, clerk of circuit court; Dick Eichhorst, sheriff; Gary Koffarnus, coronor; Don Gotter, district attorney; Jay Froh, surveyor, and Richard Sheahan, faculty advisor.

Hilbert Youths
Hilbert — Mike Weinreis, county clerk; Patricia Dix, treasurer; Mary Kay Rossmeier, register of deeds; Larry Pruess, clerk of circuit court; Neil Ott, sheriff; Roger Schneider, coronor; John Anheier, district attorney; Judy Zitzelsberger, surveyor, and Robert Sutter, faculty advisor.

Chilton — Gretchen Schmieder, county clerk; Nancy Plappert, treasurer; Adella Mayers, register of deeds; Linda Gordon, clerk of circuit court; Ann Hertel, sheriff; Karen Hackbart, coronor; Gary Lisowe, district attorney; Arlene Koehler, surveyor, and Gordon Schumacher, faculty advisor.

Tree Branch Misses Hitting School Pupils

Power Line and Telephone Cables at Waupaca Damaged

WAUPACA — A number of small children escaped injury by a matter of minutes Tuesday noon when a large branch broke off a tree at School and Fifth Streets.

Mrs. Jerome Telfer, street crossing guard for the children, said the branch was blown down about 12:35 p.m. when the grade school children had already returned to school.

Mrs. Telfer was standing within 10 feet of the tree when she heard it crack and looked up as the branch fell across Fifth Street.

The branch struck a secondary electric wire and two major telephone cables. The electric line was broken, disrupting service for about two hours before it was repaired by Wisconsin Public Service crews.

No Major Break
There was no major break in the telephone service, although the guide cables were broken. The telephone wires were not separated.

When the power line snapped, Mrs. Telfer ran into her house, which is located at the intersection and summoned her husband, who is a Public Service lineman. The power line arched against the telephone cables and the pavement.

About one-third of the tree broke off. Lirenem said the inside of the tree was rotting.

Township Boating Problems Not Wanted By County Board

WAUPACA — The Waupaca County Board Tuesday, after about five years of controversy on the Chain O'Lakes boating regulations, decided boating problems within other townships are a matter for the town boards and not the county boards.

Supv. Arnold Dretke, Town of Union, said since the regulations have been established on the Chain O'Lakes, boaters are coming to some of the smaller lakes in his township and are "cutting up."

Supv. Waldemar Johnson, Waupaca, told Supv. Dretke township boards are in charge of establishing speed laws and other regulations on the lakes within their townships.

Having Beer With Minors Nets Fine For Ogdensburg Youth

WAUPACA — Allen Boutwell Jr., 18, route 2, Ogdensburg, was fined $50 for possession of beer in a car with minors and $25 for littering the highway Tuesday by Municipal Justice George Whalen.

Boutwell, who pleaded guilty to both charges, was committed to the county jail until he makes arrangements to pay the fines.

County policeman, John Bonnell, arrested Boutwell April 10 in the Town of Lind while he was parked on a side road in his car. Boutwell denied having beer in the car, Bonnell testified, but when Bonnell opened the door of the car two full bottles of beer fell out and another bottle, half-full, was found in the car. There also were two empty beer bottles in the ditch.

There were two girls with Boutwell, Bonnell said. Their ages are 15 and 16 years old.

State Okays New London Traffic Light

NEW LONDON — The state highway department has okayed a traffic light for the intersection of South Pearl Street and Wolf River Avenue, it was announced at the city council Tuesday night.

It is up to the city to install the light. An estimated cost of $4,000 for the material alone was given at Monday night's committee meeting. This does not include the cost of labor. Tuesday night the city council authorized the traffic and safety committee to obtain bids for a light.

The traffic light on the intersection was asked because the city had made Wolf River Avenue a truck route. Because of the heavy traffic on U.S. 45 it applied chiefly to a 6.36 mile stretch of U.S. 10 from a point west of Sherwood to Appleton.

Also given unanimous approval was a resolution asking for a cemetery plot addition for Sacred Heart Congregation, Sherwood.

Speed Fines for 3 Total $215 at Calumet Court

CHILTON — Fines totaling $215 were assessed against three young motorists in Calumet County Court here this week for speeding and reckless driving offenses.

Judge D. H. Sebora assessed a $100 fine against Edward J. Stadler, 20, 714 E. Harrison St., Appleton. Stadler was arrested by State Police for driving 30 miles per hour over the speed zone. He was clocked at 60 m.p.h. in a 30 m.p.h. zone at the Murray Street junction near Appleton.

Fined $65 for a similar violation at the same location was Michael L. Fischer, 24, 1502 N. Morrison St., Appleton. He was also arrested by State police.

Glenroy Heimermann, 23, route Lisowe, was fined $50 by Judge Sebora after he admitted reckless driving. Heimermann was arrested by Chilton police as a result of a driving incident on E. Main Street here April 8.

Will Check Building Near Lake

CHILTON — The Calumet County Board of Supervisors Tuesday gave the final stamp of approval necessary to place the Town of Stockbridge's new zoning ordinance into effect.

Before gaining unanimous board approval, the measure had to hurdle one minor objection. George Hostetter, Stockbridge village representative, momentarily blocked passage of the approval referendum at Tuesday's session when he asked for more time to become acquainted with all of the provisions of the ordinance drafted by the neighboring municipality.

"I don't think we should move too quickly," he said, but withdrew his objection when Clem Ecker re-emphasized the need for immediate action if the law is to do any service to the township this year.

One objection would have meant the resolution would have had to lay over until the board's next meeting in June.

When introducing the measure, Ecker asked that the rules be waived as it requested immediate action. He explained that the customary layover would mean that the ordinance would not become effective until mid-June, too late to regulate proposed building.

Regulate Building
Although the entire town will be regulated by the zoning ordinance, its chief purpose is to regulate building and setback lines along the Lake Winnebago shore area. The town's entire west boundary fronts on the lake. The new law serves to protect the property values.

The way has been cleared for county board approval, Ecker explained. It has passed the test of a referendum election and has been approved by the town board. After Hostetter withdrew his objection, the measure received unanimous approval.

A second resolution was passed without discussion. It accepted the state trunk highway allotment. Designated for 1964, the allotment will provide $58,000 in new city funds and $276,000 in unused balance from previous years, to be applied chiefly to a 6.36 mile stretch of U.S. 10 from a point west of Sherwood to Appleton.

Also given unanimous approval was a resolution asking for a cemetery plot addition for Sacred Heart Congregation, Sherwood.

Head-on Crash On State 57 Near Chilton

Both Drivers Unhurt; Accident Involving Auto, Truck Reported

CHILTON — A late model foreign sports car was demolished as a result of a head-on collision, but its driver escaped injury in one of two accidents investigated Monday by Calumet County police.

The collision occurred on State 57 a mile south of here about 2:45 a.m. Monday. Involved were cars driven by Don W. Hoffmann, 29, 210 N. Madison St., Chilton, and Michael R. Maurer, 18, Kiel. Hoffmann was northbound and Maurer, driver of the sports car, was traveling south, police said. Both drivers accused the other of crossing the highway centerline but the police report indicated the point of impact in Hoffmann's lane.

The Maurer car spun off into a ditch after the collision. His car was wrecked beyond repair and the Hoffmann car was badly damaged.

Truck-Car Crash
State 114 about three miles west of Sherwood was the setting of an accident involving a car driven by Frank Pilling, 71, Sheboygan, and a truck operated by Dalhard Frels, 35, Kiel, about 4:15 p.m. Monday.

Pilling told police that he interpreted the signal given by a school bus ahead of him as one indicating that the bus was about to stop and discharge passengers. He therefore stopped his car in his lane and the vehicle was struck from behind by the Frels truck.

Damage was estimated at $400. The school bus, driven by John Van Treack, 61, 505 W. Sixth St., Kaukauna, made a left turn and was not involved directly in the mishap. Both drivers escaped injury.

Waupaca Sets Spelling Bee

School Champion
Will be Named
Thursday Night

WAUPACA — The champion speller of the Waupaca Unified School District will be determined during the annual all-school spelling bee Tuesday night at Central Grade School, according to William Williams, grade school principal.

The eliminations will start at 7:30 p.m. Thursday for the all-school title. Elimination contests have been conducted in the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades in all of the schools of the district.

The winner of the all-school contest will be entered in the state spelling contest May 4 in Madison. The contest is sponsored by the Wisconsin State Journal, Madison.

Williams invited students and parents to attend the spelling bee. Competing for honors will be Gloria Paulson and Kristine Hendrickson, eighth grade; Linda Sundby and Tom Cook, seventh grade; Lana Wacko, Gary Donaldson and Pamela Stiebs, sixth grade; Lloyd Larson, fifth grade; Central School, Janet Grant and Robert Angerick, Badger School, Craig Quimby, Sheridan, and Valerie Drayna, Gards Corners.

Arthur Kaphingst Chief Of Clintonville Council

New Members Sworn in, Committees
Named at Reorganizational Meeting

CLINTONVILLE — Ald. Arthur Kaphingst was elected president of the common council at the organizational meeting Tuesday night at city hall. He received seven votes to three for Ald. Ed Wanta.

The five aldermen elected April 2 were sworn in by City Clerk Lloyd Eggleston. They were Ald. Evan Hedtke, Arthur Kaphingst, and Clarence Smith of the First, Second and Third Wards, respectively, all re-elected, and new members, Donald Sawall, Fourth Ward, and Ed Mitchell, Fifth Ward.

Mitchell was elected chairman of the Memorial Day program arrangements. The council authorized an amount not to exceed $275 for the program.

Pending possible revision of rules of order, Mayor Frank Sinkewicz deferred some committee appointments.

Others made by Mayor Sinkewicz were to the finance committee, Ald. Eugene Dexter, chairman, Ald. Fred Hangartner and Ald. Ed Wanta, board of public works, Ald. Mrs. Peter Oberhauser was re-elected president, and elected were Mrs. Norman Epping, vice president, Mrs. Harry Owen, secretary, Mrs. Larry Wendt, treasurer, Mrs. Gary Rudolph, director, and Mrs. Roman Ritchie, state director.

Mrs. LaBeau Watson, Green Bay, interior decorator for the H. C. Prange Co., spoke on interior decorating.

Shiocton Board Purchases School Desks and Chairs

SHIOCTON — Board of Education members Monday night approved the purchase of 150 student desks and chairs, 10 teachers' desks and 10 teachers' chairs.

The desks and chairs will be used in the new school addition nearing completion.

Board members also met with a representative of a school maintenance supply firm who explained his products.

Supt. of Schools Maivin Oby reported to the board laying of tile in the new elementary addition is complete as well as the installation of chalk boards and bulletin boards. In the high school, addition workmen now are installing terrazzo floors.

Oby also reported 28 of 33 teachers have signed and returned their teaching contracts for the 1963-64 school year. Five resignations were received from the elementary school, he said. All of these vacancies have been filled except for a kindergarten teacher.

Black Creek Sets Library Open House

Village Opening
New Facility for Use April 30

BLACK CREEK — The library board will stage an open house at the newly completed public library from 7 to 9 p.m. April 23. Theme of the program is "Read: The Fifth Freedom... Enjoy It."

Serving as hostesses will be members of the library board, Mrs. Arthur DeMere, president, Mrs. Alfred Piehl, vice president, Mrs. R. H. Droeger, secretary-treasurer, Mrs. C. J. Burdick and Mrs. Melvin Grancorbits.

Borrowers will be allowed to register but no books will be issued until April 30 when the library will be open from 7 to 8 p.m. Miss Geraldine Nelson will serve as librarian.

Library records in the village date back to Nov. 3, 1908, when Mrs. Frank Mühbauer was librarian. Mrs. A. L. Burdick and Miss Rena Cornelius organized the library. Money was raised by various community activities. The village board, in 1957, donated $50. The village appropriated $500 in 1962 and Outagamie County, $500.

Mrs. Burdick, Mrs. DeMere and Mrs. Piehl have served the library board for 20 years and Mrs. Droeger for 27 years.

The Legion auxiliary presented an American flag and an electric clock to the library.

Boys Playing With Matches Start Trees Afire at Iola

IOLA — Three teen-age boys playing with matches started a fire Thursday afternoon that destroyed 300 Norway pine, white pine, ash and spruce trees, 16 to 20 years old, and 1,300 small trees.

The trees were on the property of Mrs. Pearl Mace. The youths said they were flicking matches at each other while walking across a field near the pine area. When one of the matches ignited some tall grass, the youths tried to extinguish the blaze, but it went out of control. They said they became frightened and left the fire without reporting it.

The fire department received a call at 3:25 p.m. and got the blaze under control within a few minutes.

The youths agreed to plant seedling trees to replace those lost. The fire department said this is the fifth grass fire reported since April 1, when burning permits first became effective.

Royalton Grange Meeting at Hall

ROYALTON — The Community Grange will meet this evening at the hall instead of in the homes of members as was done in winter.

New London Rotary Club Told Importance of Civil Defense

NEW LONDON — Lt. Col. Carroll Newstrom, instructor in air science at Lawrence College spoke to the Rotary club on the need of a civil defense program.

Speaking from the standpoint of a parent concerned with the safety of his children in case of an attack, Col. Newstrom said it takes only 15 minutes for a missile fired from a foreign land to reach any part of the U.S. "In this 15 minutes we cannot prepare for an attack, therefore it is important to be prepared ahead of time," he said.

Any city that is interested in the community and concerned with saving lives should have an adequate civil defense program. "In order that enough people can recover and fight back it is necessary to have good protection in the event of an attack," he added.

The New London club will be one of three clubs that will assist the Appleton Rotary club in hosting the Rotary International district conference of district 622 April 26, 27 and 28 at Appleton. The three assisting clubs will be New London, Bonduel and Kaukauna.

Austin Christ, secretary of the New London club, said reservations are being taken from local members who plan on attending the conference. Deadline for reservations is April 22, he added.

umet County Superintendent of Schools F. J. Flanagan briefly outlined several new proposals currently being considered by the legislature.

The one Flanagan said has been received most favorably was a bill which would establish some 20 to 30 service areas throughout the state. Each area would have an administrator with an advisory board comprised of one member from each school board within the area—not to exceed 12 members, however.

The administrator would have the power to contract for special services, especially in the fields where part-time or highly specialized teachers were needed.

He cited as examples speech therapists, art instructors and guidance specialists—services not generally found on the faculties of smaller schools.

The program would cost an estimated $750,000 on the state level, but would not require "new" tax money. Its support would come from revisions along other phases of the educational program, Flanagan said.

State Proposal

Wilmer Struening, Brillion Town, and Calumet County's assemblyman with a seat on the education committee, then explained a bill he has sponsored which would discontinue some 26 remaining county superintendent offices and place all authority within the power of the superintendent of the operating high school districts.

The plan would save the taxpayers the extra cost of the service areas, Struening said.

Flanagan countered with the question that "possibly the local units could get by with a cheaper operation, but will they be providing the best in opportunities for the children?"

An attempt to have the PBX telephone switchboard removed from office of the public health nurse was defeated when the board overrode a health committee recommendation. The health committee headed by Oscar Schaub, went on record favoring removal of the switchboard. They claimed it was a nuisance to the office staff.

The board ruled, however, that the board will stay put until the city has conversion to dial phones.

Oconto County Man, Charged in Killing, To Get Examination

OCONTO — Pleas of innocent and innocent by reason of insanity were entered today by Leonard Webb, accused of first degree murder in the 1958 death of a Lena bartender.

Webb, through his attorney, James Plier, appeared before Circuit Court Judge Arold Murphy in Oconto County courthouse this morning.

Judge Murphy ordered Webb committed to Winnebago State Hospital for observation and psychiatric examination for 30 days.

Webb confessed on March 7 in Phoenix, Ariz., that he killed Willard Coompan in a wooded area near Oconto Falls April 20, 1958. After being returned to Oconto, Webb said he invented the story of the shooting just to get a "free ride back to Wisconsin."

Church Members to Hear Missionary Talk

ROYALTON — Mrs. Grace Hansen, a missionary representative, will speak April 26 at an evening service in the Royalton Congregational Church.

She will discuss the Delmo missionary project in Lilburn, Mo., to which the Royalton church has contributed for a number of years.

Report Cabin Entered

Officials of the Mueller Lumber Co., 2200 W. Wisconsin Ave. reported to the Outagamie County Sheriff's Department that a cabin owned by the company on Shaky Lake Road east of County Trunk D was broken into.

Sheriff investigators are conducting an investigation.

Street Reconstruction

County Trunk Z in Kimberly to Close

KIMBERLY — County Trunk Z, from Railroad Street to the West village limits, will be closed for about three months starting Thursday to allow reconstruction of the street. Temporary by-passes have been arranged to handle traffic.

Traffic to Appleton will be detoured around Kimberly south on County Trunk N to County Trunk KK and then west to Appleton.

Parcels north of the river desiring to visit Appleton are advised to use County Trunk OO or State Highway 86. Access to Sunset Point Park will be open from Helen and Third Streets.

Board Clerk to Resign May 30 At Weyauwega

Lorenz to Keep School Bus Driving Job; 23 Teachers to Return

WEYAUWEGA — Paul Lorenz, clerk of the Weyauwega elementary school board of education notified the board Monday night that he will resign, effective May 30.

Lorenz, who is serving his second three-year term on the board is also an elementary school bus driver and because of state statutes, he said, he is not permitted to serve on the board and earn over $1,000 in wages from the school district during the year.

He set May 30 as the date of his resignation because at that time he will be nearing the limit in the amount of money he can earn from the school district.

After May 30 the board will have 10 days to appoint a new member.

Music Program

In other business, the board approved a request that the elementary school music department participate in the high school music program. The instrumental and vocal program will be under the direction of Robert Koepsel, high school band director.

If James Ramsdell, superintendent of both the elementary and high school reported to the board that all eight faculty members of the elementary school have signed and returned their teaching contracts for the 1963-64 school year.

Ramsdell also said that two members of the high school faculty have resigned. They are Miss Margaret Steckbauer, librarian, and Miss Mary Maslowski, physical education teacher. Contracts of the remaining 15 high school teachers have already been returned, he said.

Sheriff to Speak At Sodality Meeting

WAUPACA — Sheriff Loran Frazier will speak on "Youth and the Automobile" during a meeting of the Sodality at 8 p.m. Thursday at the St. Mary Magdalene Catholic Church parlors.

Mrs. Raymond Warty is April chairman and Mrs. William Olson is program chairman.

Pays Traffic Fine

CLINTONVILLE — Arnold M. Clausen, 40, route 1, Bear Creek, was fined $30 Monday by Municipal Justice Nathan Wiese after being arrested Sunday by Clintonville police on charges of passing at an intersection and driving 40 miles per hour in a 25 miles per hour zone.

Murder-Suicide Victims Found Near Suring

Post-Crescent News Service

SURING — The bodies of an Oconto County man and woman were found outside a cottage at Crooked Lake, seven miles east of Mountain by a neighbor Monday morning.

Oconto County authorities believe Kenneth Mikkelsen, 52, committed suicide after slaying Miss Joan Czarnecki, 23, at a cottage owned by Miss Czarnecki's mother and occupied by Mikkelsen.

The bodies were discovered at 8 a.m. today by Harry Mulloy, Green Bay, who owns a neighboring cottage.

Mulloy said that the deaths apparently occurred around 7:30 p.m. Monday. He said that it was about that time he had heard a shot.

A short time later Mikkelsen appeared in Mulloy's yard and acted rather strangely, police said. Mulloy said he asked "what's the matter with you? are you drunk?" He said Mikkelsen "mumbled something" and then went away. A short time later, Mulloy said, he heard another shot but didn't investigate because gunshots in that neighborhood are common.

Mulloy said he was raking leaves this morning when he discovered the bodies lying outside the cabin that had been occupied by Mikkelsen for about a year.

The attractive woman was dressed in blue jeans and a man's shirt. Mikkelsen was lying a short distance away with a .12 gauge shotgun nearby. Miss Czarnecki had been shot in the left side of her chest and Mikkelsen was shot in the center of the chest.

Plan Traffic Death Inquest

Seek Identity of Driver Who Hit Victim, Left Scene

Four witnesses will be called to relate events leading to the automobile fatality of Theodore W. Lathrop, 23, route 2, Hortonville, who died March 17 on U.S. 45 near Hortonville. The four will testify at a coroner's inquest Thursday at 7:15 p.m. at the Outagamie County courthouse.

Lathrop was thrown from his car after a two-car collision, then was struck by two other cars as he attempted to crawl off the roadway to safety. One of the cars which struck the man did not stop after the accident and the driver is unidentified.

30-Day Exam Ordered for Accused Slayer

SHAWANO — Municipal Judge R. H. Fischer said Monday morning that he would commit Milton Habek, 42, Shawano County farmer accused of slaying his wife and mother-in-law, to Central State Hospital at Waupun for a 30-day examination.

Habek, through his attorney, Ovid Strossenreuther, Shawano, had entered pleas of innocent and innocent by reasons of insanity when arraigned before Judge Fischer last week.

Habek confessed the double shooting of his wife of less than six months, Deloris, 34, and her mother, Matilda Meyer, 63, in the home of Mrs. Habek's grandmother April 7.

He has six children by a former marriage and a month old daughter from the marriage to Deloris.

Dismiss Action Against Angler

WAUPACA — August Fern, 77, Oneida, was found innocent Tuesday of possession of illegal sturgeon. His trial was before Municipal Justice George Whalen.

Earl Kester, a forestry aide of the conservation department, said he saw Fern catch a sturgeon April 2 in the Town of Fremont. He said Fern put the fish in his boat and disappeared around a bend in the river.

New London's Merchants to Start Practice

NEW LONDON — The New London Merchants baseball team will start practice Sunday afternoon at Hatten Memorial Park and open their season with a game May 9. Schedules for the BABA are still incomplete and the Merchants' first opponent is still unknown.

At a meeting held April 12, Bob Kroll was elected manager of the team for the 1963 season. Other officers elected at the meeting were: Clair Bachman, team president; Hilbert Wilde, secretary and Mike Justinger, business manager.

Last year the Merchants won the championship of the Southern division of the BABA and were the runners-up for the league grand championship.

Navarino Man Hurt In Farm Accident

NAVARINO — Carl Ashauer had a narrow escape while driving a tractor into a shed at the Carlton Schwandt farm over the weekend. Ashauer ducked his head the wrong way when he was entering the shed and wedged his head between the shed and the steering wheel of the tractor.

He stopped the vehicle immediately and his wife took him to a Clintonville physician, who closed a cut requiring 14 stitches.

School Registration Set at Clintonville

CLINTONVILLE — Registration for pupils who will enter grade one in September will be at St. Rose School office after all the masses Sunday. Each applicant, according to the Green Bay diocesan school regulations, must be six years of age by Oct. 1.

Children having brothers or sisters in school need not register Sunday. Other provisions will be made for them.

Steiger Officially in Race For State GOP Chairman

Jasper Won't Run; Peterson of Appleton Opposes Oshkosh Man

BY ALLAN ERVALL
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

FOND DU LAC—Two hats and a spring bonnet were tossed into the political ring here Tuesday night as Sixth District Republicans held their annual caucus.

The bonnet was that of Mrs. Byron Ising, Oshkosh, who is seeking a full term as national committeewoman from Wisconsin. She now is serving out the unexpired term of Mrs. W. W. Fox, Madison.

The other hats were those of Carl Steiger, Oshkosh, seeking the state Republican party chairmanship being given up by Claude Jasper, Madison attorney, and need at this time in our party is unity."

He said the party had the formula for victory, a finance program he felt was outstanding and whose techniques he could support and well qualified office holders and potential candidates.

"It seems that some people are concerned with the geographic location within the state of the leadership of our party," he went on. "Let me say now that it matters not to me where a person's residence is in Wisconsin. It matters only that we have the best people available to lead our party, whether they all come from different locations or all from the same area."

He said that if chosen he would pledge to work with all Republicans everywhere in the state with one goal in mind — victory at the polls. He said the purpose of the party was "to return the leadership to this state to return responsible government to Wisconsin; to do our duty in again making this the greatest state in the Union."

William Friend, Milwaukee, who announced for the national committeeman post now held by Robert Pierce, Menomonie. Talbot Peterson, Appleton, announced earlier for the state chairman post.

All three posts will be filled at the May 25 convention of the state Republican Party at Oshkosh, but the two national committee posts do not become effective until after the 1964 national Republican convention and are for four-year terms.

All three spoke to several hundred Sixth District Republicans at the Hotel Redlaw here.

Steiger, former head of the Detroit division of Armstrong Cork Co. here and a University of Wisconsin regent, said he had been approached "by many Republicans" asking me to consider myself for the post of state chairman.

"Today, it seems to me, there is a state of unrest in the Republican Party of Wisconsin. Faced with a difficult opponent, we need to toughen ourselves, to balance our emphasis and to enter a new period of dedication," Steiger said in his announcement speech.

"I believe it is time we Republicans began to seek more seriously the things that unite us, rather than the things that divide us. I believe the overriding

Change Will Be Made in Council Rules

Clintonville Mayor Delays Certain Committee Posts

CLINTONVILLE — City Atty. Ralph Lauer was instructed to draw up an amendment to the rules of order for its first reading at the May 7 meeting.

Mayor Frank Sinkewicz deferred certain committee appointments pending possible revision of the rules of order. Under a possible revision, some of the present committees would be eliminated or combined.

The council approved a recommendation of the park and recreation commission to purchase a power lawn mower from Lendved Hardware, Clintonville, for $1,230.

Basil Arvey, director of public works, explained proposed changes in the offices of the police department to provide better facilities for the radios and other new equipment. He estimated the cost to be in the neighborhood of $1,100. Advertising for bids was authorized.

The council appointed the finance committee to negotiate with the Clintonville Association of Commerce for the purchase of a long-term membership (up to 10 years) at a cost of $300 per year.

Ogdensburg Man Committed to Jail

WAUPACCA — Donald E. Boutwell, 21, route 1, Ogdensburg, was ordered held for County Court Tuesday by Municipal Justice George Whalen on four charges. Boutwell was unable to raise the $500 bail and was committed to the county jail until the money is raised.

He is being charged with contributing to the delinquency of a 15-year-old girl and reckless driving April 13 in the Town of Lind, and possession of beer in a car with minors and littering the highway on April 10 in the Town of Lind.

Veteran Shawano Supervisor Re-Elected County Board Chief

SHAWANO — Mike Powers, Town of Angelica, 20-year veteran of the Shawano County Board of Supervisors, was re-elected to his sixth term as chairman Tuesday morning.

Powers defeated Arthur M. Grimstad, route 1, Wittenberg, by a 22 to 18 vote.

Elected vice chairman was William Opfer, Birmannwood, who defeated Grimstad, 24-15. The vice chairman's post was vacated when Henry Allhiser, was defeated in the Town of Wescott election this spring by Harvey Stuhenvoll.

Two FVL Students on Indianapolis Visit

James Abitz, Appleton, and Mark Sommer, Greenville, seniors at Fox Valley Lutheran High School, left Tuesday for a visit to the Eli Lilly Co., Indianapolis, makers of the Salk serum.

The boys are interested in a career in pharmacy. They will be guests of the pharmaceutical firm, makers of the Salk serum.

Gerald Mallmann, FVL science teacher, is accompanying them. They will return Friday morning.

Political Reason

The reason for the Medicare proposal is purely political, he asserted, because it reaches a tremendously large voting block — the millions of senior citizens. It wouldn't do any good to propose such a program for teenagers because they can't vote.

Dr. Annis said that under Medicare hospital care could be provided only in those institutions which have contracts to do business with the federal government. When it comes to nursing home care, the bill would apply only to some 500 approved nursing homes out of about 18,000 in the country.

The benefits of Medicare are meager compared to what is being promised, the speaker reiterated constantly.

AMA Head Calls Medicare Out-and-Out Deception

Dr. E. R. Annis Says Proposal Is New Tax Plan for United States

President Kennedy's Medicare program is an out-and-out deception, and no one knows it better than the doctors.

Dr. E. R. Annis, president of the American Medical Association, said today that the program is a new tax plan for the United States to finance very limited government medical assistance, and not a general, broad program of aid to the aged.

That's the very strong belief of Dr. Edward R. Annis, president-elect of the American Medical Association. He addressed the annual meeting of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night at the Conway Hotel.

Dr. Annis has been traveling the country, speaking against Medicare. He reached national prominence when he debated with UAW President Walter Reuther and Sen. Hubert Humphrey in Madison Square Garden in New York.

The American people, both senior and junior citizens, are being deceived by the propaganda on Medicare, Dr. Annis said. He cited the example of an Iowa woman who was asked if she was for Medicare. "Sure," she answered, "with six children it will come in handy." When told it wouldn't cover her children, her enthusiasm cooled considerably.

It won't cover all medical expenses as everyone is led to believe, the speaker asserted. All it will do is tax every citizen to pay for very limited care for those who have reached age 65, rich and poor alike. "It is not right to provide care for everyone just because they have had a birthday," he said.

Statistics show, Dr. Annis said, that most senior citizens can take care of themselves. For those who are dependent solely on social security checks there are such things as the Kerr-Mills Bill which provides federal aid through the state governments. Forty-one states have approved using the Kerr-Mills Bill, he said.

The Medicare program now is sometimes being called by a new name — the Insurance Act of 1963, the doctor related. He said Sen. Edward Kennedy has sent out letters in Massachusetts telling senior citizens that Medicare will provide paid up medical insurance at age 65. Such a thing is impossible and illegal, Dr. Annis said, "and they know it."

Dr. Annis said that under Medicare hospital care could be provided only in those institutions which have contracts to do business with the federal government. When it comes to nursing home care, the bill would apply only to some 500 approved nursing homes out of about 18,000 in the country.

The benefits of Medicare are meager compared to what is being promised, the speaker reiterated constantly.

Should the weatherman prove as cooperative as he has been in the last two weeks, the Mid-Eastern Conference baseball race, which opens this weekend, could be one of the closest in years.

Neenah, the defending champion, opens the season by entertaining Kaukauna Saturday. In other games it will be Menasha at New London, Kimberly at Two Rivers and Shawano at Clintonville (Friday).

Neenah had a 6-1 record in conference play last season but the Rockets were hit hard by graduation and have only five lettermen back.

Most Lettermen

Shawano has the highest number of letter-winners, 11 and Kaukauna is close behind with 10. Other schools and their letter-winners include Menasha, 4; Kimberly, 8; Clintonville, 8; Two Rivers, 9 and New London, 7.

Here is a rundown on each team's outlook:

Neenah: Two infielders, two outfielders and a pitcher are included in the five returning lettermen for the Rockets.

Don Perry and Mike Jones are the infielders back, Gene Loughrin and Ed Began will be in the outfield and Fran Goetz is the returning pitcher. Another Neenah letterman, catcher Ed Zeher, is still in school but is ineligible because of age.

Menasha: Underclassmen will be counted on heavily for duty with the Bluejays who have only four lettermen.

Returnees are George Massey, first base; Terry Haack, shortstop; and Bob Wendt and Tim Leopold, outfielders. Mark Pawlowski, regular catcher last season, will not be with the team because of a knee injury.

Mike Vindhurst, a junior, is making a strong bid for the No. 1 catching spot.

New London: Coach Gar Ammerman is looking for a mound replacement to handle the duties Mike Herres took care of last season.

Ammerman has seven lettermen but no one with pitching experience. The letter winners include Gary Glocke, shortstop; Tom Fuhrmann, catcher; Jim McDaniel, outfield; John Moriarity, second base; Joe Mullarkey, first base; Phil Wilson, outfield and Joe Prohaska, outfield.

Two Rivers: The Purple Raiders have to be counted on to be in the M-E title picture this spring. Heading the list of nine lettermen is Lee Spiering who should be one of the top hurlers in the league.

Other lettermen for Two Rivers include Jim Donchek, first base; Bill Grimm, second; Jim Schroeder, shortstop; Louis Kahrs, third base; Bill Peterson, Dennis

Mathews' 400th Homer Helps Spahn to 329th Win

Warren Stops Phils, 8-0, on 4-Hitter to Take Eighth Place Among All-Time Winners

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves, riding a five-game winning streak and only a half game out of first place, attempt to keep rolling against the Philadelphia Phillies tonight in the season's first game under the lights at County Stadium.

The Braves nominated veteran right-hander Lew Burdette, a three-hit victor over the Mets last Saturday, to try and extend the winning string. The Phils planned to counter with Paul Brown, a young right-hander winless in six decisions last year.

Southpaw Warren Spahn dazzled the Phils on four hits and struck out seven in blanking the Phils 8-0 before a crowd of 4,753, including 655 knot hole guests. Tuesday, Eddie Mathews cracked his 400th National League homer, Hank Aaron contributed three hits and Frank Bolling belted a three-run double in helping Spahn.

Already the biggest left-handed winner in history, Spahn took sole possession of eighth place in two departments among baseball's all-time pitchers with his 329th career victory and his 36th shut-out.

2-Run Blast

Mathews became the eighth player in history to reach the 400 home run mark when he hoisted a two-run blast high into the bleachers in right field in the seventh inning. It was the slugger's third homer in his first extra base hit of the campaign.

The Braves scored two runs in the second on walks to Lee Maye and Norm Larker, a wild pitch, an error on an attempted pick-off, a single by Joe Torre and an infield out.

Spahn helped secure his second straight victory of the season by launching a three-run seventh with a 390-foot double off the wall in right center. Spahn advanced on a wild pitch and scored as Aaron beat out an infield hit. Aaron scored when Mathews followed with a homer against Jack Hamilton, who relieved starter Cal McLish in the inning.

The Braves added three runs in the eighth when, with two out, Roy McMillan singled, Spahn walked and Ty Cline beat out an infield hit, filling the bases. Bolling promptly drove in the three runners with a double off the wall in left center.

Spahn walked the first batter in the ninth, but then got the next three on soft flies in protecting the shutout and lowering his earned run average to 0.50 in 18 innings against the New York Mets and the Phils. He has allowed only 10 hits in the two victories.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Philadelphia manager Gene Mauch isn't accusing Warren Spahn of cheating on the mound, but he insists that the Milwaukee southpaw ace pitches illegally—at least occasionally.

Mauch complained in vain on three different occasions as Spahn blanked the Phils 8-0 on four hits Tuesday. Plate umpire Chris Pelekoudas and Ken Burkhardt disagreed with Mauch and the only result was heated arguing.

"I complained about the same thing—and to the same umpires—last season," Mauch said. "When Spahn needs a strike, he walks in front on the mound and his spikes are not in contact with the rubber as specified by the rules."

Duke Infraction

"I'm not saying that Spahn cheats, but if a rule infraction by a pitcher isn't called and he doesn't take advantage he's a fool."

Mauch said that one of his young pitchers, Paul Brown, had a pitch called a ball, resulting in a run, for failure to keep his foot on the rubber last season.

"I just don't want one set of rules for my young pitchers and one set for Spahn," the Phil manager said. "Spahn doesn't have to break any rules. The way he's going, he'll probably still be winning after he has lost all his teeth and hair."

Spahn said that he is pitching no differently "than I have for years."

"Mauch was just trying to upset me out there," Spahn added. "What does he want to do—change baseball?"

Five Packers Will Bowl in Menasha Tourney Saturday

The Green Bay Packers, who have no peers as a football team, are not averse to dabbling in other sports during the off-season.

A number of Packers played a schedule of basketball games under the title of "Packarders." Now, five of them are sharpening up their bowling for an appearance in a Menasha tournament Saturday.

Jerry Kramer, "Fuzzy"

Thurston, Boyd Dowler, Bob Skoronski and Ray Nitschke—along with their wives—will compete in the Brin Bowl Handicap tournament at 2 p.m. Saturday. Each will bowl four games.

If any bowlers want to bowl on the same shift with the Packers, they may still get on the schedule by contacting the Brin. No children will be admitted without their parents during the Packers' appearance.

Cubs Deal Dodgers 12-Inning Loss on 2 RBIs by Banks

Giants' Pierce Blanks Houston; 7 More Balks Called in NL

BY MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

Can you visualize a stop watch hanging in Baseball's Hall of Fame?

It could happen. National League umpires are bellowing "balk" with such startling rapidity, they're advancing base runners quicker than the batters.

Seven balks were called in the National League Tuesday, bringing the over-all total for less than two weeks of the season to 30 balk calls in 32 games. For the same period of the 1962 season there were only four. Not one balk has been called in the American League.

The scorecard showed five balk calls at San Francisco, where the Giants whipped Houston 7-0 behind Billy Pierce's six-hitter. Two were called at Pittsburgh as St. Louis edged the Pirates 4-3. The other teams escaped.

The Chicago Cubs handed the Los Angeles Dodgers their fourth setback in the last five games, 2-1 in 12 innings. Warren Spahn's four-hitter gave Milwaukee an 8-0 decision over Philadelphia and Cincinnati made it seven straight losses for the New York Mets, 7-4.

Not Well Taken

Houston Manager Harry Craft and pitching coach Col Deal suggested that Augie Donatelli make a stop watch part of his standard umpiring equipment when they questioned the third balk call against Colt pitchers. The suggestion was not well taken, and Craft and Deal were thrown out in less time than it takes to call a balk.

"What are you trying to do, beat your record?" Deal asked Donatelli just before he left.

He was referring to the fact Donatelli had called seven balks Saturday when Pittsburgh played at Cincinnati. The Donatelli team has called 14 of the 30 balks in the NL so far. The NL and major league record for balks is 76, set in 1950.

Said Craft: "It all comes down to the interpretation of what is one second. They don't have stop watches."

Pierce, called for two balks, had no complaints. He remained unbeaten at Candlestick Park, with his 14th straight regular season victory. The 37-year-old left-hander struck out six while walking the slow balling Bob Mueller and three before 40,782 attending the

Red Boss Marks His 69th Birthday

Khrushchev Has Given Russians Better Life, Eased War Threat

BY JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Premier Khrushchev is 69 today. He doesn't exactly mellow with age.

But if he died tomorrow the West would have to say—but for the opposite reason — what Sir Winston Churchill said of Stalin's death in 1953: that it was a "milestone in Russian history."

Khrushchev is no Santa Claus. But he's a vast improvement over Stalin, a homicidal maniac. In short, there could be worse than Khrushchev as the West will realize with regret if his successor tries to turn the clock back.

Stalin, with his bad judgment, risked world wars with the Korean conflict and the Berlin blockade. Khrushchev took chances, but not like Stalin, with the Berlin wall and shipping missiles into Cuba.

Khrushchev has done four things above all since Stalin's death 10 years ago:

1. He has given the Russian people a far better life than they have had since the Bolshevik revolution in 1917. They have more freedom, although far from full freedom. The terroristic secret police system has been subordinated.

2. He has destroyed the Stalin myth by his 1956 denunciation of the old dictator. This not only had a liberating effect on Russian thinking but on communism in the satellites and around the world.

3. By showing more reasonableness than Stalin he has eased East-West tensions and made war less likely, not necessarily because he wouldn't try it if he thought he could win but because he realizes he might not.

4. By trying to avoid war through a policy less risky aggressive than Stalin's, Khrushchev has precipitated a split with his Red Chinese allies. Such a split seemed inevitable eventually. He hastened it.

Critical Examination
While the freedom of the Russian people is not complete — a good recent example is Khrushchev's quarrels with writers and artists — they are becoming better educated every day. With the education comes thinking.

With that comes critical examination of the Russian Communist party's leadership policies at home and abroad. Because in time this will affect the policies, it will make the leadership more responsive to the people's will.

This could be reversed for a while—another Stalin would set back—but the higher the intellectual level of the Russian people the more inevitable it seems the dictatorship in time must melt away.

This doesn't mean a sudden burgeoning of the free enterprise system in Russia. But it does mean that in time the Russian people will have some form of democratic socialism.

As for destroying the Stalin myth Khrushchev must have felt he had to do it for some obvious reasons.

Continuation of the myth would have strangled the initiative of Stalin's successors if they sought to meet new situations in new ways. In short, so long as the myth remained the Communist ideal, they would have had to follow in the Stalin footsteps.

A continuation of the Stalinist system of fear and repression would have had an equally stifling effect on the development of the Russian people, depriving the government of their full energies and talents.

Belonged to Past
Stalin belonged to the past, which seemed long past about the time he died, a period of rigid discipline over ignorant masses to make them conform and serve at any price to them.

What Stalin wanted, Khrushchev wants: a Communist world. Their big difference is not in goals but in tactics. Stalin might have risked total destruction for total communism.

Khrushchev simply recognizes the reality of his nuclear age and is willing to take his time to get what Stalin wanted in a hurry. So he shifts, turns and thrusts but always, so far, short of war.

Stalin knew a powerful Red China would be a Russian rival some time. It explains his meager help to the Red Chinese for so long. But, because the rivalry was inevitable, so was a break between the two.

In both countries the force of nationalism was stronger than communism.

The Red Chinese have split with Khrushchev because, they complain, he's not tough enough with the West, which means taking more risks. But this complaint is probably more deeply rooted in rivalry and nationalism than in ideology or strategy.

But the split has cost Russia the position it enjoyed under Stalin: the domination and unity of world communism. There is a danger in this for the West.

It's this: that Khrushchev—out of self-consciousness about the Red Chinese accusations and complaint and out of a desire to restore Russian Communist supremacy—may some day feel impelled to risks his better judgment tells him not to try.

Catholic Chancellor Addresses Lutherans

EAU CLAIRE (AP)—The chancellor of the Roman Catholic diocese of La Crosse addressed a Lutheran banquet at Eau Claire Monday night in what he termed "a real ecumenical breakthrough in my home town."

The Right Rev. Msgr. James P. Finucan, a native of Eau Claire, spoke to an audience of some 500 at the annual Laymen's

Awards Banquet at Grace Lutheran Church

The invitation had been extended by unanimous action of the sponsoring Lutheran Brotherhood, at the suggestion of Pastor Marcus Gravidal of Grace, who introduced the Catholic chancellor.

Pastor Gravidal said he had made the suggestion that Msgr. Finucan be asked to speak because of "a number of significant movements in world churches." Msgr. Finucan told the audience that "some conservatives" in the Roman church would oppose his appearance, but added: "It is time to stop wasting our time in feuding, but that is not an easy thing to do."

"We cannot resolve our differences in an hour, but we can create a new atmosphere in which we can thoroughly enjoy being Christians."

New Books

Editor Gives Account Of Turmoil in the South

Ralph McGill, the well-known liberal editor of the Atlanta Constitution and one of the finest newspapermen in the country, has provided a marvelous running account of his thoughts, memories and views of a confused South in "The South and the Southerners," one of the new books at the Appleton Public Library this week.

The book is in part autobiography, going back to his boyhood in East Tennessee, college days in the '20s, the Ku Klux Klan, the Depression and World War II. But, moving back and forth in time, he also tells stories of Southern politics at its worst and best, characterizes all kinds of Southern life from plantation mansion to sharecropper hut, and dwells lovingly on the South of today.

The rise and travail of the Negro, the rural poverty juxtaposed against industrial growth, the hosteria of supremacists against the more reasoned thinking of other leaders—these are the real scenes and current issues which are created alongside his own story. The Long dynasty of Louisiana, the John Kaspers and Lincoln Rockwells, the Freedom Riders and integrationists—all these violently opposing forces are seen as they clash on Southern streets and in Southern courtrooms.

Remarkable Work

McGill's sensitivity, his sense of the English language, and his pained personal anguish at the turmoil of the South make this a truly remarkable work.

Also new is "Teen-Age Tyranny" by Grace and Fred M. Hechinger. The New York Times education editor is one of the authors of this both enlightening and disheartening discussion of youth today, which is not so much a criticism of its "greater freedom" but of the "abdication of adult authority . . . for the convenience of the immature."

Parents have defaulted, but so have the schools where there is the division between "intellectual postponement" and the social speed-up which has produced a forced prematurity (dating at 9; going steady at 12), the authors say. This in turn has led to premarital pregnancies (now a high school and not a college problem), early marriages and quick divorces.

Culture and Cult

The Hechingers survey teen-age maturity symbols (smoking, drinking, cars), images and the image-makers (Bobby Darin, Fabian, Brando), teen-age reading, spending, styles, morals, goals, and it is a dismaying vista of a culture and cult which certainly had an infancy in the indulgent leniency of permissiveness and self-expression.

The Hechingers' field work covers a lot of ground, urban and suburban, upper and lower class, and they cite a number of popular guides in the field, from Margaret Mead and David Riesman to Ann Landers and Inez Robb.

Other New Books

Other new books include "One Man's Stand for Freedom" by Hugo Black, "Treason in the 20th Century" by Margret Boveri, "Occupation: Angel" by Marguerite Culmar, "Face of America" by Peter Farb, "The Zulu War" by Rupert Furneaux, "Being and Time" by Martin Heidegger, "The Prophets" by Abraham Heschel, "Is There a Life After Birth?" by Alexander King, "England!" by Lawrence Martin, "The Dry Grove" (8th), said he talked with residents on Front Street concerning erection of a barricade at one end of the street last September and that they approved of the action.

Oshkosh Men Put On Probation For Car Theft

OSHKOSH — Two Appleton men who stole a car from Neenah and were captured in west Milwaukee, were given suspended sentences and placed on probation Tuesday by Judge James V. Sitter.

Arthur R. Sullivan, 27, 325 E. Taft St., was given a suspended 10-year sentence at Waupun and placed on probation for three years. Glen Woloski, 27, 413 1/2 N. Bennett St., was given a suspended five-year sentence at the State Reformatory and placed on probation for two years.

Both were ordered to serve the first 90 days of their probation in the Winnebago County jail.

The pair admitted stealing a car from the Kimberly - Clark Corp. Badger-Globe parking lot in Neenah, March 18. They were arrested the next day in west Milwaukee when the car broke down and a policeman stopped to assist them.

Meat, Milk, Dairy License Deadline Set for June 1

The Appleton Health Department has been swamped with inquiries concerning the deadline for obtaining certain licenses.

A story last week indicated that most of the city licenses were due by Monday, April 15.

However, it failed to point out that the deadline for renewing or obtaining meat, milk and dairy licenses from the health department is June 1.

The health department has sent out reminders to this effect.

PSC Approves Trucking by REA Express

Says Company Can Give Better Service With Own Vehicles

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Direct trucking service by REA Express Co. between Green Bay, the Fox River Valley and the Illinois state line has been authorized by the Wisconsin Public Service Commission.

The company was authorized to use its own transportation service as a substitute for the service previously offered by railroads.

The commission said the Chicago and North Western Railway no longer is interested in transporting express matter, and that the Soo Line does not serve all the points in which REA Express is interested.

Protest Application

At public hearings on the plan, trucking companies protested the application, but the commission said REA can better coordinate and expedite both its line-haul and distribution functions by the use of its own vehicles. The express company has new terminals at Milwaukee, Racine, Kenosha and Green Bay, the commission added, which will mean a more efficient service than before.

Among opponents on record were the Wisconsin Motor Carriers Association and individual carriers, among them Gateway Transportation Co., Motor Transport Co. and Greyhound Corp.

The direct service authority will apply in a broad section of eastern Wisconsin, including service between Green Bay, Fond du Lac, Oshkosh, Neenah and Appleton, Milwaukee and Fond du Lac and Milwaukee and Green Bay.

Torinus, editor of the Appleton Post-Crescent. James Lang and Guy Krumm are in charge of planning the affair for the Lions while Miss Frances Corry, adviser for the club, is assisting with student arrangements.

Editors' pins will be awarded Sarah Berens, Freida Jeske, Patricia Jonen, Carol Lace, Janice Nussbaum, Mary Lee Oliva, JoAnn Peebles, Rose Pieters, John Schermitzler, Karen Van Dyke, John Whitman, Thomas Hiestand, Stephen Hülgenberg, Donald Straus and Ronald Straus.

Italian Doctors Hold Their Pay Insufficient

Physicians, Nurses Walk Off Jobs, Turn Patients Away in Dispute Over Salaries

BY GERALD MILLER
ROME (AP)—Something is ailing Italy's medical profession. The doctors diagnose it as a serious case of insufficient pay.
The symptoms have been growing for months. One day men in white parade through city streets with protest placards. Another day nurses and technicians walk off the job at state hospitals. Last week the nation's 83,000 doctors staged a nationwide 24-hour strike. They turned patients away from their doors and refused to provide hospitals and clinics anything but emergency service. The next day they began a partial boycott of the detailed paperwork required by Italy's various medical insurance programs. They refused to fill out anything more than such bare essentials as patients names and prescriptions. Then, declaring that even these measures hadn't worked, the National Federation of Medical Associations ordered a complete break with the nation's state-run medical insurance agencies starting next Tuesday. But more than half the doctors—45,000 of them—decided to start their complete break last Wednesday.

Will Defy Rules
Until they get satisfaction, said the federation, doctors will defy agency rules and pay-rates and go their own way, charging patients directly instead of waiting for the agencies to pay. The patients will have to worry about getting their money back from the agencies.

But the big issue has been pay and red tape in the medical insurance program. Doctors want more of the first, less of the second—and now.
Physicians who treat patients under the programs average 300 line (48 cents) for a routine office call and 600 line (96 cents) for a home visit. Normally patients pay nothing to the doctors, who collect directly from the agencies.

The doctors want the agencies to pay $2.40 and $4.80, and they want a complete streamlining of administrative procedures. For their part the government agencies have scarcely batted. A 20-line (4-cent) increase was suggested—and rejected by the doctors.
A view held by some government administrators is that doc-most workers and their families. The employers' contribution toward costs is the equivalent of more than 5 per cent of their pay. workers pay less than 1 per cent of wages as their share of the costs.

No one is required to use his insurance plan. But most people do. Subscribers can choose from a listing of doctors in their home districts who have signed up to accept medical program patients.

Hands Can be Trained Just as Athletes Train Their Bodies

IE J. NASON, ED. D. scholarship was recognized as a way to get through college. But today academic scholarships vastly outnumber athletic scholarships. Even athletic scholarships are limited to those who can keep up their grades, and college entrance requirements are being raised all the time.

searches, scholarships societies are just a few of the schemes designed to give recognition to the good student.

And even the teen-ager has ceased to worship at the shrine of the football hero who considers schoolwork as beneath him. The accent is on scholarship.

Competition Is Sharper Competition in both athletic and academic scholarship is getting keener. Sprinters run faster; jumpers jump higher and farther; to meet the competition the successful athlete trains his body to work with precision. In the same way students must train their minds to learn. The right approach can often bring immediate improvement.

Consider the case of a champion diver who spent as much as half a day, under an expert coach, learning just how far to turn her head in a twisting dive. But this same young woman had not spent five minutes in the past four years practicing handwriting. Despite the coordination she shows in diving, she gripped a pencil with cramped fingers and wrote with a juvenile scrawl.

Using the same determination that made her a champion diver, she practiced handwriting for a few minutes each day. By the end of the first semester of attending to study skills, she moved from a C to a B-plus student.

Studies Like Football Plays A football halfback learned to plan his studies so he could recall ideas in examination with the same sureness that he could recall his assignments in plays on practice, that I had achieved over my body." This is the time of year, just before final examinations, when every student should take stock of himself. Ask yourself "Am I training to be a good student with the same determination that I give to learning to water-ski or drive a car or dance?" First, find out how you should study each subject, then review the subject from the beginning.
